Thoughts

From The Living Bible

Follow God's example in everything you do just as a much loved child imitates his father. Be full of love for others, following the example of Christ who loved you and gave himself to God as a sacrifice to take away your sins. And God was pleased, for Christ's love for you was like sweet perfume to him. Let there be no sex sin, impurity or greed among you. Let no one be able to accuse you of any such things. Dirty stories, foul talk and coarse jokes — these are not for you. Instead, remind each other of God's goodness and be thankful.

Mustangs In Season?

Carl "Skip" Rebele, while at his Deep Creek cottage near Turkey Neck, on Monday evening, thought he heard a raccoon rifling his garbage can. Taking flashlight and gun, he moved to the outside, the noise stopped. He thought he spotted the bright eyes of the animal and fired. He hit his mark, except that it was the hood of his Ford "Mustang." Now his friends are telling him that there is no open season on Mustangs.

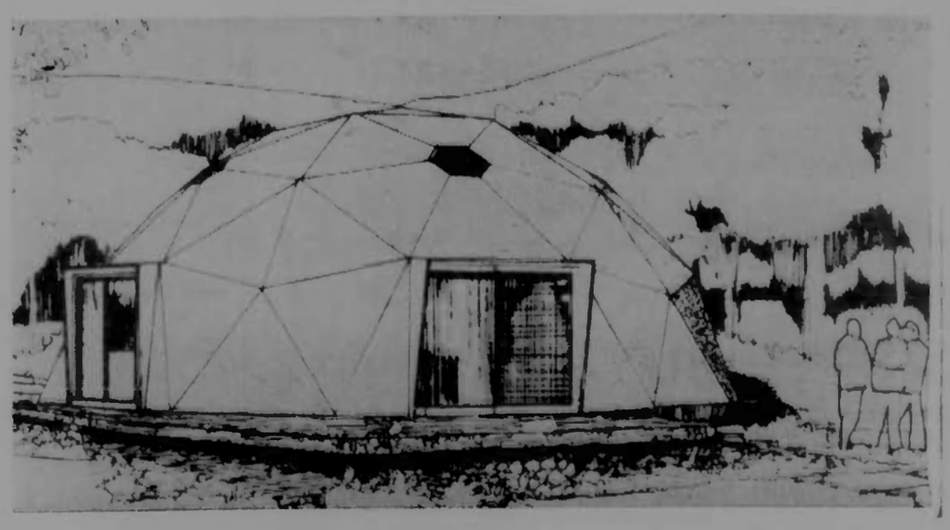
The Dome

The Shape of Things to Come ...



The Geodesic Dome is the most efficient system of structuring yet developed for use in countless phases of home, or business life.

Social Security Office Taking Applications For Supplemental Security Income Payments

The Cumberland Social Security Office is now taking applications for supplemental security income payments, a Federal program scheduled to start in 1974 that will establish an income floor for people in financial need who are 65 or over, or blind, or disabled, according to James E. Robertson, Social Security District Manager.

But people already getting State old age assistance, or State aid because they are blind or disabled, don't have to apply, he said.

"The first monthly payments under the Federal program will be made in January 1974," Robertson said. "Until then, State and Local public assistance offices will continue to make payments in the usual way."

People not getting public assistance now who think they may be eligible for the new Federal payments should call or write social security to find out if they should apply.

"Federal supplemental security income payments will be made by the Social Security Administration," Robertson said. "But the program will be financed by Federal general revenues—not by social security contributions from workers and employers.

"The aim of the new program is to provide supplemental payments in cases of need so that people 65 or over, or blind, or disabled will have a basic cash income of at least $130 a month for one person and $195 a month for a couple.

If you're single—or married but not living with your husband or wife—you can own things worth up to $1,500 and still get Federal payments," he said. "A couple can own things worth up to $2,250 and get payments. Not everything you own has to be counted toward your total assets, however."

"A home of reasonable value will not be counted as an asset. In addition, the Federal Government will not put liens on the homes of people getting Federal payments. Personal effects and household goods won't count in most cases. Insurance policies or a car may not affect eligibility either, but it will depend on their value."

Certain income also will be disregarded in deciding on an application for supplemental security income. The first $20 a month of income generally won't affect the Federal payment at all, Robertson said.

"In addition people who are working part-time should know that the first $65 a month of earnings won't be included in counting their income and only half of the rest of their additional earnings will be counted," he said.

Apart from earnings, other income above the first $20 a month generally will reduce the Federal payment. This includes social security checks, veterans payments, workmen's compensation, pensions, annuities, and gifts. And if you live in someone else's household, your basic Federal payment will be reduced by one-third before other income that may affect your payment is deducted.

"People who need more information to decide whether they might be eligible for the Federal payments should write to the office at 316 Baltimore Street, Cumberland, or telephone," Mr. Robertson said. "Or a friend or relative can make the call if the person in need isn't able to," he said.

The Summer of '73

With the Senate Watergate hearings assuming the character of a Peyton Place re-run on TV and a gasoline shortage looming in the months ahead, the summer of '73 is shaping up as a time of national worry and trouble. This isn't entirely true, of course, and any balanced assessment of the coming summer must take note of the happier developments.

The public already seems to be tiring of Watergate, in part because of the tremendous overkill utilized by The Washington Post and other liberal dailies which appear to be involved in a frenzied effort to get President Nixon. The American people, to be sure, want the facts and desire that the wrongdoers be punished. But they are sophisticated observers, and know that prolonged television coverage of the Senate hearings amounts to a kind of show trial that knocks out the possiblity of justice. They also know that the record is incomplete, for they aren't being furnished any information on the covert operations of other administrations.

A more personal worry for ordinary Americans is the gasoline shortage which is rapidly developing. Sen Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) is trying to blame it all on the oil companies. But that won't satisfy informed citizens who know something of the background of the energy crisis. Certainly, many Americans will recall the strenuous opposition of environmentalist groups to construction of new refineries or fuel storage facilities.

The lack of refinery capacity is one of the reasons for the gas shortage. Creating an adequate capacity takes years and heavy investments. At this very time, however, environmentalists are opposing construction of a new refinery on the Maine coast. The result of these pressures is that the U. S. almost certainly will have gas rationing in 1974.

Indeed Americans need to realize that they are entering an era of resource and raw material shortages that will change their lives. One resource specialist has said that these shortages "will be the largest social and economic force that has hit the United States since the end of major European immigration."

Not all the news is bad, however. Though the country has political and economic problems, some of America's social problems are diminishing. The situation on the nation's campuses is much better than in recent years. The numbers and influence of radical extremists has dropped off sharply. The underground press, a considerable force in the late '60s, has hit the skids. A number of radical papers have folded in recent months. College youth is moving away from dissent. The hard-core leftist organizations, such as Students for A Democratic Society, have all but withered away.

It would be instructive to read the comments by students at graduation exercises around the country. My impression is that there is a new measure of realism in the students who graduated from high school this year. I detected this recently in listening to two seniors who addressed the graduation exercises at Ashley Hall, Charleston, S. C. Both stressed intellectual discipline and envisioned the past as a guide to the future. Both stressed the importance of careful inquiry and the value of dignity and responsibility. From my reading of news reports of other commencement addresses, I get the impression that a new mood prevails today—a mood remote from the unrealistic, anti-traditional outlook of the late '60s.

The nation needs each new crop of graduates who are respectful of the past and mindful of the need for innovative approaches to contemporary problems. The nation needs balance in its people and its government. The Watergate problems are serious, but they aren't the worst problems the nation has faced. Both the Executive and Legislative branches of government have mixed records. They have done good and bad things. Arrogance of power isn't limited to the White House. It can be discerned on Capitol Hill and in state legislatures and city halls.

The United States is a big country with tremendous human as well as material resources. It is a country with a remarkable ability to adjust. The U. S. is best when pushed in a corner, as happened at the time of Pearl Harbor. The energy crisis undoubtedly will cause Americans to devise new solutions to energy problems and work out new patterns of work and recreation.

The danger always is that people will panic, whether about Watergate or the energy shortage or other problems real or imagined. It is the task of every responsible citizen to avoid panic, to reject the counsels of fear, desperation or excessive enthusiasm, and to urge moderation, prudence and rational discourse on the issues and problems affecting the nation. With common sense, the American people will get through the troubles of the summer of '73 and the difficult seasons ahead.

Edgar Hoover's Sound Mind

Some of the "Watergate" mud has splattered on the good name and memory of the late J. Edgar Hoover, who served with such great distinction and dedication as the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

We have checked carefully with a number of reliable sources in Washington as to the condition of Mr. Hoover just before his death; and the word has come back from every knowledgeable source; the allegations are pure, unadulterated bunk.

For example: the Masonic Order in our Nation's Capital awarded to Mr. Hoover his 50th year pin as a Mason not long before his death. The delegation of four Masons selected to make the presentation found Mr. Hoover to be as bright, alert and quick of mind as always. He displayed no sign of any infirmity, either physical or mental.

Senator Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina flatly stated that the charges against Mr. Hoover were "totally untrue and slanderdous." Senator Hollings explained that on March 10, 1972—less than 2 months before his death—Mr. Hoover appeared before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee:

"On that particular day," says Mr. Hollings, "I was serving as acting chairman of the subcommittee and we were discussing the budget request for the FBI. The hearings lasted 4 hours straight. Mr. Hoover set forth in great detail the operations of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and his plans and his projects for the coming year. Other witnesses who appear from the various Government agencies usually bring along an army of aides, and constantly refer the hard, detailed questions to these subordinates. Not so for J. Edgar Hoover. He brought only one associate who remained a silent partner during the 4 hour exchange. Without notes or consultations, Mr. Hoover shot back the answers in that quick, commanding, precise style that many of us knew firsthand. He was, in short, the absolute master of his material. Seldom have I seen so well informed a witness. Seldom have I had more confidence in the man's stewardship over a Government agency."

As all newsmen know, it is somewhat hard to kill a lie, once it is circulated. But this is one lie that should be nailed down, now. Let J. Edgar Hoover rest in peace. —U. S. Press Association

Another Prays July Trial On One Of 3 Courts

One man pleaded guilty on two counts but prayed a jury trial on a third in District Court before Judge Lewis R. Jones during the week ending July 3.

Steven R. Gank, Loch Lynn, pleaded guilty on two counts: spinning and skidding of wheels and excess noise, and second speeding greater than reasonable and prudent for conditions. He was fined $25 and $5 costs on each of the two. On the charge of assault on Lawrence Groves by auto, Gank pleaded a jury trial.

Dorsey Rose, Mt. Lake Park, pleaded not guilty of larceny of articles from the Star-Lite Motel valued at $50. He was placed on probation for one year to the court and to make restitution, which has been done. He paid $10 costs.

Robert D. Nair, Cumberland, pleaded guilty of disorderly intoxication at the home of Gilbert Bowman at Crellin on June 19. A 30-day jail sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for one year and referred to the Alcoholic Center.

Several persons were found not guilty.

Marvin E. Wiley, Grantsville, was found not guilty of assault on Raymond R. McCauley by pointing a shotgun at him on Wet Shale road south of Grantsville June 22.

Charles Stemple, RD 1, Oakland, was found not guilty of larceny of ten chickens, valued at $35, the property of Olive Thomas.

James Ganley, Pittsburgh, was found not guilty of assault and battery upon Michael O'Brien at McHenry June 19.

Robert Oliverio, McHenry, was found not guilty of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle of Mrs. Lucille DeWitt on June 10 at Sang Run.

Two cases were dropped.

The case of malicious destruction of property of Edward Holtzman by cutting two tires was dropped against John P. Hughes, Frostburg due to lack of jurisdiction as it allegedly happened in Allegany County.

A charge of a worthless check against Perma Bowman, Crellin, was dropped as restitution had been made.

July Weather The Same As June, Warm, Mostly Dry

July weather continued to be the same as June, warm and mostly dry. Exceptions were heavy thunder showers late last evening dropping about .2 inch of rain on the area and the same last Thursday afternoon.

Other than the two shower periods, skies have been partly cloudy to clear. There has been some morning fog and continued haze.

Temperatures have been in the 80s the last three days and in the 70s otherwise with the highest being 82 degrees Monday. Morning lows have varied from 46 Saturday to 63 degrees the 4th.

Breezes have been light to calm except yesterday when they were moderate at times and strong during the showers.

The month of June, in contrast to recent months, was very near normal. The only exception being a twister which touched down along U. S. Route 40 east of Grantsville the evening of the 28th.

Precipitation amounted to 3.71 inches which was .97 inches below the normal. Other moisture has been in the form of humidity at times high and some early morning fog. The wettest day was the 18th with one inch and .65 inch the day before.

Temperatures, on the other hand, were only slightly above normal, by 1.1 degrees. Daily highs averaged 78.8 degrees with the highest being 84 on the 11th. There were 15 days that the mercury stood at 80 degrees or above. It was 71 or above every day. Morning lows did not sink below the 40-mark at any time. That 40 degrees was on the 2nd. On two mornings the 13th and 22nd it was a mild 62 degrees with 61 on the 21st.

Thunder storms occurred on six days: 5th, 12th, 17th, 18th, and 28th. During the storms of the 28th the twister occurred about 4:50 p. m. Winds were mostly calm except during the storms.

Basic figures for statistics were obtained from Logan Weber, local observer for the National Weather Service.

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN
BEALL JR.

Patriots—Past & Present

The meaning of Independence Day is usually explained in terms of the great American patriots who changed the course of our nation's history on July 4, 1776.

But for each of the great patriots, there have also been countless men and women who served their country with much less fame, but no less dedication and no less valor.

Answering the call to duty meant interrupting the education of some, or leaving jobs and families for others. Many suffered crippling injuries, some endured tremendous hardships as prisoners of war, and others made the supreme sacrifice of giving their lives.

The federal government has recognized our obligation to those who have served our nation, and this has led to the establishment of a number of veterans' programs and other benefits for our former servicemen.

Returning to civilian life, for instance, often poses a major obstacle to the veteran, and so the Veterans Administration helps coordinate community efforts in this area. The VA also provides educational and job training funds to veterans under the GI bill, and last year the 92nd Congress enacted a far-reaching bill to extend these benefits for Vietnam-era veterans.

The handicaps of a disabling injury are a more serious problem for many veterans, and it goes without saying that our nation owes a disabled veteran something for his sacrifice.

I recently learned of a rather unfair situation in this area, however, and I am now trying to correct it.

A constituent from Baltimore recently notified me that her husband, who was on complete disability, had died on the last day of a month. But because he did not live for the entire month, she was told that she would have to repay his disability benefits for that month.

This policy appears to be both insensitive and needless, and I have therefore proposed that the law be changed to extend disability payments through the month in which a veteran dies.

It is also worth mentioning something about a new policy for our national cemeteries, since that is where many veterans desire to be interred.

Our national cemeteries are virtually filled to capacity, and it has been clear for some time that something had to be done to provide more space.

Although several efforts have been made in recent years, it was not until June 18 that this goal was achieved when President Nixon signed a National Cemeteries Act.

This bill, which I have supported since its inception, will transfer jurisdiction over all national cemeteries, except Arlington and the service academies, to the Veterans Administration.

The VA will assume responsibility for these cemeteries and will also plan and establish a program for their enlargement. Hopefully, these plans will include a new cemetery in Maryland, where we have well over 500,000 former servicemen.

Garrett Still Tops In Bond Sales Quota

Garrett County maintained its number one rating in te U. S. Savings Bond program for the month of May, according to figures released.

Garrett county, with a quota of $406,308, reported May sales totaling $66,469, or a total of $276,637 for the cumulative period for 1973. The figures showed 68.1 percent of the quota raised. The cumulative total for the same period last year was $159,405. Carroll County was second and Howard county third, with Allegany county 4th.

Total for the state for May was $12,938,545 and $62,065,579 for the year thus far, compared to $56,236,528 for the same period a year ago.

Nationally May E and H sales were the highest on record for any month since the H bond was issued in June, 1952.

Fiddlers' Contest To Be Televised

The Old Time Fiddlers' contest, to be held at Friendsville on Saturday evening, July 21, in the town park at Friendsville, will be televised over WQED, channel 13, Pittsburgh. Ward K. Livengood, chairman of the event, was informed this week.

The contest will get under way at 8 p. m. Arrangements have been made to complete plans for the televising by Larry Wiseman, from the station. It is anticipated that the contest will be used as a program at a later date on channel 13.

In prior years parking created some problems, Mr. Livengood said, so an additional area will be available for parking for this year's contest.

The local string band and square dancers will again entertain during intermission. A correction was made in last week's release concerning the age group of contestants. Ages through 23 should have been through 35, he said.

The Environmental Protection Agency still opposes the use of coal in spite of the energy crisis.

Oakland Loses 2 To Mt. Savage

Oakland baseball team lost twice to Mt. Savage in Penn-Mar league games played on Saturday and Sunday.

In Sunday's game Mt. Savage won 12 to 7 on the Oakland diamond. Mt. Savage bounced back from a two-run deficit with five runs in the sixth inning and Stan Johnson bested Ernie Shotwell as Savage belted the home team with additional runs for a 12-7 finale. Paugh whacked a home run for Mt. Savage among three hits and Cutter had two singles. Gary Bosley had two singles for Oakland.

In Saturday's game at Mt. Savage the Mt. Savage team won 10 to 5.

Bob Paugh stated the victory in the fourth inning for Mt. Savage that broke the competitive back of visiting Oakland.

Enjoying a slim 4 to 3 lead at the time Paugh stepped to the plate with two men on and powered a home run to ignite a six-run rally, all they needed for the victory. But Kenny Green and Roger Wilson followed suit in succession for three homers in a row over loser Bob Finch.

Keyser still leads the league with an 11-1 record. Oakland stands sixth in the group of 8 with a 4-8 record.

Next Sunday Westernport is scheduled to play at Oakland.

Wedding Nupitals Solemnized

Wedding vows were exchanged May 26 by Miss Nancy Rae Frazee and David Wayne Thomas.

The double ring, candlelight ceremony was performed by Reverend Donald Matthews at the McHenry United Methodist Church. Mrs. Lucille Sines accompanied vocalist Mrs. Gloria Georg who sang "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frazee of Friendsville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burgett Thomas, also of Friendsville.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor length gown of organza and imported Chantilly lace created by "Bridallure." The empire waisted, A-line silhouette featured a high ruffled neckline, Bishop sleeves, and an attached circular chapel train. The gown was accented by tiny pink bows at the neckline and sleeves, and a pink satin ribbon outlining the waistline which fell into a bow at the back of the gown. The bride's elbow length headpiece was a halo of organza routler and petals accented with clusters of pink ribbon loops. She carried a snowsong bouquet of white carnations, baby's breath, and pink roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Debbie Glotfelty, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Karen Frazee, cousin of the bride, Miss Cathy Hinebaugh, Mrs. Linda Nichols, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Sherry Umbel. Miss Ruthie Shaffer, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. The matron of honor and flower girl wore summer green shasta daisy floor length gowns. They featured a midriff waist, high neckline, and Bishop sleeves. White lace complemented the neckline waist, and sleeves. The bridesmaids wore gowns matching the matron of honor in granada pink. All the attendants wore white picture hats and carried nosegay arrangements of summer flowers with lighted candles.

Best man was Gerald Thomas, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Jim Glotfelty, brother-in-law of the bride, Mark Martin, Pete Nichols, brother-in-law of the groom, and Jack Thomas, cousin of the groom. Sammy Frazee, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of light blue and had a corsage of white carnations and pink roses. The mother of the groom wore a floor length gown of mint green and she, too, had a corsage of white carnations and pink roses.

A reception followed in the McHenry Fire Hall. Cake was served by Mrs. Janice Frazee, and Mrs. Lavonna Frazee, aunts of the bride. Mrs. Mary Frazee, aunt of the bride, served coffee while Mrs. Shirley Shaffer, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Lois Thomas, aunt of the groom, served punch. Mrs. Pam Cutler registered the guests and Miss Ellen Hershberger and Miss Patty Bender registered gifts.

A 1971 graduate of Northern High school, Mrs. Thomas was previously employed by the Garrett National Bank in Oakland for two years and is presently employed by the Suncrest National Bank in Morgantown. Mr. Thomas, a 1970 graduate of Northern High School, recently completed his junior year at West Virginia University and is presently enrolled there as a senior majoring in pre-veterinarian medicine.

Following a honeymoon stay at Penn Hills Resort in the Pocono Mountains, the couple resides at Snider's Trailer Court, Route 4, Box 108, Morgantown, W. Va.

Contract For Freeway Section Is Awarded

S. J. Groves Firm Will Add 4.23 Miles To Thru Highway

S. J. Groves and Sons Company of Minneapolis, Minnesota, has been awarded a contract for more than $5 million for the grading, drainage and paving of the National Freeway from 1.01 miles west of the relocated Md. 546 interchange to 0.4 mile east of Piney Grove, a distance of 4.23 miles. This contract also consists or approximately 2.27 miles of access and service roads including two structures at Carey Road and Green Lantern Road.

Bernard M. Evans, State Highway Administrator, said this $5,088,588 contract includes the construction of two 2-span continuous rolled beam girder bridges to carry relocated Carey Road and Green Lantern Road over the National Freeway.

On relocated Carey Road spans will be 101' and the roadway will be 32' curb to curb. On Green Lantern Road the spans will be 107' and the roadway will be 32' curb to curb.

Another aspect of the contract includes furnishing, fabricating and erecting a chain link safety fence on both sides of relocated Carey Road overpass at the National Freeway and at the Green Lantern Road overpass at the National Freeway.

A major portion of this project has been classified as an Appalachian Highway project and funds required to pay the cost of this project will be provided for from the apportioned Appalachian highway funds from construction funds of the State Highway Administration.

A prime requisite of this contract is the safe and continuous maintenance of vehicular and pedestrian traffic on all state, county, town and private intersecting roads during the construction period.

No equipment or material will be stored or permitted to stand within highway limits where traffic must be maintained. Any earth dropped on the surface of the existing road will be removed immediately to avoid slippery conditions.

Bids for this project awarded on June 13 were opened on May 15th.

Two Are Hurt In Grantsville Area

Two persons were injured in a one-car wreck in Grantsville June 22.

Another one-car accident in the same area two days later was only minor, involving a deer.

David G. Durst, 29, operator of the car and his passenger, Harold K. Holliday, about the same age, and both of the Grantsville area, were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, following an accident in Grantsville June 22 about 10 p. m.

Durst traveling west on Ravine Street near Bender Street, lost control of his car which hit a post and continued on and hit a telephone pole. Tfc. C. D. Skidmore charged Durst with operating while under the influence of alcohol.

Rickey W. Broadwater, RD 1, Lonaconing, was traveling east on U. S. Route 40, when, as he stated, a deer came into his path from the right. He struck the animal in the eastbound lane throwing it onto the shoulder. Broadwater continued another 25 feet or so before stopping. Trooper Dale K. Williams made no charges.

Looks like a jumbled mass of wires, doesn't it? But to experienced fingers, each line has a meaning, and by plugging the right cord in the right place, a miracle in communication is established.

Much in life seems hopelessly jumbled. Yet so many of our problems can be solved if we cut through the maze of our personal "tangled wires" and get to the heart of the matter. To do this, we need to know what is essential and what is non-essential. We need a sense of values.

In this complicated age, it is hard to simplify things. It is difficult to grasp and understand those basic precepts which have always endured and which will serve us in the years to come.

Go to the church of your choice next Sunday. Listen with open ears, mind, and heart. It may mark the beginning of a new, uncluttered channel of communication for you.

SUBTLE KILLERS

Lesson for July 8, 1973

Background Scripture: Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26; 12:9-13; James 4:1-2b; I John 3:11-18.
Devotional Reading: I John 4:7-12.

Two friends of Pogo, the comic-strip swamp possum, gleefully announced one day: "We're filled with loathing!" "How come you look so happy then?" Pogo wanted to know. "We're always happy when we're filled with loathing!", they chirped.

Most of us know a few people who seem happiest when they are filled with loathing, resentment, or just plain ill humor. This, it seems, is the way they like it. Unpleasantness has become for them a way of life.

Rev. Althouse

Catalogue of complaints

Some time ago while making hospital calls, I saw a woman emerge from the "Intensive Care" unit and overheard her announce to a group of waiting relatives: "Dad is feeling better — he's started to complain!" Could that be said of you? Are you a walking catalogue of complaints, grudges, and discontentments? Are you sure?

The sixth of the ten commandments declares: "You shall not kill." This commandment often has a comforting effect because most of us know full well that we have not broken it, nor are we likely to. Jesus, however, did not intend to let us off that easily. According to his understanding of purpose, it is not only murderous act that kills, but also the hateful thought or the vindictive attitude. "But I say to you that every one who is angry with his brother shall be liable to judgment" (Matthew 5:22).

We rarely have to cut his throat to violate God's purpose for interpersonal relationships. There are many ways to do it. "Love your enemies, and pray for those who persecute you." There must be something positive to fill the void left by the subtle killers.

And how far does he expect us to go with this forgiving love for enemies? No less far than he went to a cross, if necessary!

Poisonous grudges

Many medical doctors today believe that bitterness and unforgiveness affect the body like destructive poisons. Many sicknesses are closely related to unresolved anger and resentment. Often before we can be made well physically, we must first be made whole spiritually.

"You shall not kill," says the sixth commandment. "Do not hate," says Jesus, further developing the deeper meaning of this commandment. Yet there is more to it than just what a person is not supposed to do. There is also something that a person is supposed to do: "Love your enemies, and pray for those who persecute you." There must be something positive to fill the void left by the subtle killers.

And how far does he expect us to go with this forgiving love for enemies? No less far than he went to a cross, if necessary!

℞ THE DANGER OF POLIO IN 1973

Twenty years ago the hot summer months brought the fear of polio to every parent. And now, in 1973, in spite of the availability of an easy to administer and effective vaccine against polio, one out of every three children in the 1-4 year old age group has not been immunized.

With the development of the oral dosage, Sabin vaccine, protection can be obtained without any discomfort. It is administered on a suger cube or a few flavored droos are put into the child's mouth. Only by being sure that all children are immunized can we be certain this dread disease will remain dormant.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear son and brother Earl Miller, who was killed in World War II, July 9, 1944, in France.

He was the very nicest son
That a parent could ever have.
And in memory we're still with him
Hear the music in his laugh.
Kind in trouble. Understanding
Sweet and wholesome, loyal too.
Always kind and so forgiving.
That's our son, yes, that was you.

Lunar Phase

Saturday at 1:26 a. m. the moon passes through its First Quarter Phase. A waxing moon will be observed all week. Moonset ranges from 11:56 p. m. tonight to 2:37 a. m. Wednesday morning.

Visible Planets

Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn may be seen by the interested observer this week. Venus may be seen low in the west for an hour and a half after sunset. Mars, in Pisces, rises shortly before midnight. Jupiter rises with the stars of Capricornus near sunset and may be viewed all night. Saturn rises shortly before the sun to be seen low in the east.

Daylight Decreases

There will be six minutes less daylight on Wednesday than there is today. The sun rose at 5:56 a. m. and will set at 8:49 p. m. tonight. Wednesday the sun will rise four minutes later and set two minutes earlier. There will be fourteen hours, forty-seven minutes of daylight Wednesday.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness" is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages.

"The structure of our laws has rested from the beginning on a foundation of moral purpose. That moral purpose embodies what is, above all, a deeply humane set of values—rooted in a profound respect for the individual, for the integrity of his person and the dignity of his humanity.

"No qualified student who wants to go to college should be barred by lack of money. That has long been a great American goal; I propose that we achieve it now.

"By upholding the cause of freedom without conscription, we will have demonstrated in one more area the superiority of a society based upon belief in the dignity of man over a society based on the supremacy of the state.

"The time has come to break decisively with the past and to create the conditions for a new era in which the Indian future is determined by Indian acts and Indian decisions.

"Full opportunity means the chance for upward mobility on every rung of the economic ladder—and for every American, no matter what the handicaps of birth.

"Abolishing poverty, putting an end to dependency — like reaching the moon a generation ago, may seem to be impossible. But in the spirit of APOLLO we can lift our sights and marshall our best efforts. We can resolve to make this the year not that we reached the goal, but that we turned the corner; turned the corner from a dismal cycle of dependency toward a new birth of independence, from despair toward hope; from an ominously mounting impotence of government to a new effectiveness of government, and toward a full opportunity for every American to share the bounty of this rich land."

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were:

You may write the Civil Aeronautics Board's Office of Consumer Affairs in Washington or phone the complaint "hot line" number 202-382-7735.

I recently received a VA pension check made out to my husband who passed away last month. What should I do?

According to the Veterans Administration you must return the check. If you are eligible for a widow's pension you will be sent a check from Va at your husband's rate of payment, if his rate was greater than yours. Thereafter, you will receive checks at widow's pension rates.

Does your office have any literature on growing vegetables at home?

Yes. A new and comprehensive Department of Agriculture bulletin entitled "Growing Vegetables in the Home Garden" is available from my office in Washington. Chapters cover site selection, soil preparation, garden tools, seed selection, garden care and choice of vegetables.

Is there any restriction on what a President may veto? May he veto a declaration of war or a constitutional amendment?

A President may veto any measure that is properly before him, regardless of its character. He may therefore veto private bills as well as public bills and a declaration of war the same as any other. Since proposals to amend the Constitution do not require the approval of the President, they are not submitted to him. But resolutions proposing constitutional amendments must be passed by a two-thirds vote in both Houses of Congress.

When will you be visiting our community?

Picnic Planning Pointers

Pack up the food and follow the action. . . Take your pick of places. Feast on the grounds at the county fair . . . or the grandstand of the motor rally . . .or a roadside park on the way to the summer house . . . or on the beach.

A picnic, casual though it might seem, requires planning behind the scenes. But planning can be simplified by following a few guidelines.

Essentials: Can Opener, Eating Utensils, Plates, Bread Knife, Bread Board, Napkins, Ice Chest, Bottle Opener, Serving Utensils, Cups, Paring Knife, Tablecloth, Insect Repellant, Vacuum Jug. Condiments: Salt, Sugar, Pepper, Nondairy Creamer, Condiments as Needed for Meal. Cooking Needs: Cooking Utensils, Pot Holders, Charcoal (fuel), Newspapers to start the fire, Matches, Grill, Charcoal Lighter, Clean Up: Paper towels, Paper trash bag, dampened washcloth, soap.

A picnic is a fun way to healthy eating. Even a simple outdoor meal of a meat and cheese sandwich, carrot sticks and a piece of fruit includes something from all four food groups-breads and cereals, milk and milk products, vegetables and fruits, and the meat group.

Suggested Patio Picnic:

Hobo Burger Buns, Barbecue Baked Beans, Perfection Salad, Cheese Cubes, Cold Watermelon, Favorite Cookies.

Creamy Burger Filling:

Cooperative Members Will Observe Fiftieth Anniversary

John J. Feland

W. T. Steele

Farmer-members of Southern States Cooperative will observe the 50th anniversary of the organization at a series of local annual meetings across five states this summer.

The meeting for the local area is set for August 29, at Southern High school in Oakland.

The cooperative was originally founded in Richmond, Va. on July 1, 1923, and today serves over 243,000 farmer members.

Service was first extended into Maryland in 1934 with Southern States Oakland Cooperative, Inc., organized in 1939. During the past fiscal year it had a dollar volume of over $800,000. The local cooperative serves approxtmately 937 farmer-members.

The company was first organized as the Virginia Seed Service by farmers seeking a reliable source of supply and distribution on certified clover and alfalfa seed. A feed service was launched in 1925, a fertilizer service in 1926 and a farm supply service in 1928.

The cooperative began manufacturing its own feed and fertilizer, growing much of its own seed. It launched a marketing service on eggs in 1936 and now also operates a grain marketing service in the eastern part of its territory and a wool marketing service in Kentucky.

In its 50th year the organization had a volume of business of nearly $176 million and its net worth stood at approximately $47 million. The two original employes have grown to 3,000 and farm supplies are now distributed through more than 525 retail outlets.

It is owned by the farmers who use it. To celebrate the Golden anniversary the local meetings will build programs around the theme, "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," and will honor past members of local boards and farm home advisory committees for their service.

John J. Feland, Richmond, became general manager on July 1, the 5th in the organization's history and replaced W. T. Steele, Jr., who had held the post since 1961.

A native of Danville, Ky., Feland has been an employe since 1915. He has held numerous posts. Steele, who is rounding out 38 years of employment, joined the cooperative in 1935 also serving in various managerial capacities.

Playhouse Closeup

Christine James (above) made her local debut this week at the Garrett County Playhouse as Myra Arnndel, as sultry a temptress as ever vamped the set of "Hayfever". Next week she will be featured in Enid Bagnold's "The Chalk Garden" as the elusive and provocative Miss Madrigal.

Chris lives in Magnolia, Ohio, and has recently transferred to the University of New Mexico from the University of Cincinnati, where her studies involved her in radio and television, production and consumption. What you might call a raving beauty at 22, Chris comes from a creative and intelligent family, all of whom are enthusiastic about her stage career—doubtless they know a winner when they raise one.

Christine James and the rest of the company will be at The Garrett County Playhouse—Tuesday thru Saturday every week thru August 18th—and especially next week in Enid Bagnold's "The Chalk Garden."

Tent Burns; Two Are Hurt

A tent caught fire in Swallow Falls State Park early Sunday morning, resulting in burns to a Pittsburgh couple.

State Police said Jean Ann DeAngelo, 19, of Bay Bridge avenue, Pittsburgh, sustained burns on her arms and body. She was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital and was released Sunday afternoon.

Police said the couple was camping in the state park. Miss DeAngelo was inside the tent when the fire broke out, and Mr. Hannon was asleep outside, according to police.

County Operator Hospitalized When Truck Turns Over

The operator of a County Roads Department truck was hospitalized last Thursday due to an accident on North Glade road when his dump truck turned over on a soft shoulder.

Harold C. DeWitt, 31, RD 1, Deer Park, was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the mishap at 9:15 a. m. He was discharged the next day.

DeWitt was traveling east on North Glade road, near the Glendale road, when he noticed an oncoming vehicle. Due to the narrow macadam surface of the road DeWitt gave the right-of-way by pulling to the right shoulder. The shoulder gave way causing the truck to turn over.

Tfc. G. D. Broadwater made no charges.

They specialize in jazz stylings of music from early Renaissance to the most recent rock tunes. The Trio has performed extensively through West Virginia. The concert at the College will feature a demonstration of different styles of music (classical, Jazz and American) utilizing a variety of improvisational approaches.

Dr. Miltenberger was educated at Miami University and Eastman School of Music. He has made numerous solo performances throughout the United States, including Carnegie Hall and recent appearances with the Pittsburgh Symphony. Also, as a jazz pianist he is featured with the West Virginia University Percussion Ensemble and "Percussion 70."

Civic Response . . .

Two events this week reflect a lack of civic responsibility among citizens.

One was the unwarranted calling of the Southern Resene Squad for aid in a supposedly serious car wreck which had not occurred; and the second was the unwarranted clogging of the highways so that fire trucks could not get to the scene of the fire.

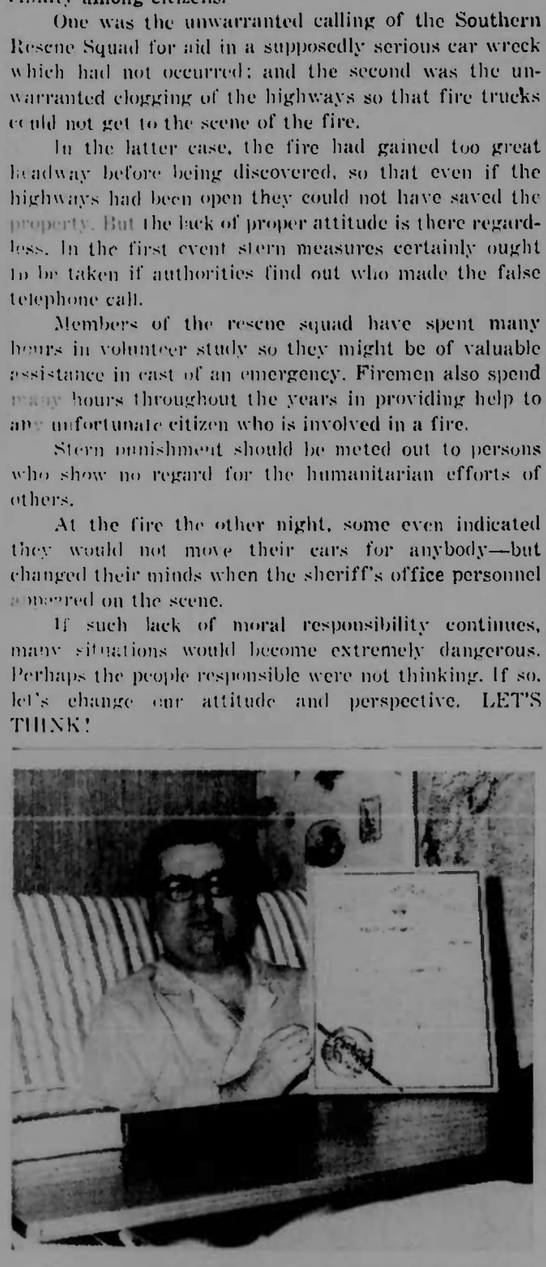
In the latter case, the fire had gained too great headway before being discovered, so that even if the highways had been open they could not have saved the property. But the lack of proper attitude is there regardless. In the first event stern measures certainly ought to be taken if authorities find out who made the false telephone call.

Members of the rescue squad have spent many hours in volunteer study so they might be of valuable assistance in cast of an emergency. Firemen also spend many hours throughout the years in providing help to any unfortunate citizen who is involved in a fire.

Stern punishment should be meted out to persons who show no regard for the humanitarian efforts of others.

At the fire the other night, some even indicated they would not move their cars for anybody—but changed their minds when the sheriff's office personnel appeared on the scene.

If such lack of moral responsibility continues, many situations would become extremely dangerous. Perhaps the people responsible were not thinking. If so, let's change our attitude and perspective. LET'S THINK!



Richard Leighton, Oakland, recently received from Governor Marvin Mandel a certificate appointing and commissioning him an honorary Admiral of the Chesapeake Bay. Mr. Leighton, long a naval enthusiast, received the honor when a mutual friend, Delegate DeCorsey Bolden, told the Governor of Mr. Leighton's interest in naval affairs. Mr. Leighton is a member of the U. S. Naval Institute. He recently had the opportunity to visit with Admiral John S. McCain, Jr., and while there, the Admiral autographed a copy of Mahan's classic, "The Influence of Sea Power Upon History." Mr. Leighton is the son of Mrs. Laura Leighton and the late Russell Leighton.

More Details On Discovery Of Body Given

Additional and complete information on the discovery of the body of Glenn Marratto, 13, was told to The Republican last Thursday afternoon around 4 o'clock, some four hours after the newspaper had gone to press. The information was provided by Corporal L. E. Dunton, of the state police, who was on the scene with detective sergeant, Milton G. Hart, of the LaVale barracks.

The boy had gone to Swallow Falls State park on Thursday, June 14, with a Pittsburgh church group and disappeared about 2 p. m. that day.

Unsuccessful efforts to find him were made by State Police, the Sheriff's office, scuba divers, helicopters, and bloodhounds.

According to Corporal Dunton a Pittsburgh couple, Nancy Chapp II and Kenneth Green saw the boy's arm protruding from between two large rocks in the water.

The reported their find at 3 p. m. to the park superintendent, Harold Stark, who in turn notified state police.

The two officers said the Deep

The Board members were holding a reorganizational meeting this afternoon in the Board office.

False Alarm Calls Ambulance And Police To Hutton

A false alarm took the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad and the State Police to Hutton about 10 p. m. Monday where a bad accident had been reported.

Some one impersonating Mr. Gank of Gank's Esso in Hutton called the Sheriff's office and reported that a bad accident had occurred at Hutton and that an ambulance and police were needed.

The Sheriff's office in turn immediately notified the Rescue Squad and the State Police. The Rescue Squad ambulance and State Police responded and Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis of the found no such accident.

They checked with Mrs. Gank and found that Mr. Gank had been away and had nothing to do with the call.

Young Man Gets Life Sentence

Sherman Paul Arthur, Jr., 21, of Blair County, Pa., was found guilty of strangling an Allegany Community college coed near Carpenters addition, Ridgeley, W. Va., on April 17, was sentenced Monday in Mineral county circuit court, Keyser, to life imprisonment.

Judge David E. Cuppett who presided announced that the convicted would spend the rest of his life in prison and can have no parole under the terms of the jury verdict.

The jury on June 28 found him guilty of murder in the first degree without a recommendation for mercy in the strangulation death of Marilyn K. Thomas, 21, of Philipsburg, Pa.

Attorneys have ten days in which to file an appeal with the state supreme court.

The body of Miss Thomas was found after a man later to be identified as Arthur called Pennsylvania State police at Hollidaysburg and told them that the girl's body could be found near Ridgeley. When he arrived he took West Virginia State police to the body which had been covered by leaves. An autopsy showed that she had been strangled to death.

Arthur, of Claysburg, was the only defense witness and he said he did not remember strangling the young woman, whom he had known for a year and a half.

Two drug cases were heard in Circuit Court last week. One man pleaded guilty and another was found guilty by a jury.

William Eugene Simms, Bradley Manor, Oakland, pleaded guilty of possession of marijuana before a jury with Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr. presiding.

Simms had been charged in March and prayed a jury trial in District Court in May. After the trial last Friday, Judge Hamill ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Simms was released on a cash bond of $100, pending sentence.

John Liller, RD 2, Oakland of Mt. Lake Park, pleaded not guilty before a jury last Thursday on two charges of possession of marijuana and two charges of distribution of the drug. The jury found him guilty on all four. Judge Hamill, presiding, ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Liller also pleaded not guilty, at the same trial, of conspiracy. This case was dismissed.

A RARE SIGHT—In Garrett County, anyway, is that of a chestnut tree in bloom. This tree, approximately 15 years old, is located in the Bethlehem area, off Route 560, and was brought to the attention of The Republican by Myrl Wilt. Nearly all of the local chestnut trees were wiped out by a blight many years ago, which has continued to kill even young saplings, since that time.

Fire Destroys Barn In Pleasant Valley Monday Evening

A barn containing 3,000 bales of hay was completely destroyed by fire Monday night in Pleasant Valley.

Firemen from Oakland responded with two pumpers and one tanker to the property of George Wilt about 10:15 p. m. The Quonset-type barn apparently had been engulfed by flames by the time the fire was noticed.

Deer Park firemen also responded to the fire, as an assist to Oakland.

Mr. Wilt had been putting hay in the barn that day. Lost along with the hay and the building itself were approximately 800 bushels of oats and 3 calves, along with an elevator. A bull, several pigs, one calf and some kittens were rescued from the building. The bull later died of smoke inhalation.

Firemen were dismissed from the scene at 2:30 a. m. One fireman, George Porter, of Oakland, injured his foot when he stepped on a nail. Stanley Savage, Oakland fire chief, has contacted Jesse Jacobs, deputy state fire marshal, to aid in investigation of the origin of the blaze.

Total estimate of damage, as figured up by the Wilts, is $19,875.00.

For a 30-month certificate the rate of interest is six and one-half percent. These are the maximum rates permitted by law. An advertisement to this effect appears in today's issue.

Couple Drowns In Blackwater

A New Jersey couple, parents of five children, were drowned Monday afternoon in Blackwater Falls, near Davis, 25 miles from Oakland.

Dead are Foster Sassaman, 46, nd his wife, Harriett, 39, of Piscataway, N. J. Their children range in age from four to sixteen, state police said.

Authorities said the couple, in company with their children, were hiking along a path above the falls. Mrs. Sassaman walked too close to the falls and fell. Her husband tried to grab her and both plunged over the falls.

The couple fell about 35 feet and struck large boulders along the face of the falls, and fell about 25 more feet into the turbulent waters at 1:30 p. m.

The woman's body surfaced a short time after she plunged into the water. Her husband's body was recovered at 6:10 p. m.

Among those who joined in the rescue efforts for the husband were two West Virginia State Police scuba divers, one from Petersburg and the other from Parsons. A scuba diver who is a member of the Elkins fire company, also joined in the search.

According to police the family had been in an area which is not designated for sightseers. Authorities also said the New Jersey family was camping at Camp Site 56, Blackwater Falls State Park about a half mile from the scene of the tragedy.

Both were pronounced dead at the scene by M. D. Collison, Tucker county coroner. The bodies were removed to the Hinkle Funeral home in Davis.

First National Orders Increase In Interest Rates

Effective retroactively to July 1, the First National Bank of Oakland will pay 5 percent per annum, compounded quarterly on regular passbook savings accounts, it was announced by C. R. Tusing, president. This is an increase of one half percent over the old rate.

Also effective immediately increases will be made in the interest rate paid on new Certificates of Deposit, in four categories, from 5½ percent to 6½ percent.

The 90-day to 1 year certificates, 5½ percent; 1 year to 2½ year certificates, 6 percent; 2½ year certificates, 6½ percent, over $100,000 certificates, issued for 30 days to 2½ years, 6½ percent.

Monthly interest checks will be paid as in the past on certificates of $10,000 or more.

Mr. Tusing said increases were made possible by recent action of the Federal Reserve board which raised the ceiling on various rates that commercial banks can pay.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

We are an organization of Deep Creek Lake residents entitled "Save Deep Creek Lake Association" and we have closely followed the progress of planning for Garrett County and the Lake since the Spring of 1971. We believe that we can be of service to the citizens of Garrett County through this summary of the present status of planning.

Beginning in 1971, the County Commissioners created a county Planning Commission which contracted with a planning firm to make studies and reports for county "planning" and for "zoning" specifically for Deep Creek Lake. "Planning" involves recommendations county-wide which are needed for highway development, school allocations, sewerage construction, etc. "Planning" does not impose any legal limitations on the use by an owner of his land or structures. "Zoning," however, constitutes a legal direction as to what type of structure could be erected on land around Deep Creek Lake.

We believe that at present, permanent zoning is urgently needed for the Lake area only, but that for the balance of Garrett County, planning alone is appropriate. Deep Creek Lake's beauty has attracted summer and year-round cottage owners from Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, District of Columbia and from Garrett County itself. It is reported that one-half of the income earned annually by all persons in Garrett County comes from Lake-related pursuits. We urge that the Lake be preserved as a delightful recreation area providing a restful environment, so difficult to find in today's typically busy style of living.

Zoning is absolutely essential if the Lake is to be saved from the fate which has befallen many uncontrolled resort areas. Beginning in 1971, new construction around the Lake was essentially "frozen" into the form of dwelling units then existing. This resulted from the temporary zoning ordinance now in existence for the Lake area. However, State law mandates that local zoning ordinances be revised to meet recited State provisions by December 31, 1973. Consequently, time is short, and permanent zoning for the Lake must be adopted during the summer and early fall while Lake cottage owners are in residence and can contribute some in-put to the Planning Commission.

If the existing temporary zoning ordinance expires and is not replaced by a permanent zoning ordinance, immediately it will be possible to build in a completely unregulated fashion around the entire Lake shore. We believe that owners of a majority of the remaining undeveloped Lake land are sincerely interested in preserving the high standards of Lake development, with or without the existence of a zoning ordinance. However it is predictable that some other interest may desire to exploit the Lake real estate for the primary purpose of receiving the largest monetary return, and without considering the need for long range restraint on expansion of the Lake population. Studies show that 13,000 people use the Lake on a summer day, and that control is required if we are to avoid destruction of the Lake as we know it today. Reasonable control will benefit everyone in the long range. Lack of control will give a quick profit to some, with long range detriment to all.

Planning officials have indicated that there will soon be a public meeting for the purpose of discussing the County-wide "Plan" which is being submitted to the State authorities at Annapolis. Under the law, there is a sixty-day period after submission of the Plan, during which it is studied by the State and affected interests. During and after this sixty-day period the County will hold hearings, and thereafter the County Commissioners are to adopt a final ordinance zoning the Lake.

This procedure seems appropriate. Zoning is presently needed for the Lake, it is not essential for the remaining unzoned portions of the County. Persons in favor of Lake zoning can support the action, and those who feel zoning is not needed elsewhere are not affected by the proposed Lake zoning.

We urge County residents who believe in preserving Deep Creek Lake to communicate with the County Commissioners and the Planning Commission and enthusiastically support prompt adoption of permanent zoning for the Lake area.

Very truly yours, William Foster, Secretary, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Six Are Slightly Injured In Recent Accidents

Six persons received slight injuries in recent traffic accidents, mostly in the southern part of the county.

Hazel M. Sisler, 49, and Carolyn J. Sisler, 16, passengers in the car driven by Arnow David Sisler, all of RD 1, Gormania (Garrett Co.), were treated and released from Garrett Co. Memorial following a mishap on Pleasant Valley road at Shady Dell road last Thursday evening. Robin L. Sisler, 11, also a passenger, was not injured.

Sisler was driving north on Pleasant Valley road while Roger D. Sheller, Mt. Lake Park was traveling south and the two met on a sharp curve. Both operators said they failed to see each other in time to avoid a collision. Both were across the center line of the road. Both operators were charged with failure to keep to the right side of the road by Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis.

[illegible] Tichnell, 56, Swanton, was treated and released from Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland following a two-car mishap on State Route 135 about half mile east of Chestnut Grove road, last Saturday evening. Mr. Tichnell and Carl B. Welch, Jr., Keyser, W. Va., were traveling east on Route 135. Tichnell had slowed down to make a left turn into Bevers Dairy Bar (signals flashing). Welch did not see the signal, started to pass the Tichnell car and hit it in the left rear. Trooper Dale K. Williams charged Welch with passing when unsafe to do so.

Two passengers in a car driven by Floyd J. Everson, Jean J. Everson, 42, and Carolyn Everson, all of Dellslow, W. Va., were slightly injured in a car-truck wreck at the intersection of U. S. Routes 50 and 219 last Saturday shortly before noon.

Everson had pulled from a 'stop' sign, headed south bound on Route 219, and in doing so, pulled directly into the path of a small truck driven by Eugene F. Shaffer of Aurora, W. Va., headed west. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater investigated the accident.

Raymond R. McCauley, 38, was slightly injured when the car he was driving hit a parked car of Gorden E. House, Grantsville, the morning of June 30. McCauley driving west on U. S. Route 40, ran off the right shoulder, struck the parked car and then drove on into a garage door. Tfc. Robert E. Friend charged McCauley with reckless driving.

There were no apparent injuries in six other mishaps.

David A. Robison, RD 1, Lonaconing, stated that the operator of another car, Gerald Clinton Broadwater, also RD 1, Lonaconing, was traveling with his lights out on the Avilton-Lonaconing road at 1 a. m. July 4. Robison said he was too close to the vehicle when he noticed to get stopped and ran in to the rear of it. Robison was charged by Tpr. R. C. Georg with operating at too great a speed for conditions, and Broadwater with operating an unsafe vehicle.

LeRoy E. Gray, Cumberland, and Robert L. Leight, McHenry, in a small truck, were both traveling north on U. S. Route 219 at noon July 4. Gray was slowing to allow a vehicle ahead of him to make a left turn. Leight applied his brakes and skidded into the rear of the Gray car. Tfc. Friend charged Leight with operating at a speed too great for conditions.

Allen W. Reeves, Bloomington, was stopped on the shoulder of U. S. Route 135 just west of the Sand Flat road early this morning of June 30. When Reeves started to make a U-turn, it was into the path of a car driven by Paul D. Thayer, Mt. Lake Park. Tfc. Friend charged Reeves on two counts, failing to stop after a vehicle damage accident and not signaling when starting from a parked position.

Evelyn S. Ream, RD 1, Oakland, was traveling south on U. S. Route 219 about a mile and a half north of Oakland town limits just past midnight June 30. A wheel of her car dropped off the shoulder throwing the car out of control which then ran off the road and hit several trees. Tfc. Friend investigated.

Freddie R. Stoner, Jr., RD 1, Gormania (Garrett Co.), was stopped southbound on a dirt roadway between two speakers at the 219 Drive-in theater Sunday evening. At that time, Rex R. Burns, Rowlesburg, W. Va., in a small truck, started to back slowly and struck the Stoner car in the front end. Trooper Williams made no charges.

Michael D. Laffey, Westernport, was traveling east on the Savage River road about 1:30 Sunday morning about 3 miles from State Route 135. An unknown vehicle, a red pick-up, ran onto his side of the road and struck his car.

Home Financing Program Available

The newly enacted Maryland Home Financing program, operating under the Economic and Community Development department of the state of Maryland, recently began operations in the county according to David Ramsey, at Community Action, who has been designated as contact person.

Mr. Ramsey explained the objective of the program was to increase opportunities for home ownership by making direct loans to credit worthy individuals and families who are unable to get mortgages through normal sources. The Home Financing program was unique, he said, in that it has a below market rate of interest, a minimum down payment of 3 percent and a maximum term of 40 years, depending on the condition of the property and the needs of the applicant.

In order to qualify for the program the applicant must meet certain income limitations, have been a Marylaud state resident for the past 3 years, and intend to use the home as a personal residence. Another requirement involves being rejected by two mortgage lenders in the area.

Creek Lake Volunteer fire department responded with an unsinkable fiber glass boat and ropes.

Two Deep Creek firemen, Clarence Long and Charles Thomas, Jr., both of Mellenry, were assisted in the recovery operations by four members of the Claridge, Pa. Volunteer Fire Department who were camping at Swallow Falls State Park on an outing. They were Henry Kush, Larry Ciameiotti, Michael Cinti and Albert Slack. Also helping was Gary King, of Friendsville, the officer said.

The body was extricated from the rocks about 4:10. Recovery operations had started at 3:45.

The badly decomposed body was removed by VanMeter ambulance to the John O. Durst funeral home in Oakland where an autopsy was conducted by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, Allegany County medical examiner, and Dr. James A. Feaster, Garrett county medical examiner.

Relatives made positive identification by the clothing and tennis shoes the boy was wearing.

Sheriff John F. Browning, Oakland, pointed out that the boy's body was found in the river about 50 feet from the mouth of Muddy Creek. Corporal Donald E. Tucker, criminal investigator for this area, was also in on the rescue operations.

residential growth. However, the Planning Commission will be proposing some restrictions on density of future residential development in order to keep the overall population of the area low enough to enhance the recreational atmosphere.

Mr. Rickert urged that all citizens interested in the Deep Creek Lake area attend this meeting in order that the Planning Commission might benefit from their ideas.

Budget

proval up to $25,586.28 figure and their willingness to support this amendment to the budget.

Civic Center Project

The commissioners agreed to serve as sponsor for the Civic Center project at the Broadford recreation facility near Mt Lake Park. The sponsorship of the commissioners allows for funding from the following: $70,000 Open Space money; $70,000 ARC money; and $40,000 to be raised through a local fund raising or a loan to the Civic Center corporation.

Economic Development

Tom Jones, of Economic Development, informed the commissioners of the revisions for the water and sewage proposal from W. McLean Bingley, chief of Water and Sewage, Department of Mental Health and Hygiene. Main point of the contention was in the definition of Community Sewage. The commissioners pointed out if the definition included 2 or more buildings together this could easily be interpreted to mean a barn and house, which they said was out of the realm for concern for Garrett county's purposes.

Fuel Oil Bids

By unanimous action the commissioners accepted the fuel oil supply bid from Garrett Fuels, Inc. at a price of 18.9 cents per gallon for supplying the court house with No. 2 heating oil for fiscal year 1973-74.

Commissioners were officially informed by Hugh Denison of Monongahela Power of the proposed merger between that company and Potomac Edison. A public hearing will be held on July 18 with representatives from both power companies and the Public Service commission.

Cankerworm Damage Cited In Grant County

Gus R. Douglass, state agriculture commissioner for the state of West Virginia, revealed yesterday that 823 acres of hardwoods in neighboring Grant county had been defoliated by fall cankerworms.

Douglass said flights over the area June 26 showed the extent of the damage. The area of complete defoliation starts at Dolly Sods and extends northward to Mt. Storm Lake.

Douglass said there are an additional 1,400 acres that are about 50 percent defoliated in the same area. He added that successive years of defoliation would cause growth loss and in some cases, death of trees.

YFC Events Listed

Upcoming Mt. Top YFC events have been listed by Tom Crogan, local director.

There will be a Board of Directors meeting Saturday, July 14 at 8 p. m. at the Aurora UM Church.

Miss George Wed To Mr. Gilpin

Miss Dorothy Louise George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. George, Sr., Grantsville, became the bride of Kenneth Clair Gilpin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Gilpin, also of Grantsville, on June 16

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William Carlson in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Cove. Mrs. Lucille Sines provided the music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a gown of nylon organza with empire waistline. The bodice was trimmed with sequined, scalloped Chantilly lace as were the cuffs of the bishop sleeves and high neckline. The lace extended on to the A-line skirt in a redingote effect. The detachable train repeated the Chantilly lace in a center panel. A mantilla of bridal illusion, outlined in scalloped, sequined Chantilly lace, fell from a lace headpiece, extending over the train. She carried a Bible given to her by her parents, topped by a cascade bouquet of white daisies and yellow roses, accented by blue carnations and streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Luann Baker, Frostburg, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Hady, Pittsburgh, cousin of the bride; Miss Debbie Beal, Grantsville, and Mrs. Susan Wilhelm, Grantsville. Robin Philips, Pittsburgh, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

James George, Jr., Grantsville, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were William Hady, Jr., Meyersdale, Pa., cousin of the bride; Ronald Beitzel, Grantsville, cousin of the bridegroom, and Roy Wilhelm of Grantsville. Charles Edmiston, Jr., Bowling Green, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Joseph Philips, Pittsburgh, the bride's cousin, distributed rice.

A reception followed at the American Legion Home in Grantsville. Mrs. William Hady and Mrs. J. Robert Philips, aunts of the bride, cut the cake. Punch was served by Mrs. James Philips, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Charles Edmiston Sr., sister-in-law of the bride. Miss Mildred Wucik, Mrs. Vernon Reichenbecher and Mrs. John Menges were in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Robert L. Wilt registered guests and sisters and sisters-in-law of the bridegroom attended gifts.

A graduate of Northern High School, the bride is employed as a nurses' aid at Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville.

Also a graduate of Northern High School. Mr. Gilpin is employed by Powles Builders, Inc., Mt. Lake Park. He is a member of the Frostburg National Guard.

The couple resides on Star Route, Frostburg.

KNOWING CHRIST

TEXT: "That I might know Him" Philippians 3:10.

Paul in writing to the Church at Philippi let them know the heart cry of his life. Did not Paul know Christ? O, Yes. He had met Him when his name was Saul on the road to Damascus.

His meeting Christ completely transformed his life. He was going to Damascus to bind the Christians that he found there when a great light shone round about him. This light was from heaven and caused him to fall upon the earth where he heard a voice saying unto him, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?" Then he said, "Who art Thou LORD?"

The LORD answered him saying, "I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks." This caused Saul to tremble and astonished him, but he answered and said to Jesus, "LORD, What wouldest Thou have me to do?"

Jesus instructed him to go into the city of Damascus and there it would be told what he was to do. The light had blinded him so that he had to be led. After 3 days of blindness with Christ Ananias came by the command of Jesus and restored his sight.

From that time on he preached Christ crucified and risen again from the dead. Again and again he had vivid experiences with Christ. Christ was his constant companion. Perhaps one of his greatest experiences took place in A.D. 45 when having been stoned to death he was caught up to the third heaven, even into Paradise and heard unspeakable words which it was not lawful for man to utter. In A.D. 59 Paul said, "I am determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ and Him crucified." The year before, in A.D. 58 he had said, "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." In A.D. 60 we hear him say, "For I am persuaded, that neither death nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Jesus Christ our LORD." In the first part of this letter to the church at Philippi he said, "For me to live is Christ, to die is gain." That was the year of A.D. 64, when he stated the cry of the text.

Can you think of one who could have known Christ better? In saying, "That I might know Him" he was not only expressing his own heart's desire but the desire of every one who has truly met Christ. The great question for many is, 'How can I know Christ?" We cannot know Him without meeting Him. The better acquainted with Him that we become the more of Him we will wisb to know. That is the natural response of a true follower of Jesus.

Sin is all that separates us from Him. He is the only one who can remove our sins from us through forgiveness. When he forgives, He blots out of His record books all of our sins and He comes so near that we know that we have met Him.

There is a record kept in heaven of everything that we do, say or think. If we in sincerity and sorrow for the wrong things that we have done go to Jesus Christ He will place the kiss of forgiveness upon our souls; His loving arms will encompass us and from His record book He that we have done. Then we will will blot out all the wrongs know that He is our Saviour who has saved us from our sins.

This experience with Christ will bring more joy and happiness into our hearts than we have ever known before. Can we not come as Children to Christ and confess? He says, "That if we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

In such a way we start in our association with Him. As one poet expresses our hope let us listen:

"Though you have much peace and comfort, Greater things you yet may find, Freedom from unholy tempers, Freedom from the carnal mind. To procure your perfect freedom, Jesus suffer'd, groaned, and died, On the cross the healing fountain Gushed from His wounded side."

Rev. Frank A. Johnson, United Methodist, Mellenry.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

The first exposures in the Watergate affair came to public attention during the Presidential campaigning in 1972. And the opening disclosures in the biggest political scandal in American history (yet not reported as such) were made during the Presidential campaigning in 1964. One of the first political celebrities named in connection with the machinations of Bobby Baker, Secretary of the U.S. Senate's Democratic majority, was Matthew H. McCloskey, for years Treasurer of the National Democratic Party and its chief fund-raiser. Baker, who was Lyndon Johnson's protege and intimate, became politically powerful as Johnson's right hand man in the Senate. He amassed a $2 million fortune in two years of wheeling and dealing in fraud, conspiracy and selling legislation.

One of Baker's associates in some of his dealings was Lyndon Johnson's insurance man Donald B. Reynolds. Reynolds, lige the McCord of the Watergate affair, began to "spill the beans" soon after his name was brought into the Baker scandal by Sen. John J. Williams (R. Del.) who first exposed Baker. Reynolds testified under oath at a Senate Rules Committee hearing that he was Bobby Baker's and the Democratic Party's "bag man" in the transfer of $25,000 in Government money to the Democratic Party to help finance the John Kennedy-Lyndon Johnson presidential campaign of 1960.

McCloskey's fortune apparently was much bigger than Baker's. Substantial amounts came from his strangely successful bidding in of Federal Government building contracts such as $60 million in work on the $100 million-plus Rayburn Office Building, V. A. Hospitals, the $20 million D. C. Stadium (later named Kennedy Stadium) and others. According to Reynolds' testimony, as reported in the New York Times of January 22, 1964, McCloskey worked with Baker in buying a $14 million performance bond for construction of the D. C. Stadium. The bond was purchased from Reynolds. The premium was $73,631.28. But Reynolds' testimony and his records showed that McCloskey overpaid Reynolds $30,674.32; and "Bag Man" Reynolds said this was a deliberate arrangement so that he could himself keep 10,000 as "extra bag man fee" and kick back $25,000 to Baker to go into the Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund. Later testimony showed that the U. S. Government in which Johnson was a powerful official, had given McCloskey $100,000 (tax-payers money) as a "Progress Payment" out of which came McCloskey performance bond premium and the overpayment described by Reynolds as going to the Democratic campaign fund.

Most of the ramifications of the far-reaching Baker manipulations were permitted to wind up in dead ends by the Democratic Majority of the Senate Rules Committee (six Democrats, three Republicans), by the claim of "Executive Privilege" by Democrat Attorney Katzenbach, and by the news media's unusual apathy in the face of sensational leads.

McCloskey in 1964 was the recently-returned Ambassador to Ireland and still the major money-raiser for Democratic Party campaigning. But he was dealt a blow when the Justice Department was forced to file a claim against him for $4,918,770.00 for the Government's expense in replacing "faulty work" and "serious defects" in the $14 million Veterans Administration hospital in Boston. The hospital, it was revealed, had begun literally to "come apart" shortly after it was occupied. It was revealed also that McCloskey got the contract by out-bidding 13 other contractors. His amazingly low bid was $10 million, although Government estimates had indicated its cost would top $12 million. In fact, with McCloskey building it, after getting the job with his low-low bid, the cost ran to more than $14 million.

Testimony before the Rules Committee, in the Baker case, also stated that McCloskey had conferred with Bobby Baker about the Stadium contract before it was awarded, and that President Truman also sat in on one such meeting.

McCloskey, when examined by the Rules Committee, said that his company "goofed" in the $35,000 "overpayment" of the Stadium performance bond premium, but he said none of it was intended to wind up in the Democrat's campaign fund, although Don Reynolds said it had.

Former County Teacher Retires

Mrs. Ruth M. Patterson, former Ruth MacMurray, of this county, who retired at the end of the school year from the Jefferson Central School, Jefferson, New York, was honored at a smorgasbord luncheon in the school cafeteria by the Teachers Association and the Board of Education.

Mrs. Patterson began her teaching career in 1935 in the Garrett County schools as a Mathematics and Science teacher. She taught at Kempton, Kitzmiller, Grantsville and Accident. In 1945, Mrs Patterson accepted a position in the Jefferson Central School teaching Junior and Senior High School Science and High School Mathematics. For the past eight years she has taught Mathematics, grades 8 through twelve. During her teaching career, she has completed 53 hours of graduate and in-service credit.

Mrs. Patterson has been active in the Jefferson Central Teachers Association, serving on the Legislative and Negotiation committees and as president. She has also been president of the Schoharie County Teachers Association and the local School and Community Club. She has been faculty advisor for a home room each year and for the Yearbook. The Yearbook staff honored her by dedicating the 1973 Jeffersonian to her. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary teachers organization.

Mrs. Patterson has purchased a home in Voorheesville, New York. She and her mother, Mrs. C. E. MacMurray, will be moving there early in September.

Maintain Certified Land Uses, ASCS Farmers Reminded

Garrett County farmers who have certified compliance with 1973 farm program requirements are reminded to continue to carry out their commitment for the remainder of the year.

J. Walter Margroff, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) County Committee, says that 83 farmers in Garrett County had certified compliance with this year's farm program by the June 15 deadline. Certification amounts to a pledge by the farmer as to his program acreage, his acreage set aside from production if any, and that he has complied with all program provisions, Mr Margroff said.

Mr. Margroff pointed out that following certification, certain farms are picked at random for a spot check of program acreages. The accuracy of the certification is determined by comparing actual acreages with those certified by the producer. Mr. Margroff warned that producers found out of compliance would lose all or part of their program payment. Spot checks will continue throughout the remainder of the year.

He also reminded producers who graze or hay set-aside acreage that they must notify the county ASCS Office.

Mr. Margroff added that if a producer feels he does not understand the rules for set-aside acreage, he should contact the county ASCS Office immediately.

Grants Available For Students Who Lack College Funds

Special federal grants are now available to students lacking funds for college, according to J. W. Janssen, Dean of Students, Garrett Community College. The Federal Office of Health, Education and Welfare has recently implemented a new financial aid program for college bound students, the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program. Students with parental annual incomes approximating $11,000 or less, who are entering college for the first time and in full-time status, may qualify.

The grants range from $200 to $1400 for the academic year 1973-74, depending upon the resources and parental contributions available to the students. No fees are charged for evaluation. Since processing may take up to four weeks, students who plan to enroll in college for the Fall semester should submit applications as soon as possible. Applications for evaluation for financial assistance are available from the college at McHenry.

The Nation's food shelves may be out of some food items but no one should go hungry.

A GOOD KID

It's nice to see a headline about a good kid—because that's what most of them are.

Of course, his parents worry about him. That's one of the reasons he is a good kid. He's had plenty of opportunity to learn how much they love him . . . how much they care.

They have given him many things, some at considerable sacrifice to themselves. Fortunately, though, their giving didn't end with material gifts.

They have given him ideals . . . standards . . . principles. These are the intangible treasures that you aren't likely to acquire if you didn't find them at home.

And they have given him a faith. It was their faith first. At home and in church they shared it with him. Out of it the ideals and standards and principles naturally grew.

Yes. He's a good kid—due to the Lord.

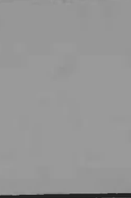
SPOILED GIFT

Lesson for July 15, 1973

Background Scripture: Exodus 20:14; Matthew 5:27-32; John 8:3-11; Romans 1:24-32, 1 Corinthians 6:13b-20, Ephesians 5:21-23
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 5:1-10.

Have you ever noticed Jesus' talent for bursting our little balloons of pride and self-satisfaction? He has a knack for converting our great moral victories into occasions of doubt and suspicion of guilt.



Rev. Althouse

The rich young ruler came to him with obvious self-satisfaction. He lived according to all the commandments, what more did he need? Apparently he had expected Jesus to commend him, but, instead of the expected "pat on the back," Jesus replied with: "you lack one thing . . ."

The precious gift

No one can really take pride in his observance of the commandments if he really understands them as Jesus did. For example, one need not commit murder to violate the sixth commandment. One may destroy or profane God's gift of human life with anger and bitterness as well as with physical violence.

The same is true with the seventh commandment: "You shall not commit adultry." It too is intended to protect one of God's precious gifts: human sexual nature. Like all his gifts, it is intended to enrich and elevate life. He expects us, therefore, to use that gift according to these purposes. When we do, our lives are enriched and blessed. When, however, we use this gift for other purposes, we not only displease God, but we also hurt ourselves and others. The precious gift then becomes the spoiled gift. It is difficult to imagine how Jesus could have improved upon this commandment. What more could he ask then that people abstain from adultry and fornication? Yet, this is where Jesus once again displays his talent for bursting our balloons.

The inner fact

"But I say to you that everyone who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultry with her in his heart" (Matthew 5:28). The seventh commandment had led some to concentrate too much emphasis on the physical act of sexual immorality. Jesus, however, was just as concerned with the inner fact of lust. The real problem, he knew, was the reality of impure thoughts and attitudes that precede the immoral acts.

When he defines it in this way, who can escape his accusation? We may feel pretty smug because we have never violated the letter of the law, but when we consider the spirit of the law, there is no room left for smugness. Who is there among us who has never allowed lust to play with our thoughts?

Just as hate can destroy the hater from within, so lust is a poison let loose within us, spoiling our values and attitudes, giving us a very immature and selfish understanding of God's great gift. It makes a curse of what was intended to be a blessing.

In short: it spoils the gift!

You Can't Take A Vacation From Dental Health

Proper dental hygiene is a 365 day job. By adopting a few new habits you can help eliminate plaque and cavities. We all know about decay, but what about plaque? This is a combination of bacteria and food which collects on teeth along the gumline. If not removed it will destroy the bony support around your teeth and healthy teeth may be loosened and lost.

Brushing helps remove plaque but cannot reach crevices between teeth. Disclosure tablets, dissolved in the mouth show where plaque has been missed in brushing. Dental floss can then be used to remove that which has been left.

Oakland Defeated By Westernport

Victory Post of Westernport remained one and one-half games out of first place in the Pen-Mar baseball league by defeating Oakland 15 to 3 in a game played at Oakland.

The Post had little difficulty in picking up its 11th win of the campaign, hammering out 22 base hits including a two-run homer by Everett Spiker. The winners were aided by six Oakland fielding errors.

Wilkinson, in a full performance, surrendered only six hits, one of them a two-run homer by opposing pitcher Bob Finch in the seventh inning. Finch was relieved in the fifth inning by Glotfelty.

This coming Saturday Paw Paw will play at Oakland and on Sunday Oakland will play at Hyndman.

Create an Original Bathroom Decor

Something decoratively different in the bathroom may be just what's needed to provide freshness and catch the feeling of a bright new season. Since the room is generally small, the change need not be expensive or extensive to do the trick.

Using a sewing machine and washable fabric coordinates, you can make your own shower curtain, window curtains and accessories.

Fabric shops and departments may provide how-to help or booklets that detail sewing techniques. Here, too, are bolts upon bolts of easy-care materials in colors and patterns to fit any motif. Perhaps you will choose the splendor of Oriental prints, the gaiety of bright flowers, the lightness of pastels or the richness of deep tones and textured treatments. Shop around first and let fabrics to your liking determine the new look for a bathroom. Part of the fun is in the planning. If possible, get samples to compare with towel colors and other accessories to be sure everything really goes together.

Create your own shower curtain, floor length for extra luxury, and a window treatment—shades, cafes, tie-backs—to match or pick up a coordinate color. A plain plastic liner will protect the fabric curtain and keep water inside the tub or shower. Then go on to really personalize and dress up the room by cutting out portions of the fabric design and appliqueing on solid color towels. This is easy to do by machine using a zigzag stitch. Additional pieces of fabric can be used to trim shelves and laundry hamper or provide paste-on appliques for waste basket and tissue box.

Launder the new fabric before cutting to take care of any possible shrinkage. This is particularly important in applique where shrinkage for the different materials may not be the same and puckering may result. When the whole ensemble is complete, keep it fresh and bright with regular washings.

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information typical of the kind asked of me, tion or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions:

My wife and I are thinking about establishing a children's camp and wonder if the federal government has any "advice" booklets covering this sort of thing?

"Camping With a Purpose, a 4-H Handbook" contains principles used by 4-H leaders in developing children's camps. All phases of organization are explained including staffing, publicizing, financing, laws and emergency facilities. You may order a copy by writing the Public Documents Distribution Center, 5801 Tabor Ave., Philadelphia, Pa. 19120.

Is it true that a man retiring at the same age as a woman will get lower social security benefits even though they make the same salary?

This was true in the past when a woman's averages were based on working up to age 62 and a man's until age 65. However, by 1975, under new changes in the law, a man's work will be averaged to age 62.

Who comprises the Water Resources Council?

The Council is comprised of the Secretaries of the Departments of the Interior; Agriculture; Army; Transportation; Health, Education and Welfare; and the Chairman of the Federal Power Commission. For information on grants and loan procedures interested communities should write the Assistant Director for State Grants, care of the Water Resources Council in Washington, D. C.

What is the status of the Murphy Pesticide Bill?

The Chemical Pesticides Coordination Act, (H.R. 8541) is currently pending before the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. The proposed legislation would require written notice to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and an appropriate State agency before beginning any Federal program involving the use of any chemical to be used in eradicating or controlling animal or plant pests.

Some time ago I decided to receive veteran's benefits under the new pension law because my income exceeded the annual limitation that would result in termination of benefits under the old pension law. Can I now go back to drawing pension under the old law since the income limitations have since been increased?

No. Once you have chosen benefits under the new law, you cannot go back to the old law

Wed In Washington June 16

On Saturday the sixteenth of June, Miss Mary Katherine Keller and Robert Fenton Lawson were married in the Church of the Holy City in Washington, D. C., by the Reverend Brian Kingslake. A reception followed at the Walter Reed Army Officers' Club.

The bride wore a gown of silk organza with Chantilly lace and was attended by Miss Susan Marie Browning as maid of honor. Miss Cassandra Richard, Miss Phoebe Lawson, and Miss Laura Lawson were bridesmaids. Mr. Robert George Lawson, the groom's father, served as best man and Bayard Thistle Keller, III, Franklin Lawson and Mark Geiger were ushers.

The former Miss Keller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Thistle Keller of Silver Spring, and is a graduate of the University of Maryland.

Mr. Lawson is the son of Mrs. Carol Skinner Lawson of Rockville, and Mr. Robert George Lawson of Cincinnati, Ohio. The groom is an alumnus of Earlham College in Richmond Indiana, and is teaching English and American History at Pembroke Place School in Suncook, New Hampshire.

Fourteen Killed On State Highways

Fourteen persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways last week, according to Sergeant James E. Harvey of the Maryland State Police. Nine of those killed were drivers, three were passengers and two were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in seven and "driver error" in twelve.

Persons killed through July 1 totaled 406 compared to 392 for the same period a year ago.

Review Of the Play

'CHALK GARDEN'

The second play in the current season, "The Chalk Garden," by Enid Bagnold, opened this week at the Garrett County Playhouse to an almost full house. It is English drama revolving around the lives of four eccentrics who are pitifully lonely. Although there is a tenseness throughout the story, it is laced with a great deal of humor. It all happens when Miss Madrigal, played exceptionally well by Christine James, answers an advertisement for a tutor and companion to a free-wheeling 16 year old girl who seems to be in complete control of the lives of her family. Laurel, the teenager, is done with finesse by Diana Haynes, who is making her debut at the Blue Barn this week. We would like to see more of Miss Haynes before the season is over.

After Miss Madrigal finally settles in with the family, and thoroughly understands her duties, the play really takes off. She has her past, but in the early stages of development, she is able to conceal it. There are other applicants for the job beside Miss Madrigal. We see Helen Padilla in a bit part, but not knowing for a certainty what is expected of her. Then we find our local girl, Ada Mae Welch, playing the part of another applicant for the job of companion. She is quite convincing in her rendition.

For sheer joy, we again have the privilege of watching Mary Beth Bratcher at work in the role of Mrs. St. Maugham, grandmother to the untamed Laurel. She has an obsession with her garden which turns out to be, according to Miss Madrigal, a chalk garden. Nothing can grow there until new elements are added to the soil. The same holds true for the lives of the others. Until a new element is added to their lives, they can only be shallow.

Once again we find John Bratcher playing the role of the houseboy. The husband in real life of Mary Beth, he is a pleasure to watch on stage.

The nurse to the terrible old Pinkbell, whom we never see, is played by Debi Karlinsky, and very ably done we might add.

A newcomer to the Garrett County Playhouse this week is Jan Rothman, appearing through the courtesy of Center Stage Productions, and is presently acting as Artist-in-residence for Camp Hickory. She is a real 'pro', who adds much to this week's play. She is doing the part of Olivia, mother of Laurel, and daughter of Mrs. St. Maugham, but whose life is anything but exemplary.

Patrick Moore, who is the judge, and who is the key to unraveling the mystery of who Miss Madrigal really is, does a brilliant job in this production.

Our hats are off to Milburn Mehlhop, who has directed this week's offering. He is a perfectionist, and the results show this trait.

If allegorical plays are your 'cup of tea', then we can recommend this play to you.

Meet The Staff

GARY BAKER, JR.

Gary Baker's first job with us was in 1969 at Browning's Hardware. He was a part time utility man who did odd jobs after school. In October of 1970 he joined the staff of Foodland and began his duties in the front end department. In February of 1971 he was shifted to the meat department where he worked for one year.

For the past year and a half Gary has been employed in the frozen food and dairy department. For your convenience he performs his duties at night. He usually arrives about 11:00 P.M. and works until 7:30 A.M. It is his responsibility to price and display frozen food and dairy products during the night. His fine efforts make it possible for you to have a large selection of products each day. Also, you do not have to be bothered by stocking carts or cluttered aisles while you shop.

For those customers who know Gary and haven't seen him lately, you'll notice quite a difference in his hair style. He claims working at night creates quite a problem making it to the barber shop.

One of the most active guys we know, Gary enjoys bowling, tinkering with his car, and motorcycling. He loves sports and is active on our company softball and basketball teams. He got so hot at basketball that we dubbed him "Jabber".

Participate!...

There is an unusual attraction about a county fair. The attraction continues from year to year, and another such event is fast approaching. The seventeenth annual Garrett County Agricultural Fair will be held at the Fairgrounds at Mellenry August 7 to 11.

Years ago there was a county fair which flourished for a number of years but finally fell by the wayside, due to the fact, we feel, that it was held too late. The frost was on the pumpkin and the nights would be cold and sometimes rainy, since it would be held during the equinox.

Then the present fair was reorganized and the dates were changed to the early part of August. There was renewed enthusiasm and it has continued through the years. Participation seems to expand.

Participation isn't limited to those having entries. It isn't limited to farmers and just those who grow items for display. It can include every person in one way or another.

Offirials have been very happy with the progress of the fair over the past sixteen years and they are looking forward to this year as another banner year. We hope they are not disappointed.

State Replies To Coal Suit On Strip Mining

Wants Any Hearing To Be Held In Anne Arundel County

To charges by two mining companies brought into the circuit court that the department of natural resources was illegally depriving them of continuing to strip mine a portion of the Savage River state forest, the department filed an answer which arrived at the Garrett County courthouse on Tuesday morning in which the department petitioned the court to declare that Harry B. Buckley, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines was improperly joined as a party-defendant in the proceedings; and asked for a change of venue in the trial, from Garrett County Circuit Court to the Anne Arundel Circuit Court.

The department made no reply to several items that the plaintiffs had requested the court to rule on.

There was a report in Tuesday morning's daily newspapers that the state had failed to reply in the coal suit, but apparently the deadline had been met.

Two firms, Buffalo Coal company and the Georges Creek Land and Coal company, are seeking rights to the coal lying within a 2,000 acre corner of Big Savage state forest.

The declaratory decree was filed in the Circuit court at Oakland by Buffalo excreiser of the rights to the coal, and Georges Creek, owner of the sub-surface rights, on June 28 against Harry B. Buckley, head of the Maryland Bureau of Mines and James B. Coulter, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources.

Under provisions of such a decree the state was required to reply to the charges of the coal firms within 15 days, the deadline of which was Monday.

Two Bodies Found Near Kingwood

A man operating a high lift along Route 26 near Albright about 9 o'clock yesterday morning found the badly decomposed bodies of two women in the wreckage of a convertible.

Identification and autopsy tests on the bodies of the two were expected to continue until this afternoon before positive identification could be made, according to West Virginia State Police.

The car had been hidden from view of passing motorists by thick underbrush. Police at Kingwood said it appeared that the car ran off the right side of the road then veered across the highway to the left, down over an embankment and became wrapped around a tree. It was necessary to winch the bodies from the car.

Authorities indicated that the two may have been Albright young women, one aged 18 and the other in her early 20's, who were reported missing to police on July 13 after they disappeared on the ninth.

This is one of a series of such meetings being held throughout its membership area.

The present economic situation could possibly force many dairy farmers in Western Maryland to liquidate their herds, it was pointed out. It was understood that some dairy farmers in the Garrett county area were seriously considering selling their herds before fall because of rising feed costs and the price freeze.

Some of the reasons expressed were economic pressures brought on by tight feed supplies, increased equipment costs, the Presidential price freeze and international trade policies.

County Roads Tractor Stolen Over Weekend

Their last week of a needed piece of roads equipment could "rob" the county budget of $10,000, according to Paul DeWitt, administrative engineer for the county Roads Department.

A tractor with a power broom and small blade, being used on a paving job on Swanton hill, disappeared from the site over the weekend. This was the first such major theft in the history of the county department.

A $50 reward is being offered by the roads department to anyone with information leading to the discovery and recovery of the machine.

From indications at the scene, it appeared that the tractor was drifted down the hill to a side road, where it was either loaded onto a carrier or possibly started and driven off. It would seem that the former assumption was correct, since to date no trace of the equipment has been found in the county.

Two county roads workers, John Evans, Jr. and Clayton Smith, are working with Cpl. Donald Tucker, criminal investigator for the State Police, in efforts to find the tractor.

Today's replacement cost of the equipment would be about $10,000, although the value of the older machine would be less.

Listen Americans

By Dr. George S. Benson
President, National Education Program, Searcy, Arkansas

The third article in the series by Mr. Benson in the failure of the TV networks, New York Times and Washington Post to follow through on the Bobby Baker-President Johnson scandal of several years ago, is published herewith this week, to accompany the double column item of this week and the editorial comment of a week ago.

Mr. Benson continues:

In the sensational 1964 Bobby Baker scandal, nationwide and worldwide ramifications were never explored by the U. S. Senate, which was deeply involved; nor the Justice Department, which pleaded "executive privilege," against making disclosures, or the White House whose Democrat Chief Executive had close personal and political friends identified as involved. One of the most startling disclosures, was that Baker, Secretary of the Democrat Senate majority, apparently had the power to pass controversial legislation—for a fee, that is.

No newspaperman in Washington at the time could possibly credit Bobby Baker with the power to pass legislation. Who then did exercise that power over the Senate and the House at the request of Baker? Lyndon Johnson was Democratic Majority Leader or vice president during most of the acts alleged in the superficial "investigation" made by the Senate Rules Committee. But when the disclosures came, although testimony opened a half dozen sensational leads to the White House, no major newsman in Washington followed up fully and reported on the leads. The whole Baker thing wound up with two or three minor persons doing short prison terms and Baker himself serving about 17 months. The big names were permitted by the press to fade out of the Baker scandal news picture.

One of the witnesses dredged up by Sen. John J. Williams, who made the first Baker case disclosures, was Myron Wemer, a lawyer who said he represented the Association of Ocean Freight Haulers. The crux of his testimony was that the Association needed a bill passed in Congress. Wemer said the Association paid him $50,000 to get it passed and he went to Bobby Baker and arranged to have it passed—for a fee. He said that on instructions from Baker he gave Baker's lawyer a check for $5,000 and that the lawyer in turn sent his personal check for $5,000 to Baker. Shortly thereafter as reported in the New York Times, the legislation was passed.

Another relatively small item in the Baker case disclosures concerned a Federal Bank charter for a bank in San Rafael, Calif. The charter was granted after a bank representative visited Baker and testimony before the Rules committee, said, left a $5,000 check with the Do-It-All Baker. Who really turned the trick?

Much of the testimony before open and secret sessions of the Democrat-dominated Senate Rules committee was given by Donald Reynolds, one of President Johnson's insurance men. When some little "heat" was generated in the Baker disclosures by Senator Williams, Reynolds began to squeal. Yet the Senate Rules Committee investigation treated him like a "hostile" witness and although chastising Bobby Baker, did not suggest any penalties. It was such an obvious "whitewash" that Senate Majority Leader Mansfield ordered the Rules Committee to hold a second investigation. It did. Its action was a whitewash too.

The New York Times, which had not given the case much attention, nevertheless said editorially: "The report of the Senate Rules committee's Democrat majority on the affairs of Robert Baker is as unsatisfactory as the investigation that preceded it . . . It is a political whitewash'" But the Times which joined in the massive "investigative journalism" in the Watergate affair made no move to follow the inviting leads in the Baker-Johnson-Jenkins-McCloskey scandal.

Garrett Co. School Board Reorganizes

William M. Goldsborough was re-elected by the Board of Education to serve as president for the 1973-74 school year it was announced following a meeting last Thursday. Mrs. Diane S. Thayer who just received reappointment from the Governor, was re-elected to the position of Vice-President. At the same meeting the Board received a copy of Dr. H. Robert Gibson's letter of resignation from the board which was sent to Governor Marvin Mandel. Mr. Goldsborough expressed appreciation to the other members for their confidence and indicated he would do everything possible to serve them wisely in the year ahead.

The comprehensive insurance package on buildings, boilers, and liability was awarded to Beall, Garner and Geare, at an annual cost of $15,502.

A recently received request from the Town of Accident to grant a sewer-water easement across the Accident Elementary School property was tentatively approved pending clarification of the equipment relocation clause and the agreement between the Town and the school system relative to establishing an appropriate tapping clause in the agreement.

The Board also approved Dr. Don L. Nofziger to give physical exams to bus drivers. Lowell L. Thomas was awarded the bus contract from Glenn Frazee serving the Friendsville area.

George McLaughlin, CPA in Oakland, was appointed for FY 1974 to complete the audit of the financial records of the Board of Edneation.

Dr. William A. Buser, county superintendent of schools, reported to the Board that due to an unusually large enrollment it may be necessary to house some of the Oak Street kindergarten pupils in the Crellin Elementary School.

CINDY EVANS

We try to offer our customers the ultimate in friendliness and service. When we employ a cashier much emphasis is placed on appearance and personality. We think you'll agree that Cindy Evans is tops.

In the two years that Cindy has worked for us, she has become very popular with our customers. Her cheery smile and friendly greeting make a shopper feel welcome. Another of her assets is her love for children. She always takes that extra minute to recognize a child.

All of us at Foodland enjoy working with Cindy because she is a sincere, kind-hearted person. It's people of her caliber who help to make the atmosphere of our store a friendly one. We feel that with the current heavy emphasis on price competition in our industry that a supermarket must stress the importance of service and friendliness. With employees like Cindy, we feel that we will always have a competitive edge.

Review Of the Play

Arsenic and Old Lace

That great American classic, "Arsenic and Old Lace," by Joseph Kesselring, is now playing at the Garrett County Playhouse, on Beckman's Peninsula, Deep Creek Lake. It will continue through Saturday night with curtain time 8:30. The opening night's audience nearly filled the Blue Barn this week, and no wonder. We find an hilarious situation revolving around the entire Brewster family.

Abby Brewster, played brilliantly by Mary Beth Bratcher, and her old maid sister, Martha, done well by Debi Karlinsky, have a secret they think only they know. It is their habit to take in lonely old men as roomers, and to do them the kindness of putting them away. But then they are not the only members of the Brewster family who are "off their rocker." Their brother, Teddy, who thinks and acts as if he is Teday Roosevelt, assists his sisters in their sinister scheme by digging the Panama Canal, the location being in the basement of their home. It is here that 12 - or is it 13 - bodies are buried. Pasquale (Pat) Fischetti, who is made up to look like the President, is one of three local persons gracing the stage this week. Other local actors include the Rev. John Grant and Steve Durst. The former is the Rev. Dr. Harper, an Episcopal rector, while Mr. Durst is one of several officers of the law involved in the plot. Some of the other officers are Helen Padilla as Officer Brophy, Officer O'Hara, played by Bruce Danyluk, and Lt. Rooney, taken by Patrick Moore.

This reviewer was quite taken with the performance of Christine James, the daughter of the clergyman, who has learned much about life in the choir loft. She wants to marry Mortimer Brewster, the play critic, but she finds he is involved in the antics of his family. True she does not know what is going on, but she pursues Mortimer just the same. Our old standby Milburn Mehlhop carries much of the play with his fine professional talent. It would be unfair to those who have not seen the play to tell you what he finds out about himself in the end. Whatever it is, and this we can tell you, it clears the way for Mortimer and Elaine to get married.

We have a surprise appearance of Mortimer's brother, Jonathan Brewster, who is the black sheep of the family. John Bratcher, who does the part of Jonathan, is not up to his previous appearances. It is felt that when the play has run several times he will begin to get into his role with more ease.

With Jonathan, is Dr. Einstein, a plastic surgeon with underworld connections. He is played by David Baca, and we can say here that David does a most acceptable job in this role.

We can say little more about this play. The audience enjoyed every minute of it, and we can honestly say that there is a surprise a minute. There were many children in the audience opening night, and they literally screamed with delight at the appearance and disappearance of the bodies. So, do take the family out to the Blue Barn. You will be glad you did for a delightful evening of hilarious entertainment. Don't forget to make reservations.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I have noticed in the past few weeks a growing concern over the admission of Communist Red China to the United States. Thank God for these people who love their country enough to voice an opinion publicly by writing letters to the editor of our newspapers and making known their feelings on radio and TV against this crime to our homeland and our society.

I hope and pray that every patriotic American will become informed enough to understand the problems that will come from Red China's admission to our country, and that they will voice enough disapproval and put sufficient pressure on our lawmakers that they will have to stop this political blunder before it is too late.

We cannot allow Red Chinese diplomats to use their immunity to protect them while they bring into our country millions of dollars worth of narcotics to destroy our citizens, especially our young ones.

We must stop this sort of thing now if we want our children to grow up in a free Republic.

If we lay back and do nothing against these communistic dope pushers, then we don't deserve this country and we certainly won't have it much longer.

Added To National Register, Historic Places

Six Western Maryland properties have been added to the National Register of Historic Places, according to the Maryland Historical Trust an agency of the Department of Economic and Community Development.

One of those is in Garrett county, near the Allegany county line. It is termed the "Meyer Site," located near Westernport. This is the site of the uppermost late prehistoric village known on the north bank of the Potomac. Its small size and good preservation make it suitable for extensive study and construction of the Indian culture that once lived there. Artifacts recovered include arrow points, knives and pottery.

The other five listed areas are Point of Rocks railroad station in Frederick county; Rose Hill in Washington county, Public Safety building in Allegany county, Western Mary and railway station in Allegany county and Lonaconing Furnace in Allegany county.

Bayard Man Is Injured In Monday Night Accident

A Bayard man was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a one-car accident a short time before midnight Monday near Gorman. He suffered superficial lacerations.

Dallas F. Shepard, 35, Bayard, W. Va., was traveling east on U. S. Route 50 about one and a half miles west of Gorman, Monday about 10:30 p. m. Shepard lost control of the car, ran onto the right shoulder, came back onto and across the road and struck two fence posts on the left side.

Shepard was ejected from the car and found sometime later in the woods near-by. The car was called a total loss.

Playhouse Closeup

Bruce Danyluk (shown above) is currently appearing at The Garrett County Playhouse in "Arsenic and Old Lace" as Officer O'Hara, a policeman with delusions of playwriting, and also (after a quick change) as Mr. Witherspoon, the superintendent of Happy Dale Sanitarium. With this kind of experience Bruce is arming himself for a career in theatre.

Bruce, born in Lake Forest, Illinois, will be a junior at the University of New Mexico in the fall. His primary aspiration is to musical theatre and he looks back with a sense of accomplishment to his solo performance in Leonard Bernstein's celebrated "Mass" which was produced in Albuquerque in the spring of this year.

During his first season at the Garrett County Playhouse Bruce has appeared as Simon Bliss in Coward's "Hayfever" and in the next production, "Dracula," he and other members of the company will likely play multiple roles.

Division Of Labor Affected By Bills Of 1973 Assembly

Bills enacted by the 1973 General Assembly and signed by Governor Marvin Mandel, have amended a number of laws under the jurisdiction and administration of the Division of Labor and Industry, a Division of the Department of Licensing and Regulation, Commissioner Harvey A. Epstein, announced.

The new laws, most of which became effective July 1, affect all citizens of the State.

Laws include the Employment of Minors Wage and Hour, High Voltage Act, Boiler Safety Law, Occupational Safety and Health Act and the Contracts for Public Works (prevailing wage).

Most far reaching is the Occupational Safety and Health Act which was completely rewritten. It seeks to protect every worker in the State from occupational and health hazards.

The new Occupational Safety and Health Act covers every business or profession employing one or more persons within the State.

Employment of Minors

The law pertaining to the employment of minors was amended to:

1. Permit a bona fide Maryland Driver's License to be used as proof of age upon application for a work permit.

2. Exempt minor personnel of Volunteer Fire Departments (under certain conditions) from the provisions of the law, and

3. Eliminate references to sex in that section of the law allowing minors to do certain kinds of work in or about coal mines.

Wage and Hour Law

The amendment to the Wage and Hour Law now increases domestic workers under the purview of the minimum wage and overtime provisions of the law.

Fee Charging Employment Agency Law

1. The Employment Agency Law was changed modifying the definition of employment agency to include persons engaged in the business of furnishing information (resume services) for a fee to persons seeking employment and to include visa services within the definition of employment agency.

2. This law further requires that effective January 1, 1974, persons acting in the capacity of employment counselors, those who interview, counsels, or confers with job applicants, must secure a license which would be obtained from the Commissioner of Labor and Industry, upon payment of a Five Dollar fee.

Contracts for Public Works

This Act was amended as follows: no person classified as a helper or trainee shall be employed on public works, only apprentices in a trade, craft or occupation for which an Apprenticeship Program has been approved will be permitted to work, each apprentice shall be paid not less than the percentage as set forth in such approved Apprenticeship Program of the journeyman mechanics prevailing hourly rate."

Boiler Safety Act

The Boiler Safety Act was amended to provide for regulation of pressure vessels, generally relating to boiler and pressure vessel safety, and to establish a new series of fees for inspections. The new Boiler Safety Act becomes effective on January 1, 1971.

High-Voltage Line Act

Changes in the High-Voltage Line Act call for the enlarging of the requirements of warning signs which must be placed on certain equipment operated within a certain distance of high voltage lines.

Copies of all may be obtained from the Division of Labor and Industry, 203 East Baltimore Street, Baltimore.

Sliger Reunion Set

The Annual Sliger reunion will be held on Sunday, July 22, at the ball field in Friendsville, it was announced by Delmer Sliger, secretary and treasurer.

State Replies To Coal Suit On Strip Mining

controversy of mining on state owned land began June 16 when Attorney General Francis B. Burch ruled that strip mining by Buffalo in the forest must end on July 1, as ordered in legislation passed last year by the General Assembly.

Before shutting down mining operations on July 1, Buffalo joined Georges Creek in the decree, stating that the shutdown was illegal since a 1966 Garrett County Circuit Court decision gave the companies the right to mine the coal. That decision was upheld in Maryland Appeals court with the U. S. Supreme Court refusing to review the decision on appeal from the DNR.

In their suit the coal companies claim that any such shutdown must be accompanied by just compensation and, generally, that mining should be permitted to continue during the legal workout.

Buffalo would like to retrieve 32,000 tons of coal already exposed, using the augering method. However, in his opinion, Burch ruled that all mining activity must cease.

The plaintiff had requested in its petition for a decree to have the court declare that chapter 355 of the laws of 1972 does not authorize action of director as set forth in his letter of June 9, that the director shall allow Buffalo to continue its strip mining operations under permit No. 161; that Buffalo has the right to have the permit amended so as to grant it the right to strip mine additional areas of Savage river forest that are covered under its lease, that the director shall issue additional strip mining permits concerning properly in the state forest, subject to provisions of article 66C of Maryland code, and that chapter 355 of the laws of 1972 is unconstitutional to the extent it authorizes the director to prohibit strip mining on the lands involved in the case before payment by state of Maryland of just compensation to the plaintiffs.

In reply the Department of Natural Resources is asking the court to declare that Harry B. Buckley is improperly joined as a party-defendant in the proceedings and that his name be removed from the proceedings; to declare that the proper venue for the proceedings is Anne Arundel county and that the case be transferred there for the convenience of the defendant and his witnesses rather than convenience of Buffalo company, a West Virginia corporation. The reply is signed by Francis B. Burch, attorney general; Henry R. Lord, deputy attorney general; and Warren R. Rich, special assistant attorney general, department of Natural Resources.

The case will now probably be heard in the Circuit court in Oakland to determine whether or not Buckley's name could be deleted and whether or not the case would be removed to Anne Arundel county or remain in this county for appropriate action.

One-Car Accident Causes Injury To Three on Weekend

One-car accidents over the weekend resulted in injury to three persons, in the northern part of the county. An accident in Oakland injured another. Six of ten accidents noted were one-car wrecks. One car was called a total loss. Apparently none of the injured were hospitalized.

William J. Atkinson, 21, Keyser, W. Va., was injured and his car was called a total loss in an accident at Glendale road and State Route 495 about 4:30 last Friday morning.

Atkinson was traveling east on Glendale road and became confused as he approached the intersection with Route 495. The vehicle failed to stop at the 'stop' sign, proceeded across Rt. 495 and struck several trees. Tfc. Robert E. Friend charged Atkinson with failing to stop at a 'stop' sign.

Letha Mae Hetz, 21, Cumberland, was injured in another one-car mishap on the Avilton-Lonaconing road near the McKenzie road early Saturday afternoon. She was traveling south, passed a vehicle northbound, lost control of her vehicle which went through a fence, into a yard, struck several trees and came to rest in the yard. Tfc. Carl D. Skidmore charged her with reckless or negligent driving.

George R. Durst, 18, Grantsville refused treatment following still another one-car mishap, on New Germany road three miles south of Twin Church road very early Saturday morning. He was traveling north, coming out of a left turn when he lost control of his vehicle. The vehicle then went off the right side of the road and down an embankment. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged him with operating at excessive speed.

Mrs. Marie T. Flinn, 75, of Moorefield W. Va., was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following an accident at noon last Saturday. She was a passenger in the car operated by her son, Bobby G. Flinn, 11th Street, Oakland. Flinn was stopped headed south on 10th Street. W. Bert Wagner, New Florence, Pa., traveling east on Dennett Road attempted to make a turn into 10tth street and struck the left front fender and grill of the Flinn car. Trooper Dale K. Williams charged Wagner with making an improper left turn.

Six other accidents involved no apparent injuries.

Marven E. Friend, Mellenry was traveling west on Sang Run road about 1.4 miles west of Bishoff road about 3:30 a. m. July 10. He was forced off the road, onto the right shoulder and lost control of the car. The vehicle then came back onto and across the road, ran off the left side and hit a fence. Tfc. Robert E. Friend investigated the wreck.

David E. Zimmerman, RD 2, Oakland, was traveling north on U. S. Route 219 about a mile north of Glendale road the evening of July 9. He had started to pass another vehicle and swerved to avoid a collision. He lost control of the car which ran across the road, struck some guard rails. Tfc. Ronald C. Lewis charged him with improper passing.

Dale C. Bellman, Pittsford, Mich., was driving south on Lower New Germany road, 3.4 miles south of U. S. Route 40 the evening of July 7. Larry A. Warnick, Grantsville, traveling north failed to keep to the right side of the road and collided with the rear of the Bellman car. Tfc. D. E. Tharp charged Warnick with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Beverly J. Renner, Grantsville, was making a left turn from a private drive onto State Route 495 late Saturday afternoon. As she started into Rt. 495 she noted the car driven by Clair Elmer Wilt also of Grantsville, in sight. Wilt attempted to stop, skidded sideways and struck the Renner car with the left rear fender. Trooper Ronald C. Georg charged Beverly J. Renner with failing to grant the right-of-way.

Stefen D. Tasker, Kitzmiller, was pulling onto State Route 38, the Kitzmiller road, from a service station in order to go east on the Vindex road. Martin V. Evans, Kitzmiller traveling south on Route 38 was struck by the Tasker car. Evans had gone off the shoulder to try to avoid hitting the Tasker car. Trooper Dale K. Williams charged Tasker with operating a vehicle without tags and operating without proper license.

In a Tuesday midnight accident, John C. Denison, Jr., 57, Beaver, Pa., was injured in a hit-and-run accident on Lake Shore Drive about two miles south of U. S. Route 219. He refused treatment at the scene.

Denison was headed south on Lake Shore Drive when he went off the side of the road and hit the parked car of Everett M. McClintock. Accident Denison continued south on Lake Shore Drive. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Denison on two counts, not notifying the owner of the car that he had hit his car immediately following the accident and negligent driving.

Planning Group Recommends Limit On Lake Building

A meeting of the Garrett County Planning commission was held Tuesday evening in the McLaughlin building, in an effort to complete work on the first draft of the county plan and to clear up misunderstanding of some owners of Deep Creek Lake property in regard to cluster development.

Members of the commission include Charles C. Bender, chairman, Grantsville; George E. Brady, Jr., Kitzmiller; Wayne Hamilton, Oakland; Merle Garletts, Friendsville; Robert O. Glotfelty, Accident; Thurl W. Tower, and Col. J. H. Jackson, Oakland. Several Lake property owners attended the meeting.

There were some questions on cluster development and a resolution was passed by the commission clarifying the plan. The motion, offered by Col. Jackson, was passed unanimously by the members and stated:

"Because of clear environmental advantages and because of economical advantages to county taxpayers, the Planning Commission recommends that in the Lake residential land-use category land development be permitted using various site planning techniques including conventional lay-out and other modern development techniques, provided that all development must be at an average density of one dwelling unit per acre."

Marshall Rickert, county planning director, pointed out there were three lake developments at present on a total land mass of 21 acres.

Weekend Storms Bring Welcome Rains To Mt. Top

Weekend rain storms were welcome visitors to the Mt. Top as the ground was getting rather dry. Over half an inch fell during Saturday night and Sunday.

After the drier air of last Thursday and Friday, warm, humid air has returned to the Mountain Top. Skies have been cloudy to partly cloudy all week except Sunday when skies were overcast. Rainfall so far this month is far below the normal .78 inches against the normal of 1.64 inches to the middle of the month. This is quite a contrast to the soggy Winter and Spring months. There has been much morning fog.

Afternoon high temperatures have been in the high 70s and low 80s with the highest being 85 last Friday. Morning lows have been just about the normal of 55.5 degrees. It was in the 60s Saturday through Monday mornings.

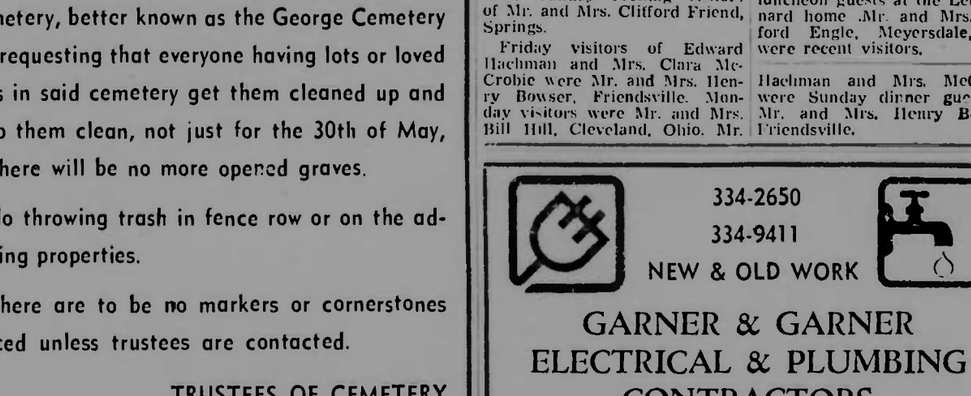
The Dome
The Shape of Things to Come . . .



The Geodesic Dome is the most efficient system of structuring yet developed for use in countless phases of home, or business life.

Still Necessary To Register For Selective Service

Young men must still register with Selective Service at the time of their 18th birthday even though there is no draft, Mr. Maurice Brookhart, Chairman of Selective Service Local Board No. 47, announced today.

He urged those men who have not registered to do so promptly. "Failure to register is a violation of the law," Mr. Brookhart emphasized. "and could result in prosecution by the Department of Justice."

The President's authority to induct men into the service expired on July 1. The administration does not plan to seek an extention of this authority, and the Defense Department is relying on volunteer enlistments to supply military manpower.

Only induction authority over those not previously deferred expired on July 1, Mr. Brookhart said. All other provisions of the Military Selective Service Act remain in force. The annual lottery will be held. Young men must continue to register and their local boards will classify them as to their availability for possible military service should Congress authorize the resumption of inductions in the event of a national emergency.

Mr. Brookhart said the law requires that all male persons, except certain nonimmigrant aliens, in the United States must register with Selective Service aliens, in the United States must within the 60 day period commencing 30 days prior to their 18th birthday. He stressed that young men actually have three legal obligations: (1) they must register at age 18, (2) they must notify their local Selective Service boards when they change addresses, and (3) they must carry their draft cards with them until their liability expires, which for most men today is at age 26.

Selective Service is undergoing a major reorganization at this time, Mr. Brookhart explained, as the System reverts to a standby operation with no inductions taking place. Many local boards are being relocated or consolidated at a fewer number of administrative sites aeross the state. To eliminate the need for young men to travel to these administrative sites, Mr. Brookhart said Registrars and Advisors to Registrants have been appointed in most communities. With no inductions now planned, few problems should arise for the registrants which would require them to visit the administrative sites, Mr. Brookhart reported.

New Handling System Planned At Luke Mill

Plans for the installation and operation of a new wood chip and sawdust handling system were announced by Arthur L. Noble, manager of Westvaco's Luke mill. The new handling system will more than double the capacity of the present waste wood handling system and increase the Luke mill's ability to receive ships and sawdust up to 1,000 cords per day. This augments the large round wood capacity.

The new chip and sawdust handling system will include a rail car unloading hopper, a truck unloading hopper, a car puller, a rail car shaker, bucket elevator and necessary conveyors, chutes, motors, controls, structures, etc. The facility will be located in the Luke mill's Beryl woodyard in Mineral County, just across the river from the main operation of the Westvaco plant.

The construction project will take about six months with start-up expected late in 1973. Engineering has been completed and contractors are in the process of bidding on the new facility.

Westvaco's Luke mill, largest single fine papers mill in the Nation, presently uses about 1,500 cords of wood a day. Most of this is roundwood.

Ceiling Limit On Subsidies Is Cited

Rep. Goodloe Byron last week cited the House decision to lower the farm subsidy ceiling from $55,000 to $20,000, calling it a "victory for the family farmer of Central and Western Maryland."

"The present ceiling of $55,000 is not aiding the small and medium-sized farmers for whom the program was originally designed," Byron said.

"Large subsidies have the effect of accelerating the growth of large farm units, to the detriment of the family farmer.

"Projected savings from the current ceiling have apparently not materialized and therefore the large payments are also unfair to the taxpayers of our Nation.

"The $20,000 limitation the House has passed represents a 63 percent reduction from the current subsidy level and will provide a more reasonable basis for continuing the program," Byron concluded.

SPEEDERS BEWARE—This is it — VASCAR, a new speed timing device that is being readied for local use in the near future. State troopers can determine the average speed of almost any vehicle they can see with this unit to within 1/10 of a mile per hour. (State Police Photo by Bill Clark.)

State Police Plan Speed Timing Unit

A new "secret device" is being readied by the Maryland State Police for use in Garrett County. It is a speed timing unit called VASCAR which will be used by specially trained and certified Troopers to crackdown on flagrant speeders who endanger law-abiding motorists.

According to Corporal S. M. Russell Commander of the Oakland Detachment, 23.6 percent of the reported 563 accidents in the county last year were attributed to excessive speed. Many additional accident investigations cited this same factor as a secondary cause.

The Visual Average Speed Computer and Recorder (VASCAR) is an electronic speed calculating device that enables Troopers to clock speeding vehicles as they approach the patrol car from the front or rear, while being followed by the patrol car, crossing an intersection or traveling a previously measured distance.

The device, mounted under the dashboard of the car, requires no visible external equipment. It can be used while the patrol car is stopped or in motion.

VASCAR operates on the principle that distance divided by time equals average speed. The device stores the distance and time factors in a miniature computer then provides a digital display of average speed to the nearest tenth of a mile per hour.

No date has been set for Troopers to start issuing summonses based on VASCAR in the county but the new device is expected to be in action State-wide before the end of August.

VASCAR was first deployed by the State Police on January 1, 1973 in Harford County, Baltimore County, Anne Arundel County, Howard County, Prince George's County and Montgomery County.

State Police Superintendent Thomas S. Smith feels that VASCAR will not prevent all speeding but "it will increase the probability of being stopped by a Trooper."

Browning's Foodland Gets Top Sanitation Award

Cheston Browning III, right, store manager, accepted the award from Foodland's vice-president Chuck Barcelona.

Special recognition was given to Browning's for having the only store in the entire organization to pass inspection in every department for over two years. Each month all 120 Foodland stores are checked by all departments for sanitation and cleanliness.

Violation Of Probation Cases Heard In Court

Charges of worthless checks, larceny and violation of probation were among cases heard in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones last Wednesday and Monday.

Grover Ronald Rawlings, Third Street, Oakland, was placed on additional probation. Rawlings had been charged with selling prescription drugs in Oakland last July 24. At a trial October 10 he was placed on probation for one year. June 29 he was charged with disorderly intoxication. At a trial last Wednesday the charge was dismissed and changed to violation of probation.

At the trial he was committed to the custody of the Department of Parole and Probation for another year, in addition to the former probation. Conditions of probation are: he is to follow instructions of James Stanton of the Garrett County Alcoholic Service; agree to be admitted to Springfield State Hospital on a voluntary basis for 30 days; after the release from Springfield, he is to accept follow-up services of the Garrett County Alcoholic Services by complying with their directions and suggestions.

Gregory J. Gay, Mt. Lake Park, was charged with forgery, worthless checks and larceny. The charge of forgery of a check for $25 using the name of Edwin Friend was dismissed as he pleaded guilty on two related charges. He pleaded guilty of passing a worthless check for $25 at Martin's Store June 31 and he also pleaded guilty of the larceny of a check of Edwin Friend with a 10-cent value. A pre-sentence investigation has been ordered on the latter two counts.

Roger Keiper, Bradley Manor, Oakland, was charged on three counts: attempting to steal by breaking open a coin box; destruction of property, a vending machine at Southern Car Wash, with a value of $10 and breaking and entering. The first and last charges were dismissed. On the destruction of property charge, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail, $50 fine and $10 costs. The jail sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation to the Court for six months and to make restitution.

Golden Kirk, Turner Douglas, W. Va., had been charged with disorderly intoxication but the case was dismissed due to insufficient evidence.

Don Sirbaugh, Mt. Lake Park, pleaded guilty of passing a worthless check in the amount of $10 May 28. At the trial last Wednesday, a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Two other cases were dismissed as restitution had been made. David G. Albert, Liberty Street, Oakland a worthless check and James Whitacre, destruction of property.

He'll make a difference.

From the newly restyled Fury to the mid-size Satellite, to the small-enough-but-big-enough Duster.
From the luxurious Imperial to the easy-to-own Newport. Whatever kind of car you're looking for, he can come through for you.
But more than that, he's coming through by offering cars backed by Chrysler-Plymouth's commitment for the '70's. They're dedicated to building their cars to run better and last longer than ever before.
For example, every Chrysler-Plymouth car has a solid Unibody for strength and rigidity. And it's protected with layers of rust preventatives and a hard acrylic enamel paint. And every Chrysler and Plymouth has a virtually maintenance-free Electronic Ignition System.
They're doing a lot of things like this to make their cars last longer, because they believe that's the kind of car you want. And so does your new Chrysler-Plymouth dealer.
That's why he's proud to back these cars with the service facilities and technicians that'll make you a satisfied customer.
That's why he's going all out to be the kind of dealer that'll make a difference. Stop by and see him soon.

THE UNEXPECTED

What if you looked out your window and saw an elephant standing in your back yard? Would you think you'd been transported to Africa—or that the zoo had lost a boarder?

Situations just as bizarre and unexpected can happen anywhere, anytime, to anyone. When they happen to you, are you able to cope with them?

Merely attending church isn't going to solve all your problems. But it will help build a base that teaches you how to take the unexpected in stride. And life, when you get down to it, is in itself unexpected.

Start going to church next Sunday.

WHO'S A THIEF?

Lesson for July 22, 1973

Background Scripture: Exodus 20:15; 1 Kings 21:1-19, Amos 8:4-6, Mark 12:41-44; Luke 19:1-10; Ephesians 4:28; James 2:14-17.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 24.

There's an old saying that "to catch a thief, one must set a thief." Perhaps. But to catch a thief one must also be able to identify a thief.

Easy, you say. A thief is someone who steals my car, picks my pocket, breaks into my house, or holds-up the corner gas station. Who can't identify a thief, a burglar, or bandit?

Rev. Althouse

We can carry it a step further and apply the word "thief" to the salesman who comes to my door and takes my order for merchandise he has no intention of delivering, to the racketeer who gets a "kick-back" on the sale of goods to the city government, or to the "Wheeler-dealer" who cheats the government blind with clever contracts and inside "pull."

Subtle thief

So far, so good: we can all identify the thieves; they obviously violate the eighth commandment: "You shall not steal." But don't close the door on your rouges gallery too soon. Perhaps there are some others who qualify for that dubious distinction.

What about the merchant who sells defective or inferior products as "quality merchandise?" What of the salesman or manufacturer who knowingly misadvertises his product? What about the used-car dealer who turns back the speedometers of his cars or the corporation executive who conspires with other firms to fix prices?

If you are a consumer, your answer is likely a resounding "YES!" But let's not stop there, for there are more thieves loose in your community! Perhaps where you work? "No, no thieves there," you say. Ah, but you must look more closely for thieves may be very subtle. A subtle thief is still a thief — perhaps more!

For example, there's the thief who pilfers petty amounts of his employers' products, tools, or supplies. There's the thief who cheats on his lunch time, his coffee breaks, and clean-up time at the end of the day. There's also the thief who makes a real art out of making six hours work appear to be eight hours worth.

Call it "business"?

What of the man who pads his expense account or inflates his deductions on his income tax? What of the people who are constantly taking short cuts to profits, knowing full well that they are cheating the consumer? Aren't these people thieves too?

The prophet Amos knew there was more to the eighth commandment than simply refraining from stealing. He knew that there were other forms of thievery more subtle but no less sinful. He condemned merchants who made additional profits with rigged scales, deceptive merchandise, and inflated prices.

His enemies said that Amos didn't "understand business," but Amos understood, and it was because he understood these practices as violations of God's will that he condemned them.

Think again: "Who's a thief?" Maybe You?

ALLERGENS ARE AN AIRBORNE MENACE

For many people with allergies, just the thought of the outdoors can bring on a feeling of dread. Airborne pollen can mean hours of suffering. To reduce exposure to allergens here are a few helpful hints.

Humid weather and evenings are usually a more comfortable time as a great many plants discharge their pollen in the morning and on dry days. Avoid wash that is hung outside as damp material will trap pollens. Outside pets will often carry pollen in their coats. If, in spite of all precautions, an allergic reaction occurs, remember that there are numerous medicines available that can offer relief.

Fashion Classes Come Back

Readin', writin' and 'rithmetic will be taught to the student dressed to the tune of a classic back-to-school fashions. Traditional shapes, colors and patterns dominate fall fashions for girls and guys. This time around they make the grade in man-made knits and weaves that are machine washable and rate an A plus for easy care.

Cheers for trousers, still the captain of the squad in female wardrobes. Pants are full-legged and cuffed with some high waists and cinched waists.

Returning this year is the skirt—pleated, short and kicky. Plaids are the rule, and many traditional tartans are in bright acrylics and polyesters. Most of the fall fabrics require no more care than a trip through the washer or a permanent press or knit cycle, then machine drying. A quick pressing to restore crisp pleats is hardly necessary. For a passing grade, check care labels permanently attached to the garments.

Pants and skirts team up with a first string of coordinated tops. Jackets and vests are characterized by cinched waists or a short, cropped length. They are forest green, rust, ruby, plum and navy, in plaids or solids this year. Joining the color roster for the fall are the paintbox brights—clear reds, yellow, royal blue and green. Heathers are always popular, too coordinating handsomely with classic plaids.

The shirt appears under everything. Revived in plaid, it is the perfect chum for jackets, vests or the old, but new, varsity sweaters. All lengths of sweaters are seen, with many neckline and sleeve variations as well. These classics now return in washable acrylic and acrylic/wool blends with the look and feel of 100 percent wool, but with care requirements as simple as ABC.

Dresses show up after summer vacation as updated classics in shirtwaists, jumpers and sweater dresses. Little jackets and sweaters are thrown over the shoulders for a casual, All-American look. The dresses and jumpers all have tight waists, and sleeves are popular in every imaginable style.

Male fashions are similar in many ways. Coordinated classics are mixed and matched, and the layered look is seen as never before. Plaids are important to young men, too, whether in pants, shirts, sweaters, jackets, sports coats or vests.

Young men are more neatly attired this year than they were last fall. Starting with pants, they are wearing them cuffed and flared in both jean and dress styles. The U or V necked sweater over a shirt completes the image, unless that sweater is a shawl-collared cardigan or a clinging turtleneck.

Jackets are often coordinated with pants such as with the familiar denim combo. Baseball jackets and the cropped battle jacket win honors in this class.

When it's time to "suit up," the story is in three pieces. Traditional vests, along with bouncy bow ties, have returned as the mark of a well-dressed schoolmate.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me.

Is there any Federal financial assistance available for cities to develop small parks and playground areas?

There are two HUD programs designed to assist State and local governments in acquiring land for urban parks or creating parks from land they already possess. Through the Open Space Land program, HUD grants can help communities acquire, preserve and develop open space land for permanent public benefit and use. Grants to assist in developing land already in public ownership are available through the Urban Beautification and Improvement program. Detailed information on either program may be obtained by contacting the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Where can I order a reprint of the government list pertaining to home energy conservation?

The booklet entitled, "Eleven Ways to Reduce Energy Consumption and Increase Comfort in Household Cooling," may be ordered from Consumer Product Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

What is Congress doing about the problem of solid waste disposal?

Under the Resource Recovery Act of 1970, Federal activity was directed into several areas. These include construction of resource recovery systems; technical and financial assistance in planning and developing waste disposal programs; research and development programs to test methods of collection, recovery and recycling' guidelines for collection, transportation and disposal of solid waste; and occupational training grants. The Act, however, does recognize that primary responsibility for the management of solid waste materials resides with State and local officials.

How many people are receiving social security benefits in the United States?

At the end of 1972, 28 and one half million people were receiving monthly cash benefits. The county breakdown for Central and Western Maryland includes Allegany County with 13,700 recipients; Baltimore County-66,600; Carroll-8,900; Frederick-9,600; Garrett-3,300; Howard-4,400; Montgomery-40,000; and Washington County-13,400.

Could you please print the summer schedule of free Band Concerts at the Capitol?

During July and August free band concerts are played at the East Front of the Capitol commencing at 8:00 p. m. The United States Navy Band is featured on Monday evening; the Air Force Band on Tuesdays; the Marine Band on Wednesdays; and the Army Band on Fridays. There is no concert on Thursday, Saturday or Sunday. For further information, please feel free to contact my office in Washington.

Try Our Want Ads—They Pay

Keep America beautiful, but keep America alive!

Some of America's most beautiful resort areas lie along the Atlantic Coast. And no one wants to mar their beauty. It's much too valuable a natural resource.

But, there's another tremendously valuable natural resource over the horizon along the Atlantic Coast. Energy. Energy that is desperately needed to help ease our nation's worsening energy crisis.

We must not sacrifice one resource for the other.

And we needn't. Modern techniques for under-water drilling and delivery of fuel have eliminated the danger of permanent environmental damage. An offshore drilling rig won't even be seen from the shore. And offshore production will reduce the need for increased tanker traffic.

Developing domestic sources of energy is essential to the security of our nation. If our own sources of energy lie idle, America becomes dependent on expensive and insecure foreign sources, and sends more of our dollars overseas.

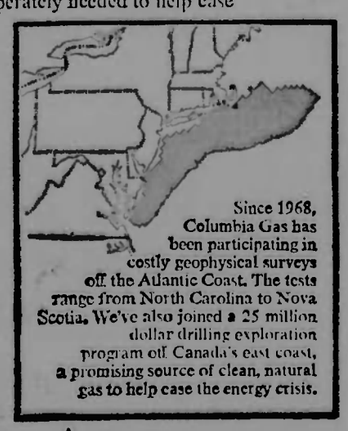
And a prosperous America depends on energy.



Since 1968, Columbia Gas has been participating in costly geophysical surveys off the Atlantic Coast. The tests range from North Carolina to Nova Scotia. We've also joined a 25 million dollar drilling exploration program off Canada's east coast, a promising source of clean, natural gas to help ease the energy crisis.

COLUMBIAGAS
Gas is precious, pure energy . . . use it wisely.

Federal Grants to Maryland

Every Marylander is aware of the taxes we all pay to the federal government, and most people are at least generally familiar with the ways the federal government spends our money. As a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, I have a particular interest in how much money the government spends and how it is spent.

One of the means the federal government uses is grants of federal funds for particular programs or projects. Maryland receives these grants, along with other states. Some of the funds come automatically, in accordance with well-established programs and allocation procedures. Other grant programs require that applications be submitted by the local government agencies in the State that will actually use the money. I often am able to assist in the applications process so that the federal agencies that disburse funds are fully aware of the needs of the local agencies that will spend them, and so that some of the red tape involved in the process can be cut.

The grants touch virtually every aspect of local life and government in Maryland. Here is a sampling of some recent grants to our State:

The Baltimore City Health Department received a grant of $20,403 from the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism for a training program for alcoholism counselors.

The Montgomery County Housing Authority received $30,900 for improvements in its low-rent public housing projects, including extensive rehabilitation of buildings and grounds. This money came from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Similarly, the Wicomico County Housing Authority received $125,000 to modernize low-rent dwelling units in that county—and the City of Annapolis received $875,000 for the same purpose.

The Regional Planning Council, which includes Baltimore City and Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Carroll, Harford and Howard Counties, received $70,000 in HUD funds for comprehensive planning assistance.

The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission received $8,400 to help develop a 1.6 acre picnic and playground area in a neighborhood of Prince George's County not previously served by open space.

This is just a miniscule sampling of the great number of grants of federal funds to Maryland. But it is an indication of the variety of programs in the State that operate with the assistance of federal financing—which begins, of course, with the taxes that we pay. It is good to know that we are getting something in Maryland for the money we send to Washington.

Local Commissioners Host Five Western Counties

Garrett County commissioners hosted a meeting at the Village Inn, McHenry, on Wednesday, for the Five Western Counties association. Meetings are held quarterly throughout the year, hosted in rotation by member counties.

The meeting stressed land use studies and soil studies pertaining to water and sewage requirements.

Stemple Appointed

At a meeting this week the County Commissioners appointed Robert W. Stemple as a public representative for a two year term to the Merit System Board. Robert Diehl was reappointed to a three-year term.

The Commissioners recommended an election of a county employe to represent the county employes for a one-year term. The appointments are made in compliance with House Bill 1566.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

By Rev. Donald R. Thomas

In his first book, The Peter Principle, Dr. Laurence J. Peter sets out to explain the inefficiency of many institutions within our society. His conclusion is summed up in the famous Peter Principle—that is, in every hierarchy every employee tends to rise to his level of incompetence and when he has reached that level he begins to suffer from the Final Placement Syndrome. The dynamics behind this type situation is found in the modern version of the Competitive society.

A great part of our life is orientated around the striving each of us does to gain more power or prestige as well as that new house, or car, boat, snowmobile. We continue to seek the many things supposedly worth seeking from our highly industrialized society until we have joined what is commonly called the "Rat Race."

Dr. Peter and many others have also written books on how to escape this type of behavior and how to at the same time find some real meaning and joy in life. The best answer to the way to escape the rat race and find joy and meaning is still given in the message of Jesus Christ.

In approaching this question, Jesus begins by questioning the whole hierarchial approach to life. He asks, "Who is greater, the man who sits at the table and commands obedience, or the one who waits upon him?" The disciples answer that it is he who sits at the table. Jesus then says "I am among you as one who serves, who gives his life for others. I am the measure of true life and joy. . . . Love one another as I have loved you."

Jesus calls men to New life, not the old life of the Rat Race, but a new abundant life of service and love. Vitality and joy, are not found in self-centered striving but in self-expending love. "If a man asks for your shirt, give him your coat," were the words of Jesus.

Being dynamically alive does not consist in heaping up treasures for yourself or in building up your own reputation. Real life consists in expending yourself, spilling yourself out for others. The man who expends himself for others is participating in God's own life, what the New Testament calls Eternal Life.

We are unhappy and anxious because we want so much; material things, status, to be popular, to have our children go to the right schools, to make good marriages, to know the right people, etc. Jesus on the other hand wanted only one thing, to do the will of the Father. To do His will - in Jesus time or ours - is the greatest act of all encompassing love possible. For it will include helping our brothers at home and throughout the world; the sick, the needy, the disadvantaged. And also helping our society with justice, and love.

He who seeks only his own life will in the end lose that life but he who seeks to give his life to others will find life and find it more abundantly.

Lake Residents Get Zoning Data

A public meeting of the Garrett County Planning Commission was held last Saturday at McHenry to dispense information and to receive additional information from residents of the Deep Creek Lake area which might aid in the zoning plan for this section of the county.

The session was held by the county unit under provisions of Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland which requires a comprehensive zoning plan by December 31.

According to County Commissioner Wayne Hamilton no plan has as yet been adopted since planning is still in the development stage although a draft of the county plan as envisaged now and subject to change has been printed in booklet form and is available for public scrutiny.

Commissioner Hamilton said general distribution of the plan has not been made due to the high cost of the publication.

From ideas obtained at the informational meetings a plan will be developed at a hearing of record, probably in August for submission to the state.

Hamilton was the only member of the Commissioners to attend, but Marshall Rickert, county planning director, attended. There are seven members of the commission.

F. Perry Smith Jr., property owner of Pergin farm, on Deep Creek Lake, read a statement at the session which he had prepared and in which he voiced opposition to any proposal for high density residential development of any type in the immediate lake area.

Smith was critical of the Planning Commission office for the alleged failure to keep people informed in writing and with maps concerning the commission's decisions, citing 2 examples, the town house approval and the current planning and zoning efforts.

Mr. Hamilton indicated residents of Deep Creek are desirous of obtaining zoning on the lake as soon as possible since only an interim zoning plan is in existence and this plan expires in February.

Smith also voiced opposition in his statement to the manner in which the meeting was published, saying that insufficient notice was given of the meeting, particularly for those landowners from distant points, such as Pittsburgh.

Mr. Hamilton emphasized that the preliminary draft of the entire county plan has been made available in the commission office for anyone to see.

Some opposition was evident to a concept that two population areas comprised of from five to six thousand persons each be established near the Alpine Village and at Melfenry.

Although meetings being held by the Planning Commission apparently are subject to the opposition of some property owners regarding high density residential developments in the immediate lake area, Hamilton emphasized the meetings are being held to obtain comments and ideas from residents before a formal hearing of record is held.

Today is the day of remembrance,
And the day of sad regrets.
A day we will always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
Somewhere above this troubled world.
Safe beyond all grief and care.
Our loved one rests in heavenly peace.
God grant some day we'll meet him there.

Bid Items A and D will be awarded in a single contract and Bidders who express an interest in the pipework portion of the project must submit bids for both bid items. Bid items B, C, E, and F may be bid singly or in any combination of bid items. The Town of Friendsville, however, reserves the right to award bid items A plus D; or B, C, E, and F as individual contracts or in any possible combination of contracts that it deems to be in its best interests or to delete all work under bid items D, E, and F, or to reject all bids and readvertise.

The "Time For Work To Be Completed" will not be considered cumulative when multiple bid items are awarded to the same Bidder but shall remain binding as designated for the respective bid item. The Contractor is therefore expected to employ the necessary crews and equipment required to meet the "Time For Work To Be Completed" assigned to any bid item.

Bidders must examine the contract drawings and specifications carefully and must make a personal examination of the location and nature of the proposed work. In case doubt shall arise as to the meaning or intent of anything of the contract drawings or comprised in the specifications, inquiry shall be made of the Owner in writing before the proposal is submitted. The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

To better insure fair competition and to permit a determination of the lowest bidder, unresponsive bids or bids obviously unbalanced, may be rejected by the Owner.

Information for bidders, proposal forms, specimen contract, contract drawings, standard and contract specifications, and other pertinent contract documents may be obtained at the office of the Engineer, Rummel, Klepper and Kahl, 1035 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202, between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M. daily except Saturday, Sunday, and Holidays. Contract documents are available upon the deposit of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per set, which is non-refundable. Checks shall be made payable to the "Mayor and Council of Friendsville."

NONDISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT

All work on this project shall be performed in accordance with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act and Copeland Anti-Kickback Act.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bidder's bond in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the amount of the proposal, but in no case less than $1000.00, made payable to the "Mayor and Council of Friendsville" and unless so accompanied will not be considered. The check or bidder's bond of the bidder to whom a contract is awarded will be forfeited to the "Mayor and Council of Friendsville" as liquidated damages in the event the contract and performance bond are not executed within ten (10) days after receiving the contract for execution.

All proposals must be submitted on the prepared forms, one of which must remain bound in the specifications. Proposals must be signed by the bidder with his name and address and must be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Project No. WPC-MD-180, Proposed Water and Wastewater Facilities, Friendsville, Maryland."

Proposals made in pencil and or on any other than the prepared forms will not be considered. Changes in the phraseology of the Proposal, additions or limiting provisions will render the Proposal informal and may cause its rejection.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of ninety (90) days after the date of opening of bids.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to be bonded to the Mayor and Council of Friendsville, to the sum of one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount of his proposal according to the form of bond hereto attached. The bonding company shall be licensed to do business in Maryland. The bond will be subject to the approval of the Owner.

All right is hereby reserved by the Mayor and Council of Friendsville to reject any or all proposals and to waive informalities as the interest of the Town may require.

Resident Choir To Give Concert

The summer resident choir being housed at Camp Hickory and sponsored by Garrett Community College will present its first concert on Saturday evening, July 21. The majority of the choir members come from Westminster Choir, College, Princeton, N. J., many who have just returned from solo and ensemble appearances in Spoleto, Italy. The choir is under direction of Robert Melver and accompanied by David Agler.

The choir will be performing five groups of tunes. The first group will be comprised of Renaissance pieces including Cantate Domino. The second group will be a short work by Mozart entitled Te Deum. The third group will feature four well-known courses from Oratorios. Following intermission will be a group of five 20th century religious anthems. The final group will consist of five familiar spirituals.

All people in the area are encouraged to come, in that this will probably be one of the best choirs ever to sing in the Tri-State area. The members are among the best choral people in the United States, and the concerts that they perform should be a delight to all, according to college officials.

Man Charged With Larceny Of A Cow

A young man from Grantsville is being held in Garrett County jail after being charged by D. A. Tucker, of the Maryland State Police, with larceny of a cow Monday.

The Holstein animal was a dry cow belonging to Ezra Paul Yoder, a Grantsville dairyman who happened to be attending Friend's Stockyard sale that day. Mrs. Yoder on Tuesday said her husband noticed a familiar cow and was able to positively identify her from registration papers sketching her markings. Value of the cow was estimated at $800.

The young man, Morris Duane Warnick, 19, was arrested Monday evening at the stockyard. At a preliminary hearing, bond for Warnick was set at $5,000. Further hearing is set for July 27.

Senate Group Oks Dam Funds

The Senate Appropriations committee voted approval last week for $13.6 million toward construction of the Bloomington dam.

Announcement of the appropriation was made last Thursday by West Virginia Senators Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph, both Democrats.

The Army Corps of Engineers has scheduled the big dam project for completion in the fall of 1978. Last year the government estimated a total expense of $98.3 million would be needed.

The Bloomington reservoir will control a drainage area of about 263 square miles, about 20 percent of the Potomac River's North Branch basin.

Water supplies will be gained by three states, Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia, once the dam is completed.

One of the most unique aspects of the project is now underway. That is the relocation of 12.87 miles of Western Maryland railway line from West Virginia to Maryland. The new location of the tracks will be 11.6 miles, roughly 1.3 miles shorter than the existing route, plus a new bridge being built downstream of the dam site.

When completed the dam will be 296 feet high and it will be the third highest Army Corps of Engineers earth and rockfilled dam east of the Mississippi river. Maryland's share of the project is 33 percent, or $32.6 million.

The money approved last Thursday is included in the public works appropriations bill for the 1974 fiscal year and it now must be approved by the full Senate.

Begins Practice

Dr. Thomas Johnson has begun the practice of medicine in Oakland and will be located at the office of Dr. Joseph Alvarez, 3 Oak street until completion of the new medical building adjacent to the hospital.

Announcement of his coming to Oakland was made early in February. A native of Uniontown, Pa., the 26-year-old physician received his M.D. degree from the University of Pittsburgh. He had received his B.S. degree earlier from Pennsylvania State University. He recently completed his internship at Roanoke, Va.

Tomas A. Alvero, M. D., from San Pablo City, Philippines, has recently moved to Oakland with his family and will enter into surgical practice here.

Dr. Alvero graduated from the University of Santo Tomas, Manila, Philippines, receiving his Associate in Arts Degree in 1951 and his Doctor of Medicine degree in 1956. He passed the Philippines Medical Board Examination in 1956 and became a member of the Surgical Staff, San Pablo City Hospital until 1966. He passed the Education Council for Foreign Medical Graduate examination sponsored by the American Medical Association in 1966.

After coming to the United States he interned at Franklin Square Hospital in Baltimore from July 1, 1966, until June 30, 1967, then served his surgical residency there from July 1, 1967 to June, 1971, completing his requirements to become a certified surgeon.

Dr. Alvero will join Dr. Joseph Alvarez in the practice of general surgery.

Tennis Tourney Attracts Large Number Entries

Annual Event Will Get Under Way Next Wednesday

Plenty of entries for the 52nd annual tennis tournament for the Western Maryland championship are already arranging to come to Mt. Lake Park for the event, and a banner entry list is expected.

It was announced yesterday that over seventy already had sent in their applications and quite a few additional ones will sign up before the tournament begins next Wednesday, August 1.

Events this year will include men's singles, senior singles, 45 and 55, women's singles, senior doubles and mixed doubles. The tournament is sanctioned by the Middle Atlantic Lawn Tennis association, and players are expected from a five-state area.

Earle Palmer Brown, vice president of the Mt. Lake Park Tennis club and tournament director, said many of the old-timers and former winners would be returning for the tournament as well as a number of new contestants.

Play in men's singles will be the first to get under way and they will begin next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

It was learned this morning that U. S. Senator Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, who has been a tennis enthusiast at Mt. Lake Park for years, would be present to present trophies to the winners at the conclusion of play.

Weekend Rains Put Precipitation Over The Top

Weekend rains put July's precipitation in the excess column instead of deficiency column where it stood last week. Skies have been overcast with a few brief periods of sunshine last Thursday and a little each day this week. Temperatures have been just below normal.

Sunday was the wettest day, with one and a half inches of rain.

From Friday through Monday 3.16 inches of rain fell. About another .2 inch fell yesterday and last night. Skies were partially clear this morning. The humidity had been rather high most of the week.

Daytime mercury readings have been 6 degrees below the normal or a 74-degree average. The highest was 84 degrees last Thursday. Since then it has been between 71 and 78 degrees. Morning lows, on the other hand, averaged 60 degrees or 4.5 degrees above the normal. The highs and lows, then, were about 1.5 degrees below the normal. The morning lows have stayed above the 60-mark since the 53-degree reading last Thursday.

Winds have been mostly calm to light.

Warrants have been issued charging Charles D. Rhodes, of Deer Park, with distributing marijuana, possession of marijuana, and trespassing.

Rhodes' car was found parked near Mouth of Wilson but he never returned and the car was towed into Independence and stored, officials said. A small amount of marijuana reportedly was found in the car.

Ask Permission To Mine Coal

Coal Company Asks Temporary Relief Pending Court Action

The Georges Creek Coal and Land and Buffalo Coal companies have asked the court for permission to continue mining in Savage river state forest while the anticipated long legal battle over private activity on public land wages in the courts.

In a Friday motion for temporary relief the attorneys for the coal firms asked the court to remove the coal from those areas already disturbed by surface mining activity which are now lying open and idle.

The companies pointed out the plan would aid in reclamation of the land. Attorney General Francis B. Burch ruled on June 19 that the Buffalo coal must shut down its operation in accordance with legislation passed last year by the General Assembly.

Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., has scheduled the first court encounter between attorneys for the coal companies and the Department of Natural Resources for Tuesday, July 31, in Schools filling up with a solution of portable classrooms; water systems being taxed were two of the problems occurring along with everyday problems of running the government.

Grier pointed out a study of sub-division plats every six months had slowed the developmental process and had affected every agency and gave better perspective for a good end result.

Meet The Staff

ROGER ZIMMERMAN

Roger Zimmerman started working for us as many of our employees do, while still in high school. His first duties were in the front end department, as a packer. He performed his duties with enthusiasm and was always eager to learn something new. After graduating from high school we encouraged Roger to join our staff permanently. He worked for a short time in the grocery department, but was soon transferred to the meat department where he presently works.

For the past three years it has been a pleasure for all of us at Foodland to work with Roger because he possesses an outstanding personality. He is always in a jovial mood and lifts the spirits of everybody he comes in contact with.

Roger is now a first cutter. Why not ask him for a boned rump roast or your favorite cut of meat the next time you visit our store. He has over 2 years of experience in meat cutting and has learned the trade from veterans like Don Johnson, Paul Merrill, Bob Davis, and Bob Lewis. Their opinion of Roger is that he's tops!

Mt. Storm Power Unit To Begin

The Virginia Electric and Power company will start up its multimillion dollar third unit of the Mt. Storm power station about August 1, according to Harold Turner, superintendent of the operation.

After various tests of the equipment, the generators, boilers and other parts of the unit the company will place the unit on the line for commercial production of power about September 1.

The facility will produce 1,500,000 kilowatts of electrical power with all three units in operation. The magnitude of the Mt Storm operation can be gained by the fact that a total of 15,000 tons of coal will be burned each 24 hours at the station.

Total cost of the third unit is over $100 million according to Mr. Turner.

The No. 1 unit has been operating since May 1 with the electrostatic precipitator in use. Mr. Turner said the device eliminates not only particulates but also smoke from emission. The precipitator for the No. 1 unit will be completed and placed in use by October 1. The unit is currently being operated at a reduced load.

When all three units are in operation with the precipitators in use they will provide 99.5 percent of efficiency and there will be no smoke besides. No particulates will be in the emission.

In another step to meet clean air regulations, Vepco is installing a coal washing facility at the deep mine some distance away from the power station. The coal which will be taken from the deep mine will be washed to eliminate sulphur and provide a much cleaner fuel for use in the power station, Mr. Turner pointed out. The coal washing facility will be completed next February and the coal which has been treated will be carried to the power station storage area via a huge overhead conveyor system, one of the longest in this area.

U.S. Senator

Keeping Bank Records Private

With several of my colleagues, I was pleased to introduce legislation recently to ensure that disclosures by financial institutions to government officials and agencies of the details of private bank accounts are made only in accordance with reasonable procedural safeguards.

As all of us know, an individual's bank account is not just another collection of paper. It is extremely rich in details of the customer's personal and political life. The information revealed by checks, other withdrawals, or deposits, mirror the activities of the account holder—the political causes he supports, publications to which he subscribes, the debts he owes, the purchases he makes, the source of his income, and so forth.

Because information in bank accounts is so rich in details, it is quite understandably sought after by various government agencies and officials. But, just as in other areas such as telephone conversations or private records maintained in homes, the same characteristics which make information contained in bank accounts useful to government agencies also mean that basic individual rights and liberties can be trampled by abuse of the information or of the process by which the information is obtained.

Abuse of these rights is now encouraged by the fact that government personnel seek to, and do in fact, examine, copy and retain information from financial institutions without any notice to or consent by any court or the individual bank customer. The government admitted to this practice in testimony last August before the Senate Subcommittee on Financial Institutions.

The practice was defended as being in pursuit of noble objectives. The fact remains, however, that procedures which involve no judicial review, no notice, no showing of cause, threaten to violate, and do violate, rights of privacy which are protected by the Constitution and should be ensured by specific acts of Congress.

The financial institutions are not in a position to staunchly defend the interests or rights of their customers against unwarranted invasions by such agencies—particularly when the Congress and the courts have thus far failed to spell out what the rights of these customers are. I am pleased that the effort represented by this bill has the support of the bankers association at the state as well as the federal levels.

The bill would prohibit government agencies from obtaining records from financial institutions, and prohibit financial institutions from disclosing records to government agencies and officials, except in accordance with four methods outlined by separate sections of the bill.

These methods are customer consent, administrative summons, and subpoenas, search warrants and judicial subpoenas.

The bill makes exceptions for information of such a general nature that it does not identify the individual customers. Information required to be disclosed under the Internal Revenue Code, and information disclosed to government agencies which supervise financial institutions providing that such information is solely for use in fulfilling such supervisory responsibilities.

The bill would limit the government's power to require financial institutions to keep such records as are required by a supervisory agency or by the Internal Revenue Code. The bill provides civil and criminal penalties for violations of its sections.

State May Open More Park Land To Md. Hunters

Maryland is considering opening more of its undeveloped parkland for public hunting. Hearings on the proposal will be held in mid-August, although no specific time or place have been set.

The state already permits hunting in the 10 state forests in wildlife management areas, and in portions of four state parks—Assateague, Deep Creek Lake, Cunningham Falls and Janes Island.

Natural resources officials say there have been no conflicts between hunters and other recreational uses in those areas.

If the proposal is adopted hunters in the parklands would operate under strict regulations. They would have to check in with a wildlife officer, and be issued a special permit before entering the hunting area. The number of persons in the area at one time would be limited to one for every fifty acres.

Hunting areas would be clearly marked and a buffer zone would be set up. Officials said they were considering use of the parklands because of the growing pressure on land available for hunting in Maryland.

the circuit court in Oakland.

At that time Judge Hamill will hear the coal firms' motion for temporary relief and DNR's request for a change of venue to the Anne Arundel County Circuit court.

The motion for temporary relief claims that two areas in the state forest were not completely mined as of June 30. Areas involved are a 1,000 foot long benched area in which the seam of coal has already been exposed, and which contains approximately 32,000 tons earmarked for removal by the augering method and a seven-acre surface mine area. The coal company said the augering could be completed in 75 days.

The second area, adjacent to the first has already been benched and drilled for mining by the surface method in addition to augering. The coal firms state that as overburden is removed from this area it will be used in the reclamation of the long open pit which is presently ready to be augered. The second area would be completed in five months.

The removal now of coal lying in those areas, the coal firms claim would naturally reduce the claim they are making against the state for compensatory damages.

File Separate Statement

In a separate statement filed Friday by the coal companies, the matter of H. B. Buckley's position as a defendant in the proceedings was defended. The state had taken issue, claiming that it is Mr. Coulter, as DNR secretary who is solely responsible for the actions and proceedings in the court suit.

Coal firms claimed that Mr. Buckley was indeed a figure since it was he as Bureau of Mines director, who issued the permit for mining in the state forest, and it was he who ordered Buffalo to cease mining on July 1.

They also claimed that the action of the director involves a taking of property rights of the plaintiffs and in that regard, his conduct makes the suit a local, not a transitory, action.

The state had asked for the change of venue claiming that with Mr. Coulter as sole defendant the case should be tried in Anne Arundel county, place of Mr. Coulter's office.

Man Pleads Guilty In Dist. Court Of Drug Possession

A Mt. Lake Park man pleaded guilty of possession of marijuana in District Court, before Judge Lewis R. Jones, during the weekending July 24. Others were found guilty of disorderly conduct or intoxication.

Harry F. Kisner, Lancaster, Pa., pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct at Oak Grove Tavern on July 7. He was fined $25 and $10 costs.

Edward King, Deer Park, pleaded not guilty of disorderly intoxication in the Bethlehem section June 12. At a trial July 17 he was found guilty. Sentence is withheld pending his reporting to the Alcoholic Center.

Robert Carr Star Route, Oakland, was placed on probation without verdict for one year to the Department of Parole and Probation under the standard conditions. Carr pleaded not guilty to two charges of assault and battery on Mayhew Inn road on May 5.

One case was stetted, or left standing, when the parties involved reached an agreement on the amount of support due Gerald D. Frazee, Friendsville, has been charged with non-support of his wife and three minor children at Friendsville as of May 28.

Several cases were dismissed.

Commissioners To Sit As County Health Boord

The County Commissioners will be sitting as the County Health board, starting Monday, August 6, in addition to their other duties, it was announced this week.

Regular meetings will be held the first Monday of every month at 4 p. m., and Dr. William Pope, county health officer, will serve as secretary to the board.

In other activity this week Thomas Selk, architect from Pittsburgh, discussed with the commissioners the feasibility study for renovation or annexation for new county office buildings.

At Monday's meeting Louis Goldstein, comptroller for Maryland, visited a short time. He said he planned to be at the governor's breakfast on August 2. The breakfast is being sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion council and not the Democratic State Central committee, as indicated last week.

The commissioners received the official list of the personnel at the sheriff's office from John F. Browning, sheriff. WASHINGTON REPORT

A Chance for a Job

One of the most difficult problems encountered by our youth is the task of getting a first job Especially for those who are unskilled, the search for a job can become a frustrating experience of one rejection after another

The competition for jobs has placed a premium on qualifications like previous experience, and when all other things are equal, it is not hard to understand an employer's preference being based on those factors

The fact that our teen-age unemployment is nearly four times higher than the jobless rate for adults bears out this point and it also indicates that we should be doing more to encourage the hiring of young workers

I believe that the Senate had an opportunity to take a step in the right direction in the past week, when we were considering a bill to raise the minimum wage

The incentive could very easily be provided through a youth differential in the minimum wage law, and I was very disappointed when the Senate rejected this feature as an amendment

The proposal which I supported would allow an employer to hire a teen-age job applicant at 85 per cent of the minimum wage, provided that he would be elevated to the full minimum wage within six months after coming onto the job.

The effect of the youth differential would be to encourage employers to hire an inexperienced young person and let him learn the necessary job skills while being paid somewhat below the regular base wage

Thus, the young person attempting to get started on a job would have something on his side to offset the disadvantage of competing against older or more experienced workers.

This view of the minimum wage and its effect on young workers has been propounded by some of our most distinguished economists.

Dr. Paul Samuelson stated the point emphatically in describing the problem as it affects black youths, of whom nearly one-third are unemployed He asked, "What good does it do a black youth to know that an employer must pay him at $1.60 an hour if the fact that he must be paid that amount is what keeps him from getting a job?"

It is my belief that by establishing a youth differential in the minimum wage, we would be doing a great service to our young people by helping them get started with jobs and in assuming their adult responsibilities in the community.

Our nation has prided itself in being able to say that a person from the most humble background can still aspire to the highest levels of success in the United States.

This upward mobility we enjoys depends, to a great extent, on the opportunity for people to make a step-by-step advance up the job ladder.

However, the minimum wage increase, without a youth differential, could have the effect of knocking out some of the lower rungs of the ladder. Thus, it would be harder for many unskilled youths to get a chance to prove themselves.

The alternative to a youth differential is the intolerably high unemployment rate that now exists among our younger citizens, and none of us wants to see that continue.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

A man named Simon had formerly been a sorcerer there for many years; he was a very influential, proud man because of the amazing things he could do—in fact, the Samaritan people often spoke of him as the Messiah. But now they believed Philip's message that Jesus was the Messiah, and his words concerning the Kingdom of God; and many men and women were baptized. Then Simon himself believed and was baptized and began following Philip wherever he went, and was amazed by the miracles he did.

LaVale Winner Over Oakland In District Playoff

Kenny Klosterman hit a three-run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning, lifting the LaVale Little League team to a 4 to 1 victory over the Oakland Little League all-stars in the opening round of the District playoffs Sunday afternoon.

The first three innings of the game were played on Friday when rain interrupted play with no score. The second three innings were played Sunday.

Klosterman's clout broke a 1-1 deadlock and gave Scott Thomas the victory over J. Simms. Both pitchers went the distance. Steve Liller scored Oakland's only run. He got on base on an error and came home on a single by Mike Green who got credit for an RBI.

Weekend Accidents Injure Seven

Weekend accidents resulted in the injury of seven persons in the county with two being treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, having been taken there by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Edward M. Allen, III, 20, Smithfield, Va., was treated and released from the hospital following a one-car mishap on U. S. Route 219 one mile south of Rock Lodge road early Sunday morning. He was driving south on Route 219 when, as he stated, he lost control of his car which went across the roadway, struck an embankment, turned over on its top and came to rest on its top in a ditch.

The car was called a total loss. Tpr. Dale K. Williams charged him with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Julian R. McClellan, 22, Smithers, W. Va., was also treated and released from the hospital following another one-car accident on State Route 39 when his car hit the Crellin Bridge. The car was called a total loss.

McClellan was traveling east and ran off the shoulder. He lost control of the vehicle which came back onto the road, crossed it and hit the bridge. Tfc. Robert E. Friend investigated the mishap. The Southern Rescue Squad was called.

Lash R. L. Lloyd, 21, operator of the car and his passenger, Robert K. Welch, 34, both of Kitzmiller, were injured in a one-car wreck on Mattingly Hill road near Hoyes about 5:45 p. m. Friday. Lloyd ran off the right side of the road on a left hand curve and hit a utility pole. Tpr. Ronald C. Georg charged Lloyd on two counts, operating an unregistered motor vehicle and failing to reduce speed under a certain condition.

Alvin Bender, 20, Accident, operator of one car was slightly injured in a two-car mishap on U. S. Route 219, south of Old 219 about 2 p. m. last Friday. Margaret L. Whitman, Purcellville, Va., headed north on U. S. Route 219, ready to make a left turn when Bender, following, ran into her car. Bender was charged with failing to reduce speed by Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis.

Betty J. DeWitt, 23, Mason Street, Oakland, was slightly injured in a wreck last Thursday afternoon on State Route 135 just east of Route 560. She was a passenger on a motor cycle operated by John R. Mosser, also of Mason Street. Mosser and a car driven by Harry A. Gaither Bayard, W. Va., were traveling west on Route 135 when Gaither stopped for traffic being stopped ahead. Mosser was unable to stop and hit the Gaither car in the rear. Trooper Friend charged Mosser with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Arthur G. Coddington, 59, Friendsville, was slightly injured when his farm tractor was struck by a light truck driven by Warren R. Knowles, Salem, Va., last Thursday evening. Coddington was entering State Route 42 from a private drive and was proceeding south. Knowles rounded a blind turn, slid 182 feet and struck the tractor in the rear. Trooper David A. Miller charged Knowles with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

There were no apparent injuries in five other accidents.

Thomas E. Hauser, Center street, Oakland, was driving west on Mosser road near Bumble Bee road last Saturday afternoon. The right wheel of his car slipped off the road and his car went out of control. The car came back onto and across the road and struck the properly parked car of Ione Hunt Jones, College Park. Hauser was charged with failing to keep to the right side of the road by Tfc. Friend.

Clyde K. Welch, Swanton, was traveling east on State Route 39 at a speed too great for conditions and lost control of his car on a wet surface. The car crossed the road to the left side and struck a parked car in a driveway and came to rest. Tfc. Lewis charged Welch with operating at a speed too great for conditions.

John T. Miner, McHenry, was traveling north on Rock Lodge road near U. S. Route 219 last Thursday afternoon. As he did, Larry L. Lewis, Friendsville, in a light truck, pulled from a private drive into his path. Tfc. Lewis charged Larry Lewis with failing to yield the right-of-way.

Allen E. Pysell, Deer Park, was traveling south on Sand Flat road just north of Deer Park corporate limits last Wednesday afternoon. Myrel J. Roehm, Greensboro, North Carolina, was traveling north across the center of the road. Pysell swerved to the right but the two collided. Tfc. Friend charged Roehm with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Seventeen Killed On State Highways

Seventeen persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week, according to 1st Sergeant James E. Harvey of the State Police. Eleven of those killed were drivers, four were passengers and two were pedestrians. At least eight of the deaths might have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in one death, speed in nine and "driver error" in 15.

The 460 persons killed on Maryland highways to date is 22 more than were killed in the same period last year. Experience shows August, September, October, November and December usually produce the greatest number of highway deaths, Sgt. Harvey stated.

"This should certainly emphasize the necessity of a serious appreciation of all drivers of their responsibility to contribute their full share to highway safety in order to attempt a reduction in the number of fatalities in the State, he concluded.

Playhouse Closeup

Debi Karlinsky (above) has been pleasing audiences at the Garrett County Playhouse throughout this, her first season at the Summer Theatre for many reasons. Not the least of these is her combination of personality and vitality that stood her in good stead as Sorel Bliss in "Hayfever," the bouncy nurse in "Chalk Garden" and last week as Martha in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

A native New Yorker, Debi presently attends hte University of New Mexico where she studies theatre and practices feminism. This week, Debi plays one of the busy roles in "Dracula—or the Undead," which means that, like many of the other actors in the thriller, she must play two or three characters, leaping the channel from Britain to Transylvania and back again.

From her background as stage manager, director and actress, Debi brings much to our stage in the way of inventive talent, and when you've said that you've said it all.

Identify Bodies Of Two Women

Authorities revealed last Thursday that two young women found in a wrecked automobile off West Virginia 26, in a remote section of Preston county, near Albright, apparently died of injuries sustained in the crash.

Post mortems were performed at West Virginia University medical center in Morgantown. State Police said they had identified the victims as Wanda Rodeheaver, 18, and Mrs. Carolyn Sue Lansberry, 23, both of Albright.

Authorities said the victims had been reported missing July 13, four days after they were seen alive.

There convertible was found wedged in thick shrubbery and underbrush over a steep embankment, concealed from the highway.

Police said it took a recovery team nearly six hours to remove the bodies, pinned in the wreckage of the heavily damaged vehicle.

Mrs. Landsbury's husband is serving with the armed forces in Germany. Identification was made from personal effects found on the bodies.

Japanese Beetles Appearing In Area

The annual period of greatest Japanese beetle activity in the area is now here and will continue to build up until sometime in August, then decline until in September when the little pests will disappear for another ten months.

Although Japanese beetles are exceedingly destructive, they are now controlled effectively enough in Maryland that there is not much likelihood of any large infestations, according to the University of Maryland Extension service. In fact the beetles are few in number in Garrett county, due, it is felt, to the relatively colder climate.

Japanese beetle grubs feed on the roots and underground stems of plants and can often go unnoticed. Adults feed on more than 275 different plants.

The prevalence of Japanese beetles depends to a large extent on nature itself—weather, disease, parasites and other natural enemies play a part in determining whether or not an infestation will occur, and how serious it may be.

Extremely dry weather in summer destroys many eggs and newly-hatched grubs. However, wet summers are favorable to development of eggs and grubs, and may be followed by several seasons of large numbers of beetles.

Japanese beetles are subject to several diseases and a number of insect parasites. Milky disease is one of the main means of controlling the beetle, and spores may be bought in dust form from many garden supply stores.

Insect parasites have been dispersed on an area-wide basis by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and are not available to individuals or groups.

Chemical means of combatting Japanese beetles are also available—chlordane being one of the more important. Information on control of Japanese beetles may be obtained from the extension service, located in the basement of the Oakland post office building.

Officials Of Five Counties Conclude Conference At Inn

indicated. Mr. Jones, from a more technical point of view, showed how the study needs the support of management and team effort, developing good interagency relationships.

The impact study involved these factors: subdivision cycle expansion, state share of money according to income, the tax rate impact, economic development commission, anywhere from $288,000 to $1 million, commercial base.

In explaining the computer program as flexible Mr. Jones explained: "if the school attendance area is programmed it will spin-off assessment files. By manual inspection they clean out all possible lots by attendance areas, using a grid system. The Planning commission then submits approval of unrecorded subdivisions, including building permits, certification of occupancy. If the capacity for a school is not there, then they can hold up further development.

With the computer system the water and sewage systems are the most sophisticated. They plot all pumping stations, drainage systems, treatment plants and sewage lines. In this way an inadequate system can be easily detected. Economic benefits have been $50,000, to help with pay-outs."

The Carroll County commissioners have a short report on a state police study and their particular situation on alternatives to improving police protection.

In regard to land use, Mr. Hamilton now serving on the Governor's commission on Land Use, suggested that representation on this commission might be lopsided in view of the fact that the problems of the smaller counties are not understood. One major concern, he said, was to bring agencies together to work for total planning and zoning and to determine if there is a need for land use legislation. The state would support planning at a local level and interact with the county. The State is coming in because of a weakness in local officials, he pointed out.

He continued: "Some disturbing legislation which has been proposed, is the setting up of a super commission' with little representation from the smaller areas, ascertaining what the critical areas are; and determining what is to be accomplished. There is a move to protect on a state basis and make people on a local level find out their specific problems."

After a short discussion on the sediment controls via the drainage law, there was discussion on how to fulfill the requirements of the law insofar as existing county roads and their rights-of-way are concerned.

The next meeting will be in Washington County on September 12.

East and West Germany, both got approval to join the UN.

Sorry About That!

The name of Lewis Marks was omitted in the naming of those in the back row of the senior league all-stars. Marks was on the extreme left.

And in the cutlines beneath the scouts who went to Philmont ranch under the boy scouting program, Troop 57 of Swanton is in the Tri-Valley district and not Deep Creek District as stated. Craig Hutson, of Troop 57, was the only scout from Potomac Council making the trip.

Review Of the Play

"Dracula"

It's crazy, it's hilarious, it's "DRACULA" at the Garrett County Playhouse this week. Ken Hill gives a rare, but brilliant performance as an actor—and he also directs the show. Ken has made an adaptation of Bray Stoker's work, and it is a beaut. What can't Ken do?

A good crowd was on hand for opening night, and they saw an excellent show. Milburn Mehlhop—who else—plays the fabulous Count Dracula. It is no wonder that theatre goers love to see Milburn. He gives each part everything he has, or 110 percent all the time. If you liked Milburn in previous years, you'll love, like, ugh, him in this.

The prolesional cast as a whole is delightful, but orchids go to Bruce Danyluk for his portrayal as a lunatic. He is outstanding. Orchids also go to Patrick Moore for his work. To John and Mary Beth Bratcher, to David Baca, Christine James, Debi Karlinsky, and Helen Padilla, a tremendous bunch of Orchids for a job well done.

This is a play for all ages, the kids wanting to peek into the vaults, and the grown ups waiting breathlessly for the next plot to unfold.

The local players are brilliant also. Diana Haynes, David Naylor—the Corpse in last week's play—and Ada Mae Welch are welcomed back again. The rest, Winona Alexander, Mark Ashby, Marie McManis, and Kitty Williams make up a tremendous cast for this classic. I am not about to spoil your viewing by telling about the story, just don't miss this show. If you read the book, saw Dracula on the screen or theatre, you know how good entertainment this is. If you haven't, take my advice, and go to the Blue Barn this week. Better make reservations.

To Gene Yell, thanks for bringing good solid theatre to our area. You have a wonderful cast this year, and we are grateful.

An old favorite, Neil Flanagan will be in next week's play "Getting On." Don't miss it. Dracula is wonderful, it's entertaining, it's theatre, go to the Blue Barn showing each night through Saturday.

I close now with a good night to Vera Similitude, whoever you are? AND to you who read this—Go see DRACULA.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

My husband and I have returned from a weeks tour of Canada. We were so impressed by the people and surroundings after traveling over 1,800 miles.

There are thousands of lakes with clear, uncontammated water. The flowers are of every color, all sizes of spruce trees, white and pink water lilies in many lakes.

We saw many black squirrels and porcupines, ringneck pheasants that only flew to a nearby branch and stared at passersby.

Canadians trust one another. For example, the first of May families go to their favorite picnic, camping area, taking their tents, campers, canned foods, cooking utensils, canoes or boats and leave them there until September. No one trespasses on their neighbors camping area. Nothing is stolen because they are honest, trustworthy people.

There is not a piece of litter on or along any highway, just beautiful trees and flowers. The silver birch trees glisten in the sunlight. The rocks are of many colors, mostly granite. The kindness, friendliness of our neighbors to the north—Canada—makes us want to return for a longer holiday.

Hazel Shillingburg Burton
(Mrs. Robert B.)

Rescue Squad Has 4 Emergency Calls

The Southern Rescue squad answered four emergency calls over the weekend.

One on Saturday was to Deep Creek lodge where Charles H. Keiser, 72, of Uniontown, had slipped on some grass, fracturing his right leg.

He was admitted as a patient at Garrett County Memorial hospital.

About 1:30 Sunday morning two youths, David Edwards and Edward Martin Allen III, both of Springfield, Va., upset their vehicle on U. S. Route 219, just north of the Deep Creek bridge, near the Rock Lodge road. They sustained slight injuries. They were taken by the rescue squad for emergency treatment at the hospital.

Last Thursday night the rescue squad was called to Crellin where Julian R. McClelland, of Hopemont, had crashed into the bridge over the Youghiogheny river. He sustained lacerations and was taken to the hospital for treatment.

The last weekend call came from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lohr, on Shenandoah avenue, at 11:10 Monday morning. The purpose was to take Mrs. Lohr to the hospital, but she was pronounced dead before reaching the hospital. She was taken to the John O. Durst funeral home.

Notice!

The office of Dr. T. J. Thomas will be closed July 22 thru August 6. Regular office hours will resume Tuesday, August 7.

Wed June 23rd In Vermont

Joyce Elizabeth Bond became the bride of Randle Alan Rodeheaver on Saturday afternoon, June 23 at 3 o'clock, at a double ring wedding ceremony in Bethany Congregational church Montpelier, Vermont. The Rev. Dr. Herbert Van Meter officiated. Philip Stimmel was organist and Mrs. Janet Bond, sister-in-law of the bride, was soloist. The church was decorated with baskets of garden flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley K. Bond, Montpelier. Mr. Rodeheaver is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Rodeheaver, North Second street, Oakland.

Ushers were Michael Feld, Oakland, Andrew Gogates, Ringwood, N. J., George Hagedorn, Morgantown, W. Va., and George Vroom, of Cranfield, N. J.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin peau and Venice lace fashioned with a Victorian empire bodice, bishop sleeves, and A-line skirt with ruffled hemline. Her cathedral length veil of silk illusion was outlined in lace and fell from a Camelot headpiece of Venise lace. Her cascade bouquet was of white daisies, aqua carnations and ivy with a lace ribbon.

The bride's attendants wore white peasant blouses with skirts with high waistlines and wide hemline ruffles. They had a white background with rose and aqua flower pattern, and matching ribbons were worn in their hair. They carried baskets of painted and shasta daisies and Sweet William.

After a honeymoon in Maine the pair will live in Oakland.

Mrs. Rodeheaver was a 1970 graduate of Montpelier High school and is a senior at West Virginia Wesleyan college, Buckhannon, majoring in sociology. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. Her husband was a graduate of Southern High School, Oakland, in 1970 and is also a senior at West Virginia Wesleyan college, majoring in accounting. He is a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

Also injured in the collision were Stephen Charles Jackson, 17, operator of the other car, LaVale, with chest injuries, and Lorna Ruth Skidmore, 19, Frostburg, back injuries were both listed in fair condition Monday.

Gina and Rickey Wooten, Jackson and Miss Skidmore were first taken to the Frostburg Community Hospital and later transferred to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Mr. Wooten was operator of a vehicle traveling east, 3 miles east of Grantsville. Jackson, operator of the other car, traveling west was in the process of passing another vehicle in a 'no passing' zone when he hit the Wooten car headon.

Both cars were reported demolished.

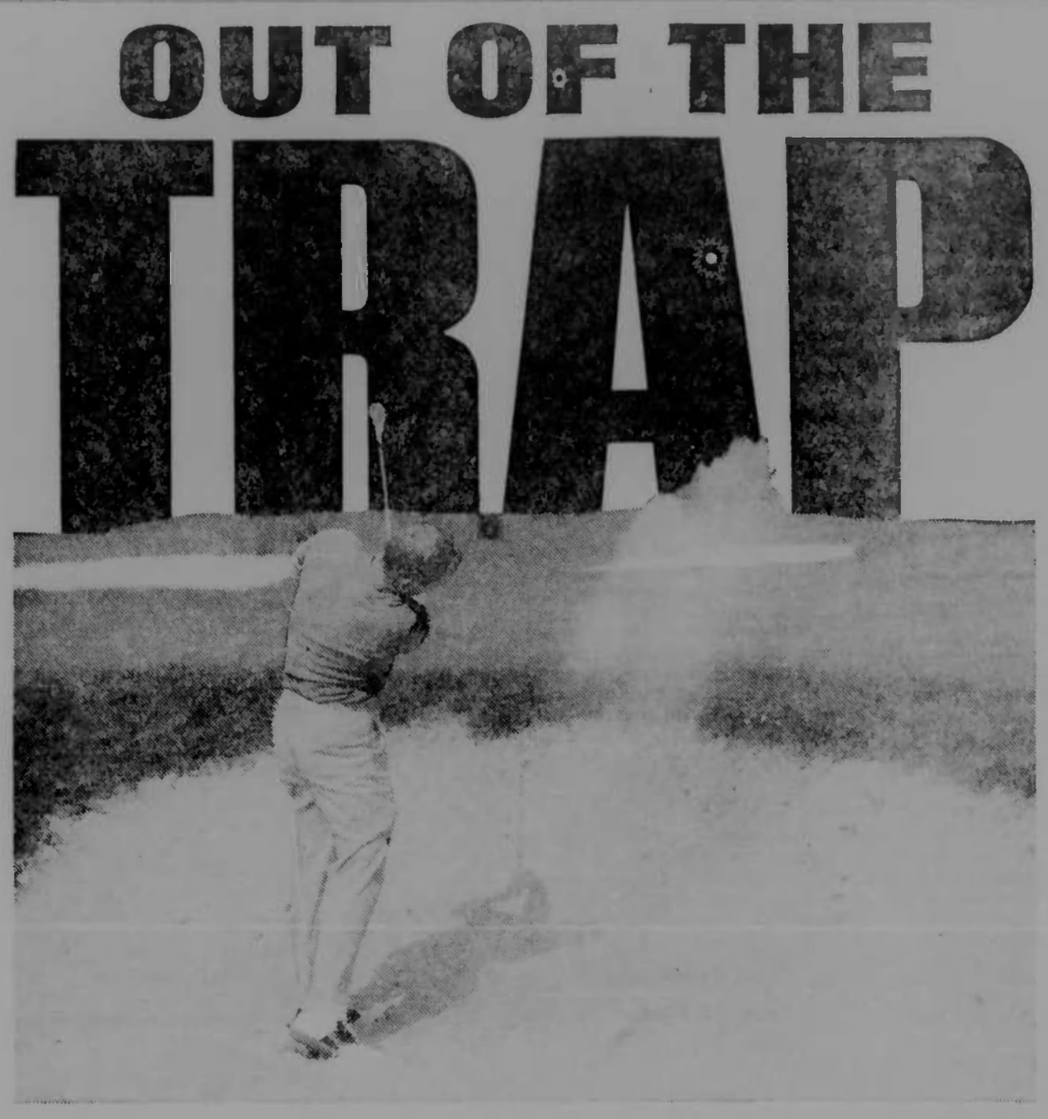
OUT OF THE TRAP



The game of golf reveals sometime fundamental in the character of man. For when man builds a golf course he deliberately creates traps for himself. He builds his fairway between clumps of trees . . . fills it with bunkers and sand traps . . . often terraces his greens with confusing slopes. The whole idea—to make things harder for himself!

It is the same trait in human character that constantly confronts our churches. Christianity doesn't teach that life can be—or should be—easy. It teaches us that hazard must challenge us to choose the right way. And it teaches men how to recover from their mistakes—with God's help.

WITHOUT WAX

Lesson for July 29, 1973

Background Scripture: Exodus 20:16, 23:1-3; Proverbs 19:9; Acts 5:1-11; Ephesians 4:25-32; James 1:26, 3:1-12
Devotional Reading: Mark 7:14-23.

"Sticks and stones may break my bones, but names will never hurt me."

Don't count on it! There are times when names and words may be just as harmful or more than sticks and stones. A few words on your high-school or college record can shape your vocational life. The words, "I do," spoken before a minister or justice of the peace can mean a lifetime commitment. The rumor, however false, may wreck one's reputation. A few words spoken hastily may erect a barrier between two people. Yes, words can be very powerful.

Rev. Althouse

Every careless word

It is not surprising, then that Jesus drives to the heart of the ninth commandment, "you shall not bear false witness . . . ." when he says: I tell you, on the day of judgement men will render account for every careless word they utter" (Matthew 12:36).

Have you ever given any serious thought to that warning? My mind is staggered with the thought of sitting and listening to the playing of every careless word I've ever spoken! Doesn't it shake you — even a little — to hear Jesus warn: "For by your words . . . you will be condemned"?

In ancient Rome when sculptors accidentally chipped their statues, they would often fill in the marred places with wax that was of the same color as the marble. Honest sculptors who desired to distinguish their work from those filled-in wax would stamp their works with the Latin words: sine cera, meaning "without wax." It is from this practice that we have derived our term, "sincere," for literally it means "without wax," or better: without deception.

Subtle lies

This is exactly the kind of speech Jesus wanted: without deception. Jesus knew that when one tries to distinguish between the so-called "big" and "little" deceptions, he usually loses his power to determine what is "big" and what is "small." Allow deception to enter a small part of our lives and we soon find that we have learned the dubious art of deceiving ourselves. Falsehood becomes a way of life that is no less dangerous because we cover it with a veneer of subtle sophistication. Just as a subtle thief is still a thief, so a sophisticated liar is still a liar.

Today in advertising, public relations, promotion, and politics a certain amount of deception is tolerated and even expected. No one takes too seriously advertising claims or the public relations blurb. Nor is the politician or the promoter believed at face value. The sophisticated lie is taken for granted.

Truth, like human life, sex, and private property, is a gift of God that is intended to help man, not hurt him. As Ephesians puts it: ". . . speaking the truth in love . . ." (4:15).

This, then, is God's intention for human speech: with love and without wax!

℞ HAVE YOU HAD YOUR VITAMIN H TODAY?

Don't tell us you have never heard of Vitamin H? What about Vitamin U? Or Vitamin P4? These are some of the "rare vitamins" which nevertheless play an important role in nutrition. Vitamin U for example is found in cabbages and is believed to be an anti-ulcer factor. Then there are vitamins B13, M and T. These may not be available on the shelves today, but in the future may play a part in disease treatment or prevention.

There is more to vitamins than you might think. So, do not take vitamin preparations indiscriminately. Rely on expert advice.

The Advantages of Using Southern States

PRO-MO

LIQUID PROTEIN SUPPLEMENT

Saves Money . . . Saves Muscle

★ Southern States PRO-MO Liquid Protein Supplement

Southern States PRO-MO is a liquid feed supplement providing 32% protein. It multiplies the value of home-grown grains and forages in aiding beef cattle, sheep and dairy cattle to produce meat, milk and wool more efficiently. In addition to protein, PRO-MO supplies vitamins, minerals and energy.

★ Reduces Work, Waste

PRO-MO is pumped directly from delivery truck to feeder. Or you can spray it right onto forages or grains. Animals self-feed. No spillage or spoilage. No bags to lift or haul. No grinding, mixing or blending. Self-feeders are simple and relatively low cost.

★ Protein Plus Palatability

The primary function of any feed supplement is to supply nutrients which farmers themselves do not produce in adequate amounts. The principal one is protein. PRO-MO supplies 32% protein, principally from liquid urea. This protein, along with the other nutrients in PRO-MO, is digested and assimilated efficiently. Molasses is used as the carrier. It represents the safest vehicle for feeding urea and overcomes the sometimes objectionable lack of palatability in high-urea feeds.

★ Bonus Nutrient Values

PRO-MO supplies a minimum of 1.5% phosphorus, more than most supplements supply. In addition to helping combat milk fever and keeping production high in dairy cows, PRO-MO's source of phosphorus, phosphoric acid, promotes free flow in cold weather and reduces insect attraction in summer.
Unlike most liquid feeds, PRO-MO contains enough Vitamin A, D and E to meet highest daily recommendations for livestock — 20,000 units of Vitamin A, 20,000 units of Vitamin D and 20 units of Vitamin E. Vitamin A is retained for at least 3 months.
PRO-MO contains trace minerals but free choice feeding of salt and Livestock Mineral Supplement is recommended.

★ Balances Protein

PRO-MO balances the low protein intake associated with the feeding of corn silage and low quality hay. Research studies have shown that urea feeding improves the digestibility of forages. This means more nutrients are available from each pound of forage fed.

★ Ingredients Locked In

Each ingredient in PRO-MO is completely dissolved and blended together by an exclusive patented process that insures stability and prevents separation. Years of research, both in laboratories and on farms, were required to develop the formula and the blending process. PRO-MO has been profit-tested on the farms of countless beef, sheep and dairy farmers in many states.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Soul Salvation According to the Bible

What is it? Who needs it? How can it be obtained? Will it make any difference in the way I live? How long will it last?

These are five very important questions and there is only one source, one book, that has the answers to all of them and, of course, that is the Holy Bible, God's eternal Word. The Bible teaches us that man has a soul, Gen. 2:7 and that "the soul that sinneth it shall die," Ezekiel 18:4 and 20. The Bible also teaches us that through the Sin and fall of Adam and Eve, the father and mother of the human race, sin entered into the world and death by sin; and so death passed upon all, for that all have sinned, Romans 5:12. Soul Salvation then is to have our Soul purged of Sin, redeemed from the penalty of Death. As to who needs it—the whole of the human race. "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Romans 3:23

It may be obtained by Repenting and being converted, Acts 3:19; then inviting Jesus Christ into your heart or Soul, Rev. 3:20.

It will surely make a difference in the way you live; II Cor. 5:17 says "Old things pass away," you will lose your desire to lie, cheat, steal, drink, cuss, smoke, tell dirty jokes or laugh at those who do. It will cause you to dress decently and treat your fellowman as you want him to treat you, etc. You may say, my church does not teach that these things are sin; maybe not but the Bible does and remember, I said in the beginning that I would answer these questions from the Bible. The angel in announcing the Birth of Jesus in Matt. 1:21, said He would save His People FROM their sin. Someone said if your religion does not change you, then change your religion. I concur.

How long will it last? For eternity, John 10:28 and I John 5:11-12. "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in His Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life." Yes, He saves from sin and saves to sonship and with this Sonship comes, peace, joy, and contentment. I know all of the above to be true for God's word declares it, and I have the experience as do millions of others and experience is never at the mercy of an argument. Friend, it is yours for the asking, try it; it works!

Bid items A and D will be awarded in a single contract and bidders who express an interest in the pipework portion of the project must submit bids for both bid items. Bid items B, C, E, and F may be bid singly or in any combination of bid items. The Town of Friendsville, however, reserves the right to award bid items A plus D, or B, C, E, and F as individual contract, or in any possible combination of contracts that it deems to be in its best interest, or to delete all work under bid items D, E, and F, or to reject all bids and readvertise.

The "Time For Work To Be Completed" will not be considered cumulative when multiple bid items are awarded to the same bidder but shall remain binding as designated for the respective bid item. The Contractor is therefore expected to employ the necessary crews and equipment required to meet the "Time For Work To Be Completed" assigned to any bid item.

Bidders must examine the contract drawings and specifications carefully and must make a personal examination of the location and nature of the proposed work. In case doubt shall arise as to the meaning or intent of anything of the contract drawings or comprised in the specifications, inquiry shall be made of the Owner in writing before the proposal is submitted. The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

To better insure fair competition and to permit a determination of the lowest bidder, unresponsive bids or bids obviously unbalanced, may be rejected by the Owner.

Information for bidders, proposal forms, specimen contract, contract drawings, standard and contract specifications, and other pertinent contract documents may be obtained at the office of the Engineer, Rummel, Klepper and Kahl, 1025 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202, between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M. daily except Saturday, Sunday, and Holidays. All work on this project shall be performed in accordance with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act and Copeland Anti-Kickback Act.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bidder's bond in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the amount of the proposal, but in no case less than $1000.00, made payable to the "Mayor and Council of Friendsville" and unless so accompanied will not be considered. The check or bidder's bond of the bidder to whom a contract is awarded will be forfeited to the "Mayor and Council of Friendsville" as liquidated damages in the event the contract and performance bond are not executed within ten (10) days after receiving the contract for execution.

All proposals must be submitted on the prepared forms, one of which must remain bound in the specifications. Proposals must be signed by the bidder with his name and address and must be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Project No. WPC-MD-180, Proposed Water and Wastewater Facilities, Friendsville, Maryland."

Proposals made in pencil and/or on any other than the prepared forms will not be considered. Changes in the phraseology of the Proposal, additions or limiting provisions will render the Proposal informal and may cause its rejection.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of ninety (90) days after the date of opening of bids.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to be bonded to the Mayor and Council of Friendsville, to the sum of one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount of his proposal according to the form of bond hereto attached. The bonding company shall be licensed to do business in Maryland. The bond will be subject to the approval of the Owner.

All right is hereby reserved by the Mayor and Council of Friendsville to reject any or all proposals and to waive informalities as the interest of the Town may require.

Dignity of Work . . .

There isn't a single honest job that is beneath the lignity of any man with self-respect. But the man who refuses a job, using the excuse that it is beneath him, demeans himself because he is proclaiming that he would rather live off the charity of men who work than carry his share.

This is the thought provided in an advertisement of Warner and Swasey, precision tool manufacturers, and they are so right.

Readers would be surprised at the thousands of successful men who started at any job, at any pay they could get. In many companies some of the most successful, the best machinists, engineers, and others, started out by sweeping the floor. There is a strong tendency these days, however, to sit back and draw relief. Washing dishes isn't demeaning; refusing the job to stay on relief, is.

The location according to authorities, is known as Lost Land Run in the Potomac Forest area, which is dense and isolated with the only access being a narrow dirt road. There are no homes in the vicinity.

Crime laboratory personnel from Frederick and the medical examiner from Allegany were among those assisting in the investigation. The skull area was also being closely examined for clues.

Mrs. Crosco had been missing since the day her husband reported that she had been kidnaped over 4 months ago. The kidnaping was denied by Mr. Crosco a day later and he was subsequently convicted of making a false report to police.

Crosco initially had told police that he and his wife were traveling on Route 560 toward Gormania when a car pulled up behind them, blinked its lights and blew the horn, signaling the Croscos to pull over. Crosco said he did pull over and the driver appeared with gun in hand to kidnap Mrs. Crosco. Crosco's corrected version, according to police, was that he and his wife had gone to a friend's home but that when Crosco decided to leave his wife refused to go. He in turn reported her kidnaped.

The sheriff's office had been continuing its investigation into Mrs. Crosco's absence and during a week or so after her disappearance, it was reported she had been seen several times throughout the county.

Ralph Burnett, assistant state's attorney, said last night that the investigation was continuing and the remains were still being held for further study.

Mrs. Crosco was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Leslie, of Hutton. Surviving are her parents, her husband, two children, Tammy Lynn and Robert Lee, Jr., at home; also three sisters, Mrs. Albert (Debbie) DeWitt, Jr., Mt. Lake Park; Mrs. Daily Lewis, of Oakland, and Mrs. Linda Mitchell, of Hummelstown, Pa.

New Features Added To Fair; Dates, Aug. 6-11

Interdenominational Vespers Again Scheduled—Handiwork To Be Displayed

Several new features have been arranged by officials of the seventeenth annual Garrett County fair, which will get underway next Monday, August 6, and continue until Saturday evening, August 11.

An interdenominational Vesper service again will officially open the festivities on Sunday evening, August 5 at 8 o'clock.

Homemaker demonstrations also have been arranged for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The farm queen contest will be staged on Tuesday evening, and following this there will be a musical concert by the Westminster College choir. The choir originally was scheduled to sing at the vesper service but there was a conflict in schedule.

The vesper service will include meditations by Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist church, Oakland, and devotions by Rev. John Grant, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal in Oakland and St. John's Episcopal in Deer Park.

Soloist will be Richard Ridder, a music student at West Virginia university, Morgantown. Miss Sheila Bickel will be organist and Mrs. John Reckner, Jr., pianist. Dr. Reuben Rodebeaver will be chorister. There will be a flute trio, Susan Eberly, Kathy Reckner and Robin Rodebeaver, accompanied by Susan Bender.

Demonstrations

Homemakers of the county will display various kinds of handiwork at a booth provided at the fair, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday they will have working demonstrations starting at 4 and 6 each day.

Thursday, 4 to 6 there will be quilting, and from 6 to 8, flower arrangement by Louise Dillon.

Friday, 4 to 6 there will be broomstick lace, Mrs. Ethel Bracken, and from 6 to 8, Christmas craft, with Darlene Woods. On Saturday, from 4 to 6 there will be Christmas craft by the Oakland club, and 6 to 8, quilting, Mrs. Freda S. Denison, extension agent, said volunteers were needed August 2 and 3 to help get ready for the

Seven Girls Will Represent County In Horse Judging

Rt. 495 Highway To Be Improved

A better state route 495 has been promised for next year. The inclusion of State route 495 in the fiscal 1974 program of the State Highway department has been announced.

John D. Bushby, district SHA engineer said that 23 miles of the road from Grantsville to Swanton would be widened, resurfaced and otherwise improved.

Persons traveling from Cumberland, traveling to Deep Creek Lake, will be able to take the National Freeway when it is finished to the interchange with state route 495 at Grantsville, and then the various points along the lake, including the Green Glade and Hazelhurst areas.

This will eliminate the necessity of traveling on U. S. route 220 and State route 135 to Westernport, and then up the five mile grade of Backbone mountain, from Bloomington.

The new route will be approximately the same distance to the Green Glade and Hazelhurst areas but the Freeway and State route 495 will provide faster and more improved highway.

2 Slightly Injured In Minor Accidents

Two persons were slightly injured in different minor accidents last week at opposite ends of the county. There were no injuries in nine other minor mishaps.

Helen Mae Hershberger, a passenger in the car driven by Kenneth D. Thomas, Friendsville, was slightly injured in a two-car accident on U. S. Route 219 at Mattingly Hill road last Saturday before noon. Thomas, northbound, had stopped to make a left turn onto Route 42. Mary Harper Helbig, Pennington Street, Oakland, failed to notice Thomas stopping and ran into the rear of his car. Tpr R C Georg charged Mary Helbig with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Michael Allen Wilson, 23, Dunkalk, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a one-car mishap on Boiling Spring road a half mile south of Garrett road the evening of July 23. He was traveling north when steering trouble caused him to lose control of the car which ran off the right shoulder and into a large tree. Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis investigated.

Roger Lee Bittinger, Swanton, was stopped prior to pulling onto U. S. Route 219 from Paugh's Service Station. Charles R. Richards, Beaver, Pa., in a small truck also on the service station parking lot, started backing to turn around and ran into the side of the Bittinger car. Tfc. Robert E. Friend charged Richards with improper backing.

Richard Dale Lytle, Swanton, was traveling east on State Rt. 135 just west of the CCC Camp road at noon Sunday. An unknown vehicle came up behind Lytle, passed him on a solid line, struck his left front fender as it cut back in continuing on without stopping. Tfc. Lewis investigated.

Harold E. Madigan, Deer Park, traveling west on State Route 135, gave the signal and started to make a left turn onto Deer Park road. Barbara Jean Bryon, Rowlesburg, W. Va. had started to pass Madigan. She applied her brakes but skidded into the left side of Madigan's car. Tfc. Friend charged Barbara Bryon with passing when unsafe to do so.

Karen E. Knellel, Pittsburgh, driving west on Glendale road just past noon July 21, stopped for traffic approaching from the right at State Park road. Chester F. Gaither, Sr., Star Route, Oakland, following the Knellel car, ran into it. The Gaither car caused about a 25-foot skid mark. Tfc. Lewis charged Gaither with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

David M. Turney, Mt. Lake Park, traveling north on U. S. Route 219 the evening of July 23, had stopped for a vehicle to make a left turn and was struck by a car driven by William E. Morton, Shelton, Conn. Tfc. Lewis charged Morton with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Charles M. Ratliff, Willoughby, Ontario, was traveling north on U. S. Route 219 about 2 a. m. July 22. Ralph A. Lucas, Kitzmiller, driving south crossed the center line of the road and struck the Ratliff car on the left side. Tpr Dale K. Williams charged Lucas with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Chester R. Baker, Baltimore and Thomas F. Spiker, Bradley Manor, Oakland, were traveling south on the Oakland-Sang Run road, near Mt. Nebo road, the morning of July 23. Baker had slowed down but Spiker driving a small truck following did not see and hit the Baker car in the rear. Tpr. J. E. Foley charged Spiker with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Anthony V. Herr, Jr., Forest Hill, was traveling east on the Sang Run road the afternoon of July 21. As he rounded a sharp curve he saw a stopped vehicle. He applied his brakes, ran off the left side of the road and into some trees. Tfc. Lewis made no charges.

BEALL JR.

Energy Initiatives

Our nation's energy crisis has been front page news for some time now, and its impact is being felt in just about every sector of our economy.

It is affecting daily lives in a score of ways, and solving it has become a top-priority concern among public officials and policymakers.

I began reporting on the energy problem last year, and one of the major shortcomings I mentioned at that time was our lack of an overall government agency to handle policy matters involving energy.

What has developed is a piecemeal arrangement of offices and agencies which sort of grew up as we developed various types of energy resources such as coal, oil, gas and atomic energy.

This piecemeal approach has become inadequate for a number of reasons. There have been fundamental changes in the use of our energy resources over the years, and there have also been changes in technology which raised questions and problems of their own.

The present crisis, which began with fuel oil shortages last year and now includes gasoline shortages as well, has led to the Senate passing a bill to insure a fair distribution of petroleum products.

But our needs go beyond this. What is required is a fundamental change in our approach to the energy problem, and I think we have seen a breakthrough in the energy message which President Nixon sent to the Congress last week.

I think it is important to point out that the President has recognized the extent to which we have come together in seeking ways to solve the energy crisis, but he has also seen that we need a national policy to direct our efforts in this very complex problem.

His proposal includes the creation of a new cabinet office to be known as the Department of Energy and Natural Resources.

It would take in most of the functions of the Department of Interior, and it would also absorb many other offices which deal with our energy resources and their development.

This will be a major realignment of the cabinet, and I would hope that the Congress moves quickly in its consideration of the legislation to establish this new office.

The President has also stated his intention to create an Energy Policy Office in the White House, to be headed by Gov. John Love of Colorado, who will be the Assistant to the President for Energy. Again, this move would consolidate several existing offices in the executive branch and put them under a single director.

A third initiative in the President's message is his proposal to set up an independent agency to plan our future utilization of energy: the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA).

Our shortage of oil and gas has made it apparent that the long-term answer to our energy needs will have to be found in the development of new forms of energy, and the President has asked for $10 billion for ERDA over the next five years.

For instance, we have ample supplies of coal, but it is bulky and impure. However, there are ways to convert coal into clean and efficient gas, but we have been slow in developing the technology to do it.

We must also increase our efforts in nuclear technology, in geothermal and hydroelectric production of energy, and in solar energy.

For the time being, however, we must rely on the energy resources that are available to us, and we must use them judiciously.

Distilled Spirits Tax Is Received

Baltimore City and Maryland's twenty-three counties have received slightly more in Fiscal year 1973 as their share of the State distilled spirits tax revenue than than in fiscal 1972, according to Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller.

Checks mailed representing their share of the tax revenue for the fourth and final quarter of fiscal 1973 amounted to $1,226,759.50. Total distribution for the year amounted to $4,948,241.50, an increase of 2.83 percent.

For the fourth quarter 7,272 gallons were delivered to Garrett county, amounting to $3,636 at 50 cents per gallon, a gain of .01 percent. The total for the fiscal year was 30,777 gallons, and $15,388.50, a gain of 4.77 percent.

College Choir's Final Concert Is Set For Saturday

Westminster Choir college will perform its final concert of the Garrett Community College summer concert series at the Community college in McHenry on Saturday, at 8:15.

The concert will feature music in a contemporary vein including selections from "Oklahoma," the Carpenters, Burt Bacharach and other contemporary and popular offerings.

One of the more interesting features of the concert will be a multitude of solos and ensemble pieces performed by individual members of the choir. Although this will be the final performance of the concert series the choir will continue to perform in the area through next Wednesday. Sunday evening in Uniontown, Tuesday evening for the college at the county fair at McHenry, following the Farm Queen contest, and Wednesday night in Cumberland.

Next week's program will feature the Princeton Arts Trio, Robert McIver, Karen McIver and John McLain. This trio of vocalists will present an evening of solos, duets and trios taken from favorite operas and Broadway shows.

"World" Rallies To Beat Maryland

The "World" was held to only one hit over the first eight innings but they won the game with two runs in the ninth inning when Larry Hott, who garnered both his team's only hits, singled home the winning run enroute to a 2-victory over Maryland in the Pen-Mar league's all-star game Sunday at Paw Paw.

Maryland was ahead by a run entering the ninth when Ronan walked and John Chaney and Bob Fisher got aboard on errors to load the bases. Fay Often was safe on a fielder's choice play with Ronan being thrown out at the plate.

But then Von Lehman drew a walk, forcing home Chaney with the tieing run and after Barkley struck out Hott lined a single to right field, chasing home Fisher with the game-ending run.

Hott was voted most valuable player.

Chaney, the fourth of four "World" pitchers, gained credit for the win over Wayne Johnson, the third of four Maryland hurlers.

Maryland rapped out seven hits including a double and two singles by Skip Crabtree.

State Is Still Opposing Forest Mining At Savage

Maryland Attorney General Francis B. Burch last Friday announced the state's opposition to the resumption of surface mining for coal in the Savage River state forest during the upcoming court proceedings which will be testing again the legality of mineral extraction by private enterprise from public lands.

Burch's reply came in response to a motion for temporary relief filed last week in which the Georges Creek Coal and Land Company and Buffalo Coal company asked the court for permission to retrieve coal from already disturbed lands during the proceedings.

The reply by the state is the latest pre-trial development in the suit brought against the State Department of Natural Resources following Burch's June interpretation of legislation shutting down the state forest mine on July 1.

In his reply to the motion for temporary relief, Burch recognized the coal firms' claim that three areas in the state forest had been disturbed and that the coal would be easily accessible for removal.

Burch stated, however, in the reply prepared by Warren K. Rich, special assistant attorney general, that his June ruling that strip mining in the forest must stop on July 1, superceded the motion, and any continuation of mining would violate the requirements of the state law enacted last year upon which he based his June opinion.

He also pointed out that the law also requires the reclamation of the shutdown mine, indicating that instead of resuming mining the companies should be reclaiming.

The coal companies had indicated in their motion for temporary relief that reclamation of the disturbed areas could be carried out while the mining was going on. They also stated that the total operation of retrieving the exposed coal by augering and stripping could be accomplished inside five months, with the value of the coal being subtracted from any settlement or compensation the state will be required to pay Georges Creek, owner of the mineral rights under that portion of the forest, regardless of the outcome of the court's final decision.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another venue to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is [illegible] for you to express your views on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information typical of the kind asked of me or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me:

Does Maryland operate a camping information office?

Yes. The Maryland Department of Forests and Parks operates 1,423 "improved" and "unimproved" campsites. These allow room for the parking of one car and a camping trailer or erection of a tent. For instant camping information you may write to the Maryland Park Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, 21401, or call (301) 768-0895. Be sure to ask for your free copy of its new brochure that outlines recreational pursuits at the 39 state parks and 10 state forests.

Where may I obtain a copy of the Federal Environmental Study Guide?

All Around You, an Environmental Study Guide" is published as a teacher's handbook by the Bureau of Land Management. Copies may be ordered for $1.50 from the Superintendent of Documents, 5801 Tabor Avenue, Philadelphia.

What is the U. S. paying to maintain its troops in Europe?

It is now costing over $7 billion a year to maintain a defensive force of 300,000 Americans in Europe. In this regard, I plan to support a proposal establishing a common NATO fund. Under this proposal no nation would suffer a deficit or enjoy a surplus in its balance of payments because of military deployments which benefit all of the members of the NATO family. Now is the time to apply pressure on our NATO allies to contribute more equally to the defense budget and troop reserve pools to alleviate our chronic balance-of-payments deficit.

I read where Black Lung claims are now handled by the Labor Department. Please comment.

The Department of Labor began to administer the Black Lung benefits program on July 1, 1973. The Social Security Administration will continue to have jurisdiction for certain types of claims. These include all claims which were filed prior to July 1, 1973, as well as claims by surviving dependents of deceased coal miners, not previously entitled and filed before January 1, 1974.

Our American Government class was recently discussing legislation and the terms "bill" and "act" were used interchangeably. However, isn't there a difference between these two terms?

"Bill" is the technical designation for a measure introduced in either House, and until it has been passed by that House. At that point it is reprinted as an act, that is an act of one branch of the Congress. The term "act" is, however, popularly used in referring to a measure which has been finally passed by both Houses and becomes law whether by approval of the President or by passage over his veto.

Gov. Mandel

Wayne Hamilton, chairman of the commissioners, served as master of ceremonies. Louis Goldstein, state comptroller was also present. The Westminster college choir presented some special choral numbers.

The governor planned to meet with the county commissioners following the breakfast to discuss county problems. The Governor and his party had arrived in Garrett county earlier in the week and held a breakfast at the Wisp yesterday morning.

At 11 a. m. Gov. Mandel was scheduled to deliver the principal address at the dedication ceremonies of the Thomas B. Finan Memorial bridge on the National Freeway.

Following the dedication the governor's party was scheduled to go by motorcade to LaVale Plaza Shopping Center for a weekly drawing of the Maryland Lottery.

The governor and his party were then scheduled to travel to Frostburg State College on the unopened portion of the Freeway with a brief stop at the bridge crossing Vale Summit road. The bridge is the highest land bridge in the state. A tour of the campus and luncheon were scheduled, then later to meet with Allegany county officials at the court house in Cumberland. He was due to talk at the dedication of the Thomas B. Finan memorial in SS Peter and Paul cemetery. He was set to end his day by attending a picnic by the Democratic committee on the Knights of Columbus grounds.

Decree Allows

Hollaio Coal possessed a strip mining permit which authorized strip mining on state owned land, that the company had posted a performance bond for reclamation and a revegetation bond, to insure proper tion and revegetation of all disturbed areas, and that the company, in preparation for mining had benched and drilled approximately 7 acres of land and exposed some 2,000 feet of coal as indicated on the plan, and that removal of the coal would not adversely affect reclamation or revegetation processes, but would in fact allow the company to proceed with reclamation according to its normal procedure.

The decree would be valid for a period of six months from the date of the decree, and the mining operations of the 3 areas would be subject to the applicable laws of Maryland.

It was further ordered that the passage of the decree "shall not prejudice the rights of the action and any of the parties may move to amend this Decree upon the giving of reasonable notice to all other parties."

Judge Hamill took under advisement the request of the state for a change of venue from Garrett County to Anne Arundel county for trial of the suit filed by the coal companies.

A black bear, estimated to weigh around 300 pounds, was observed yesterday morning about 8:20 by Frank Kelly, in the Red Oak section of the county south of Table Rock.

He got a potaroid shot of the bear but it was too sunlight for reproduction, but it shows the bear in the front yard of Mr. Kelly's home. Mr. Kelly said this was the first time he had seen the bear although his presence had been known for some time. He was upsetting garbage cans and otherwise nosing around for food.

Two Have Milk Cons Stolen Early Todov

Two Oakland area dairy farmers went to their milk coolers this morning only to discover that someone had been there first.

Eugene Matthews, Underwood Road reported that an eight gallon milk can full of milk was missing and Walt Peterson had had a 10-gallon can of milk stolen.

The matter was to be turned over to the sheriffs department for investigation, according to Mr. Matthews.

Passing Judgment

Sometimes it is difficult to determine what basis, or foundation, is used by certain editorialists, who like to pass judgment on others.

Currently the anonymous editorial writers employed by the New York Times are not only castigating the President of the United States because of Watergate in the most vehement terms, but are picturing Mr. Nixon as something of a cross between Dracula and Frankenstein.

The Times is making it "perfectly clear" that in its judgment, Mr. Nixon is very, very bad.

Contrast this, however, with the death of Pable Picasso. On this event and individual, the Times also chose to pass editorial judgment. And what about this person? Well, Mr. Picasso was not only acclaimed as an expert artist (an opinion which is open to question) "He was a man of conscience . . . he will always have a place among those who resisted the death-dealing forces of his time."

For some strange reason, the Times failed to mention that Picasso was officially and openly a Communist, having joined the French Communist Party in 1944. Said Picasso: "I have found there (in Soviet apparatus) all those whom I esteem the most . . . I am once more among my brothers." And the year 1944 was at a time when Stalin was at the height of power, building his reputation as history's most bloodthirsty killer. Not only did hundreds of thousands of non-communists and anti-communists die, but thousands of "good" communists were also exterminated.

Picasso's entire career was spent in communists than anybody else. Thousands were shipped in cattle cars to distant places, there to die if they were not delivered dead on arrival. Hundreds of concentration camps were filled to overflowing. Historians can find no comparable period in world history to match the degree of suffering inflicted upon the victims of Stalinist Communism. Yet not once did the New York Times "man of conscience" utter the slightest protest against communism, the greatest death-dealing force of our time or any time.

What sort of yardstick does the Times use that would explain this incredible difference in standards of judgment between a Communist "artist" and a Quaker President? —U. S. Press Association.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"We know that with power goes responsibility. We are neither boastful of our power, nor apologetic about it. We recognize that it exists; and that as well as conferring certain advantages, it also imposes upon us certain obligations.

"The people of the world, wherever they are, want peace. And those of us who have the responsibilities for leadership in the world have an overwhelming world mandate from the people of the nations we represent to bring peace, to keep the peace, and to build the peace.

"The spirit of Apollo gave us a brief, glittering glimpse of how far we can stretch. Thousands of minds, thousands of hands, all were marshalled in selfless dedication in achieving a great human dream—and the dream came true.

"These visits (to China and the USSR) will help to fulfill the promise I made in my Inaugural address when I said 'that during this administration our lines of communication will be open,' so that we can help create 'an open world—open to ideas, open to the exchange of goods and people, a world in which no people, great or small, will live in angry isolation.' It is in this spirit that I will undertake these journeys.

"For its part, government will listen. We will strive to listen in new ways—to the voices of quiet anguish, the voices that speak without words, the voices of the heart—to the injured voices, the anxious voices, the voices that have despaired of being heard.

"Those who have been left out, we will try to bring in. Those left behind, we will help to catch up. For all of our people, we will set as our goal the decent order that makes progress possible and our lives secure.

"As we reach toward our hopes, our task is to build on what has gone before—not turning away from the old, but turning toward the new."

Northern Rescue Squad Tests Driving Skills

Members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad had an opportunity to test their driving skills through a course conducted by Trooper First Class Carl Skidmore, Troopers Ron Georg and David Miller, of the Maryland State Police.

Purpose of the test was to familiarize the squad with vehicle maneuverability. The ambulances used were the half-ton International and Pontiac; two of the three vehicles used by the Rescue Squad.

Mrs. Iva Skidmore and Tom Galica also participated in the test.

Capitol Comment

Moving Toward the Bicentennial

Our celebration of the Fourth of July this year meant more than the observance of the country's 197th birthday. It meant that there are just three years to go to our commemoration of the Nation's 200th birthday—the bicentennial.

As sponsor of the legislation that created the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, and as one of four members of the Senate who serve on it, I am hopeful that the 200th birthday will be observed with appropriate national attention, despite disappointments in the progress of the Commission's planning to date.

Personnel failures have been at the root of the Commission's problems. From its organization, through a change in national Administration, the Commission has lacked leadership. Several short-term chairmen have come and gone and the Commission has been without a strong executive director and competent long-range staff.

When we first introduced legislation to establish the Bicentennial Commission, we anticipated that with several planning years ahead, a Commission broadly chosen from the American public could think about the philosophical and practical questions of the bicentennial and could lay careful plans to bring about a meaningful commemoration. Unfortunately, that has not been the case.

The Administration's proposal to reorganize the Commission is something of a last-gasp effort. We are throwing out a lifeline to try to rescue whatever can be salvaged from the wreck of the national bicentennial program.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, on which I serve, is holding hearings this summer on the bicentennial. One of the things we will do is focus on the need of the states to obtain at least some seed money from the national Bicentennial Commission to stimulate their own efforts, with the hope that they can plan meaningful observances at the state and local levels. We already know that states and localities across the country—including Maryland—are hard at work on bicentennial planning, even without firm national direction. It is important to keep those state and local programs moving.

The bicentennial should not be limited to bellringing and bonfires. It should be a time to explore the past two centuries and reclaim, in all their fullness, all the depth of emotion, the anguish and the ideals that went into the founding of the nation.

The American Revolution was a grass-roots movement. It rose from the people. I think the bicentennial may do the same thing.

Shelter And Group Homes Sought For Children In Need

Under a new state law, all categories of children judged to be in need of supervision cannot be placed in training schools or held in the county jail, according to Wayne Wilt, director of the Department of Juvenile Services in this county.

Once the law becomes effective on January 1, 1974, such children will be placed in shelter homes, which will provide temporary care of children pending court disposition of their cases.

Before this ruling goes into effect, the Department of Juvenile Services is seeking people interested in providing shelter homes for temporary care of such children.

These children are not delinquents, stresses Mr. Wilt, and need not be placed in physically restricting surroundings.

Persons operating a shelter home will care for a child or children judged by the court to be in need of supervision for such minor offenses as running away, being ungovernable, truancy, or consumption of alcohol, until the child can be placed in either a foster home or in a group home, Mr. Wilt noted.

These children, for one reason or another, cannot be returned to their homes for probation.

Persons operating such a home may also be asked to provide a home for a youngster prior to his trial, for shelter home services, the department of Juvenile Services will pay $10 a day for each child, up to 30 days. After 30 days, a contract would be signed between the home and the department for $200 a month.

Such shelter homes will be operated along the lines governing foster homes,-but need only be approved by the department, not licensed. Children through 17 years of age will be placed in these homes.

Such homes are becoming necessary since the new law forbids those under 18 being housed in a county jail, even overnight, after January 1.

The state law has changed several times regarding juveniles and crimes since 1969. Prior to that time, all offenses committed by those under 18 were considered delinquency cases. In 1969, the law was changed to define a delinquent as a child who has committed an offense which would be a crime if he were over 18.

Group Homes Also Needed

Because children who are found in need of supervision will not be committed to training institutions, there must be a place set up for them, away from their home environment, until released by the court, added Mr. Wilt.

Group homes, as such places are called, must be licensed, and have a hired social worker and qualified psychological help available.

Snch homes may house up to 12 children, and will receive $400 per child each month, plus a clothing allowance.

Anyone interested in providing either a group or a shelter home is requested to contact Mr. Wilt, director of the Department of Juvenile Services, at his office in the court house.

Cow Rustler To Be Tried In Cir. Court

Morris D. Warnick, Grantsville, charged with larceny of a cow, is free on bail pending a trial in Circuit Court.

A hearing was held in District Court last Friday at which time the charge of larceny was noted and also an additional charge of unauthorized use of the cow.

No date has been set for the trial.

The registered Holstein cow is the property of Ezra Yoder and is valued at $800.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our two loved ones, Our mother, Ruth Riggleman, who would have had a birthday July 10. She left us 20 years ago. Sister, Shirley Tasker, left us one year ago in April. Her birthday would have been August 3.
Here's a special birthday greeting.
Sent to two people that we love.
These two people now reside with Jesus up above.
First there was mother, she left us long ago.
The years now total 20, but we still miss her so.
Last year we lost our sister,
The pain is still so hard to bear.
If only we could tell them, how much we all still cared.
We know that they are waiting
When our days down here are o'er.
We'll join mother and sister,
On that happy, peaceful shore.

The Clean Air Dilemma

Within the past few weeks, people in this area have suffered through several air pollution alerts, and these conditions have certainly proven the point that we need clean air.

For a long time we have been content to wait for the dirty air to blow away, but with the passage of the 1970 Clean Air Act, our nation finally began to make some headway against pollution.

Technology is being developed to reduce industrial air pollution, for example, but we are still a long way from finishing the job.

The automobile, however, has presented us with problems that are much more difficult to solve, and the extent of these problems was made strikingly clear this month by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Under the Clean Air Act, the states were required to submit plans to EPA for meeting certain air quality standards by 1975 or 1977. What came back from EPA was a real shock for a number of states, including Maryland.

In the greater Baltimore area, for instance, EPA found that mass transit would have to be upgraded, auto exhaust systems would have to be improved, parking areas would have to be limited, and two-thirds of the gasoline supply would have to be rationed in order to meet the clean air standards.

In the Washington area, it was again found that emission controls, parking restrictions and improved mass tranit would be needed to meet the standards of the 1970 Clean Air Act.

EPA made it clear that it was only spelling out the things that would have to be done in order to comply with the letter of the law.

However, I said at that time and I still believe that these solutions are neither technically feasible nor socially or economically acceptable.

The fact is that until our cities develop efficient mass transit systems, we just cannot ban the use of automobiles for people going to or from work.

What's more, whether by car pools and restricted parking, or even new and unproven emission control devices, the problem just isn't going to be solved overnight.

Before it sounds like we are at the end of the rope, however, it should be pointed out that Congress is aware of this dilemma, and steps are being taken to resolve it.

When the Clean Air Act was passed in 1970, it was realized that we were charting a course that might not be entirely possible to follow.

With the announcement of the air quality standards by EPA this month, we are now prepared to investigate the feasibility of the standards and look for alternatives where meeting them is impossible.

In the weeks ahead, EPA will be conducting hearings in the affected areas, including Maryland. The National Academy of Sciences also has been asked to conduct a study and present recommendations to Congress. We should see some firm proposals by October.

There is no question in the mind of anyone in Congress that we must continue our national effort to improve the quality of our environment.

Since the passage of the Clean Air Act, we have been able to get a far better grasp on the situation we are facing. Now it is incumbent on all of us to keep an open mind and seek a reconciliation among our health, environmental and economic needs while achieving the goal of clean air.

Weather Slows Tennis Tourney; Big Entry List

Some Early Rounds Played On Courts of Alpine Lake, Terra Alta, and Starlite Motel

Rainy weather yesterday morning slowed the 52nd annual tennis tournament for the Western Maryland championship, but prospects were bright for the best tournament of the past several years with over one hundred entries in the various events. There were twice as many entrants in the women's singles events as in former years.

Some early round matches were played on courts at Alpine Lake, near Terra Alta, and on the macadam court at Star-Lite motel, at the north edge of Oakland.

To Present Trophies

U. S. Senator Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, who played in the first Western Maryland Tennis championships in 1921, will be at Mt. Lake Park on August 4 and 5 to present trophies to this year's winners.

Senator Randolph recalled that he brought Robert N. "Red" Brown, of Elkins, W. Va., to earlier tournaments. The former athlete at Davis and Elkins college and former West Virginia university athletic director, is participating again this year. He won the singles title in 1938.

Seeded players in the men's singles matches were John Williams, Charleston, No. 1; Buck Atherton, of Charleston and Washington, No. 2; John McNair, Chevy Chase and playing out of the University of North Carolina, No. 3; J. T. Harrison, pro at Bedford Springs, No. 4, John Myers, Chevy Chase, winner in 1951 No. 5, John Hammond, of Kentucky, No. 6; Bruce McNair, No. 7; and Bob Jenner, of Pittsburgh, No. 8.

Some of the players in the women's singles will be Nancy Dest, who just won the Baltimore Sunpapers tourney; Mary Ann Pinkerton, 7th in North Carolina; and Martha Eaton, Pittsburgh last year's winner.

Among those here for the senior men's singles will be Dovie Royal, Mickey Pardew, Henry Foss, Larry Middlekamp, Robert "Red" Brown and Phil Neff.

Chessie System Tries New Angle

Three officials of the Chessie railroad system have been in the area this week, visiting business men concerning a new plan to take railroad service to the customer instead of having the customer come to the railroad.

Providing this service will be a traveling agent who will be responsible to business men in Kingwood, Tunnelton, Rowlesburg, Terra Alta, and Oakland. He will be available to patrons on a regular basis and will be working in the railroad office in Kingwood.

The travel agency will consist of the one agent, traveling to the sidings and industries located at the stations under his jurisdiction and the control agent.

The control station agent will remain at the control station and will be available for telephone or in person contact by patrons, the traveling agent and other railroad employes and offices. The travel agent will visit the patrons to prepare, execute and pick up bills of lading, prepare waybills when necessary, make tract checks, made damage inspections, collect charges from non-credit patrons, take orders for empty cars, etc.

This traveling or mobile agent concept was inaugurated on the Chesapeake and Ohio and has been tried successfully in Ohio and Michigan and is now being established in Maryland and West Virginia.

Before the week is over it is their intention to have visited all customers in the area, in addition to some possible new ones.

By Accident

Amish Road and its meeting way, the Dung Hill Road, are a back-country way from Laughlin to Route 219, a never less than exciting path for color awe. Spring brings light green in rhododendron and tiny furrows of snow lingering in the road. Autumn contrasts red rags of sumac with yellows and purples of weeds and maple; the plantations of Savage River State Forest lend verdure at any time as they roll over the hills.

You cannot neglect the small cascades in Bear Creek, running lonely but happily along your way. And suddenly looming there is the antique mill from the Kaese family, built in 1868 but extending its first century into our time, where the genteel former Miss Kaese graces the premises.

Adventure is given to the seeker who turns south on Route 219, for there the stockyard buildings and the Brethren Church spire introduce him to the town of an unbelievable name, Accident. On the other end of town stands a spacious barn, ornamented with five louvered cupolas, each with a lightning rod, a photogenic rarity discovered at different times by Aubrey Bodine and the writer.

Accident's name, which many Marylanders may not believe, stems from two surveys by different parties. In 1774, before the western lands were taken from the reserve, a 682 plot was surveyed. After the Revolution, Francis Deakins was appointed land agent by the governor to survey fifty acre plots in this same area, as the land was made available to war veterans. The plotted land at Accident turned out to have almost the same boundaries as the first survey, the lines being in proximity by accident.

When the town was younger, in the 1890's, there was a brick industry there, due to deposits of fire clay. The town's English Lutheran Church displays these products. Two tanneries, run by Hinebaugh and Richter, have existed here. Perhaps the most romantic of all was the "Melky Miller Rye Whiskey," for this distillery, as described by Mrs. Benjamin O. Aiken, was a large enterprise, operated from 1875 to 1919, when the Volstead Act enforced prohibition.

Gas wells are now on the skyline near town, but in the fields are beautiful crops which speak of industry. Not too many years ago some of the first contour farming, which was a new concept in land cultivation, at the Schlossnagle farm on the east side of the village, proclaimed in greens, yellows, and beiges on the hill slopes a victory of planning and German skill with soil.

A white house reposing quietly by the highway recalls a lady who gave her good Brethren example as a witness in teaching. The former Kathryn Speicher, in her individualistic approach to the challenges of life, looked out upon the snow and spring for thousands of days in Accident, perhaps wondering at times how she would make it to Grantsville for a day of classes. But Garrett County training does it, and she arrived to inspire good English and better citizenship for ensuing years.

Memories of Accident recall the patient genial wit of George W. Weitzell, who moved from New Germany to the shaded green house on the south side of Accident. You now see a car wash and cleared landscape where once his spruces grew. He gave this writer the benefit of his knowledge of early days in the New Germany valleys, describing how he rode the horse over the hill to have corn ground. Later, at his house sale, a little pine desk, inscribed by his father, was sold, making me disturbed, but I like to think of him as he enjoyed a joke on a local lazy man or related the story of his father finding land with a spring when he settled in Maryland.

Accident is clean and groomed; its people have records of pioneer quality and sturdy energy. That the area survives with these attributes is surely due to the wholesome background of its forefathers and their descendants, not just by accident. —Tamarack

The Freeze Hurts the Farmer

The agricultural sector of our economy has been the source of some good news and some bad news, too, in recent weeks.

On the brighter side of the ledger has been the latest 1973 crop forecast by the Department of Agriculture. It appears at this time that 1973 could be a record year for corn, wheat and soybean harvests.

This comes as good news, of course, because it means that our farmers will realize a good income from the sale of their crops, and the American consumer can look forward to an abundant supply of basic foods—and this in turn should help bring the price of many other foods into line.

Corn and soybeans, for example, are important feed grains for our poultry and livestock industry, and a good harvest of these grains would stimulate an increase in meat production.

These forecasts depend on a continuation of good weather in our farm belt, however, so we should be cautious, in the literal sense, about counting our chickens too soon.

At the present time, we also are faced with the bad news that the 60-day price freeze just isn't working insofar as it affects our farmers and food processors.

The price freeze may appear to help by clamping the lid on the retail price of our groceries, but it is actually having an adverse effect on food processors and eventually on the farmers, too.

By imposing the price freeze just as harvesting began, processors found themselves having to pay this year's prices for labor and raw food products, while receiving last year's prices from wholesalers and distributors who take the processed food to markets.

Canning companies and packers are literally walking a tightrope between profit or loss right now, and this is hurting the consumer. Some processors, for instance, have reacted by storing their products with the idea of receiving higher prices when the freeze is lifted, while other processors have decided it just isn't worth it and have gone out of business.

The same is true in the meat and poultry industries, where the cost of feed grains has gone up. The farmer, therefore, has to charge more for his livestock, but the packing houses can't pay it as long as they are unable to receive a higher price in the supermarket.

The result is that some packing houses are curtailing their operations, and farmers are keeping their livestock instead of sending it to market.

In the case of our poultry industry in Maryland, it has meant the slaughter of thousands of young chicks because the cost of raising them would be more than the price paid for them.

Well, none of this makes any sense, and I think our agriculture industry is too important to allow these things to continue.

I have therefore joined with a number of my colleagues in the Senate and notified President Nixon that we believe that increased agricultural costs must be allowed to pass through the 60-day freeze on prices.

Unless we act now to remove these artificial restrictions on farm prices, we will be creating shortages and causing an artificial situation that will only lead to higher food prices.

I was heartened by news reports in the past week which indicated that the President may be preparing to overhaul the current price freeze. With our harvests just beginning, I hope there will be a prompt remedy for agricultural industry.

4-H'ers Plan Active Fair Participation

County 4-H members are busy this week putting the finishing touches on their fair entries for next week's judging, according to Miss Alice E. Hevner, county extension agent for 4-H and Youth.

Those with animal projects, which include dairy, livestock, sheep, swine, horses, ponies, rabbits and poultry will be competing on various days for ribbons and premiums.

In the 4-H building itself, there will be various club booths, along with displays of baked goods, clothing, handicrafts, vegetables, candies, canned goods, flowers, shop and woodworking exhibits. These will be judged on Wednesday morning.

Special activities include the County 4-H Style Revue on Friday evening, beginning at 7 p. m. Forty outfits sewn by 4-H members will be modeled with the top senior winners from this county invited to the State Revue on September 2 at the Maryland state fair.

Another attraction to many is the annual 4-H and FFA Baby Beef sale on Saturday evening, beginning at 8 p. m.

Club members are also preparing float exhibits for the annual Farmers' Parade on Thursday evening, and are practicing judging in areas of home economics, livestock, horticulture and dairy in preparation for state fair activities.

Throughout the week the entries and participation of county youth are recorded and then tallied as the basis for the Rotary Award presented annually by the Oakland Rotary Club to the youth accumulating the most points.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias

Credit for Women

Guaranteeing the economic rights of women is an area of legislation that has too long been ignored. The Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, recently sought to correct that by proposing legislation prohibiting discrimination in credit transactions on the basis of sex or marital status. The Committee's action has my strong support.

The Committee substantiated the findings of the National Commission on Consumer Finance, which held hearings last summer on the question of unfair credit practices for women. Hearings before both groups established that women experience substantial discrimination in applying for credit.

Among the findings are:

- Single women have more trouble obtaining credit than single men.
- Creditors often are unwilling to extend credit to a married woman in her own name.
- Creditors usually require a single woman who has been extended credit to reapply for credit, usually in her husband's name, when she marries. Men generally do not have to reapply.
- Women who are divorced or widowed encounter difficulties re-establishing credit.

These are startling facts. The inequities are glaring, and the hardships faced by women are entirely unjustified.

We are living in a credit society. The vast majority of our population must secure a loan to finance a new car, a new home, and most other major purchases. To discriminate against women in applications for retail credit, mortgages, bank loans is not only unfair, but harmful to our economy and our family life.

The Commission and the Committee determined that many of the bases for discrimination against women by creditors are totally unfounded. Today women are no less likely than men to remain employed over extended periods of time, and there is virtually no sound reason why women should be underrated as credit risks. The economic status of women has changed considerably over the past two decades. It follows, then, that women should be entitled to the same credit benefits as men when they meet the same criteria.

The provisions of Title III of the Truth-in-Lending Act Amendments seek to end discrimination based on sex or marital status in connection with credit transactions. This measure does not dictate to lending institutions the terms upon which credit may be granted. Rather, the bill is designed to ensure that credit applications are treated individually on the basis of the merits of the applicant. Creditors are free to determine standards by which to judge such applicants.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Republican
Attn.: Editor
Oakland, Maryland 21550
Dear Editor:

I read the letter to the editor concerning Red China. I agree with them wholeheartedly.

Why should we allow the Chinese Communist to come into our country with diplomatic immunity and bring opium and heroin in their diplomatic ponches. All you parents and grandparents who have children growing up in the United States should be very concerned with the red Chinese loose in America to deliver their greatest money crop, namely opium and heroin, which will be directed at our youth.

Since the Red Chinese are coming into America and there seems like little can be done, let us try at least to have them come under the custom law. If there are any drugs they will be refused entry. Please, as American citizens, let your senators and congressmen know of your concern and maybe by the grace of God our children will be spared a forthcoming tragedy, that of drug addiction.

Sincerely ynurs,
Jesse P. Skipper

MORE THAN HAPPY with the results from their tomato plants this year is Mrs. Ervin Shreve, of Route 1, Germania, who is standing beside one of the larger plants. The plant here is taller than Mrs. Shreve, who is slightly over five feet tall. Mrs. Shreve said that she had gotten many comments from passersby, one of whom asked if they were, by any chance, "tree tomatoes." She had obtained the plants from two Amish women, who raise plants from seeds they save each year.

Miss Perrine Is Wed To Mr. Crowe

St. Canillus Church, Silver Spring, was the setting for the June 9 Nuptial Mass for Miss Deborah Perrine and Donald Crowe.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Maurice O'Connell. Organist was Joseph Higgens.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Perrine, Wilmington, Del., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Crowe, Avilton.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown reminiscent of the Elizabethan era in silk organza fabric with a lace wedding ring collar. Alencon lace with seed pearls adorned the bodice of the gown and bishop sleeves. The cathedral veil was attached to the chapel train which was bordered with Alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow and orange daisies.

Mrs. Dennis Jones, Hongan, was matron of honor with Miss Denise Perrine and Miss Vickie Perrine sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids.

Wayne Robinson, Morgantown, W. Va., was best man and Nevin Crowe, and Kevin Crowe brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Accept Bid For Two Ambulances

The Garrett County Commissioners have accepted a bid for two ambulances from M and M Conaway Sales, Inc., for use by the Northern and Southern Garrett County Rescue squads, it was announced this week.

In other activities of the commissioners this week, they conferred this week with George Vaith of Vaith and Associates, in regard to the proposed renovation of the courthouse and the possible construction of an annex to the courthouse.

Tony Abar, of the State Department of National Resources, spoke with the commissioners on Monday regarding proposed safety regulations around and on Deep Creek Lake.

The commissioners plan to meet August 14 in Baltimore with the administrators of the Public School Construction program.

Proudfoot's

"Watergate Exposure"

on Oakland's Sidewalks, Aug. 3 & 4

Investigation is being conducted during the Oakland Sidewalk Sale Days at Proudfoot's Pharmacy for the alleged "coverup" of ridiculously low prices. Further charges have also been entered that the management is "buggy" in making such outstanding prices and then following through with them. "To the best of their recollection" this is the greatest offering of values in Proudfoot's history. Extreme caution has been exerted fearing some lines could be "tapped" and a "leak" could blow the whole sale wide-open. Proudfoot's assures their customers any such leaks are impossible and these values will be honored from the morning of August 3 until the evening of August 4, 1973.

Come, watch the investigation progress in the carnival-like atmosphere and value-laden sidewalks at Proudfoot's.

Two Minor Accidents Occur In Oakland

Thomas E. Archabeer Kent, traveling south on Fourth Street was making a left turn onto Alder Street. He was apparently reaching for something on the dash and ran into the rear of the parked car of Marilyn M. Leonard Bradley Manor, Oakland. The accident, investigated by Officer Harold E. Bram of the Oakland Police occurred July 23 about 2 p. m.

David O. Hoffman Terra Alta, W. Va., in a Jeep, headed east, had stopped for traffic. Frederick H. Thornton, Hazelton, W. Va., in a truck following was unable to stop and ran into the jeep. Police Chief Percy Lawton investigated.

Dr. Miltenberger Plans Keyser Concert Aug. 26

Power Company Offers Reward

Monongahela Power Company offered a $10,000 reward last week for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone vandalizing company property or interfering with company operations.

In addition to the vandalism of property the company said it would pay the reward for information leading to the arrest of anyone who threatens bodily injury or injures a company employe, employes of contractors working for the company or the families of both groups.

The company has been struck since May 14 by members of Local 2357, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in the Clarksburg area.

Union officials denied any involvement by their members in an electrical power blackout on July 24 which affected about 30,000 customers in southern Harrison county. A power company spokesman said the blackout occurred when a 23,000 volt transmission line was severed.

It was also pointed out that voters may change the status of their name from maiden to married, change of address from one district to another and change party affiliation at the same time.

Last April 26 Governor Marvin Mandel signed Senate Bill 645 now Chapter 91 of the Acts of 1973, whereby any person having reached his 17th birthday, who will be eighteen years of age on or before the next succeeding general or special election shall be entitled to vote at such election, and shall also be entitled to vote at the primary election preceding such general or special election if otherwise entitled to be registered as a qualified voter. Keyser Defeats Oakland Nine 10-2

Keyser moved to within two victories of the Pen-Mar baseball league title last Saturday by defeating Oakland 10 to 2.

John Chaney was the winning pitcher and fanned eight Oakland batters. Bob Finch was the loser giving up 17 hits.

The win lifted Keyser to a 15-2 record and maintained the league lead at two and one-half games. In losing Oakland dropped to 14-11 and may be out of the running for a playoff spot.

Faraway Places

I've never seen the Taj Mahal. Nor have I looked up at the Leaning Tower of Pisa, or out across the broad Sahara to the Pyramids and the Sphinx.

Most of my life, as a matter of fact, has been spent right here in my own town. Not because I don't want to travel. To visit these faraway places is one of my big desires—and, one day, I hope to do it.

But I know, deep in my heart, that even if I never leave my home town I'll have more to do than I can hope to accomplish. Because God is just as much here as he is anywhere. Our minister used that thought in his sermon last Sunday, and he told us how much there is for all of us to do in our own particular place—and how much remains undone!

If we'd bring just one other person to church with us on Sunday, we'd really be doing something, he told us. And, as I thought it over, I knew how true that was.

That's why I'm asking you.

WHEN GREED CONTROLS

Lesson for August 5, 1973

Background Scripture: Exodus 20:17; Ecclesiastes 5:10 through 6:2. Matthew 20:20-28; Luke 12:13-21; 1 Timothy 6:6-10.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 21:1-8.

Francis Xavier once said that as a priest he had heard thousands of confessions, but never a confession to the sin of covetousness. It seems to be the unmentionable sin for most people.

Perhaps one reason is that it is interpreted too narrowly by most. The literal meaning of the tenth commandment seems to put it within reach of everyone. When the tenth commandment tells us, "You shall not covet," does not this mean that we shall not desire for ourselves something that rightfully belongs to someone else? If so, few of us are ever consciously that greedy. We might desire to have a new car like our neighbor, but that doesn't mean we secretly would like to find a way of taking his away from him.

Rev. Althouse

Through the eyes of Jesus

Jesus, however, broadened this interpretation. He brought it down to a level where few of us can avoid stumbling over it. "Take heed," he said, "and beware of all covetousness; for a man's life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions" (Luke 12:15). Having said this, he went on to tell the story of a rich fool who sought to "lay up treasures" for himself. Covetousness, then, is more than desiring something belonging to another; it is also being ruled by a desire for things.

On the surface, the tenth commandment seemed intended to protect the property of one's neighbor. When we view it through the eyes of Jesus, however, we find that, like all the ten commandments, it is designed to protect me too. In this case it proposes to protect me from the destructive power of my own greed. When greed controls our lives, it tends to destroy us from within.

Whom do you trust?

There's nothing necessarily wrong with the desire to enjoy the things of this world, so long as that does not loom as the chief enjoyment of life. There's nothing wrong in the desire to "get ahead," so long as we do not look to finances for our ultimate security and true happiness.

Jesus put it clearly: "Instead, seek his kingdom, and these things shall be yours as well" (Luke 12:31). Only one thing should really control our lives; our commitment to God and his kingdom. When greed controls, there is no room for God in our lives. God is replaced by mammon, the religion of materialism. You cannot have or serve both.

Furthermore, greed also implies our mistrust of God. He has promised to supply all our needs. When we scratch and claw at material goods, therefore, it is like saying that we don't really trust God's promise or are not sure that he can really take care of our needs. Is there any greater insult to God than this?

When greed controls us, when material goods rule our lives, then we find the "cart pulling the horse."

THOUSANDS OF OPERATIONS PERFORMED EVERY DAY

The actual number of operations that are performed in this country every day is staggering to the imagination. Some of these are relatively minor and uncomplicated but a good many of them are of a major nature.

Convalescing from an operation whether it be in a hospital or at home has become increasingly more comfortable. Specific medicines and special aids have reduced the time necessary for recuperation to a minimum. We have a special convalescent aid department in our pharmacy. In it we carry a large selection of products that are frequently called for in post-operative situations.

Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetable

With the gardening season upon us, we need to be concerned about various methods of food preservation.

The question which is raised most often concerns the suitability and safety of using methods other than pressure canning. The answer to this is that for all low-acid vegetables the pressure canner method is the only one recommended as safe. Low-acid vegetables include all common garden varieties except tomatoes, rhubarb, sauerkraut and pickled products. Low-acid foods must be processed to 240 degrees F. in order to kill the organisms that cause food spoilage. They must be kept at that temperature for a specific length of time.

The organisms, bacteria, yeasts, and molds are always present in the air, soil, water and on all foods, and they must be completely destroyed or they will grow in the sealed jar. Some of the organisms cause spoilage that will make your stomach a little queasy and others can kill.

High acid foods, such as tomatoes, can be canned in an ordinary canner, where the water is boiling at 212 degrees F. for a specified time period.

Low-acid vegetables, peas, beans, cabbage, spinach and others must be heated to a temperature higher than that of boiling water (212 degrees). A pressure canner is the only way to get the water temperature up to 240 degrees F. Remember meat is a low acid food and requires the pressure method.

When you open a home-canned low-acid vegetable, boil the food 10-20 minutes before you ever taste it. If poisonous bacteria are present, tasting one bean could be fatal. Boiling kills the dangerous organism.

Cloudy liquid may be a sign of spoilage, but it may be caused by the minerals in hard water or by starch from overripe vegetables.

The addition of ¼ teaspoon of crystalline ascorbic acid (vitamin C) to a quart of fruit or vegetables before it is processed retards oxidation which is one cause of darkening of canned foods.

Additives cannot be relied on to prevent spoilage or to give satisfactory products. Adequate heat treatment is the only safe procedure.

Plan to bring some of your canned products to the Garrett County Fair August 7. Food exhibited must be canned or preserved since 1972 Fair. All canned products must be exhibited in standard pt. and qt. containers of clear colorless glass.

Review Of the Play

GETTING ON

The fifth play of the current season of the Garrett County Playhouse — the Blue Barn on Beckman's Peninsula — is the delightful English comedy, "Getting On," by Alan Bennett. This is a new play which was played successfully in London and starred Kenneth More. It is the story of a Member of Parliament and his family who finds it hard to accept the fact that he is 'getting on' with life. The title of the play tells much about the plot, and we shall leave it at that.

The great delight of the week is the appearance of Neil Flanagan, out of the veterans of Gene Yell's company of players, who has delighted local audiences for years. He plays his role of George Oliver, MP with great brilliance, and lives up to his reputation of the professional that he truly is. It is a thrill to see Neil back in action.

George Oliver's wife, Polly, is done beautifully by Mary Beth Bratcher. She complements the acting of Neil Flanagan to perfection. Each supports the other in their fine presentation.

And with the excellent performance of Milburn Mehlhop, another true professional, who takes the role of Brian Lowther, MP, how can 'Getting On' not be a success. He handles his position with George Oliver very delicately, and he, too, complements his counterpart.

Andy Oliver, George's son, and done with great dramatic effect by Patrick Moore, is a rebel against the 'system.' The dialogue between him and his father, emphasizing the generation gap, contains some of the most brilliant writing of the contemporary English stage.

John Bratcher, the lowly servant, who turns out to be the lover of Polly Oliver, turns in a very fine performance this week. Helen Padilla, the mother of Polly Oliver, and a sexy gal at that, was unfortunately playing again a background of a pretty rain on the roof of the theater on opening night. The audience had great difficulty hearing her. We feel that as the week progresses this problem will have been corrected.

This is a 'think' show, and one that is most enjoyable in all its subtleties. There are many classic lines throughout, but we must caution you to keep your ears tuned to the stage at all times. This reviewer highly recommends this presentation. Small children will find little comfort in it. But do go to the Blue Barn for the sheer joy of seeing beautiful acting. Ken Hill has put together an excellent cast, and his fine hand shows throughout.

Meet The Staff

FRED SANDERS

Fred Sanders has been a member of our staff for nearly two and a half years. His first job was in the front end department where he worked as a packer. One year later he was shifted to the night stocking crew where he presently works.

Changing from packer to night stocker is quite a transition to make. As a packer, one is constantly busy greeting customers, making sure orders are properly bagged and loaded, and stocking front end supplies. Most of a packers eight hour day is exciting, with the ringing of cash registers and clanging of carts, there's never a dull moment. When a man changes from this atmosphere to an atmosphere of silence where he may be the only person in a 90 foot row, it's not an easy transition to make.

Fred has been doing a fine job for us as a stocker. He has shown us that he has the ability to become one of the best. Each evening it's his duty to open, price, and merchandise his row of groceries. He must order his product, making sure that he has enough to fill the shelves as well as supplying an ample back stock on his fast moving merchandise.

When Fred finishes his own row he assists his fellow workers in completing theirs. This type of teamwork makes it possible for us to have a completely stocked store each day. The night crew is the backbone of our operation at Foodland. We appreciate the efforts of employees like Fred who work together to make our store a smoother running operation.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

The Power of One Person
Paul Crumley, Pastor, Oak Park Church of the Brethren

"In a big world with several billion people, one person makes very little difference." This statement couldn't be more wrong. One person dedicated to a cause can make a tremendous difference.

All too often we are led to believe that bigness is all important. We have big cities, big schools, big armies, big bombs, big bombers, big business, and even big churches. However, God does not consider bigness to be nearly as important as we. He is more interested in the quality of our commitment than He is in the size of our commitment. He is more interested in our availability than He is our ability. He is more interested in the quality of our life than He is our name.

However, we should never assume that God loves smallness for smallness sake. When Jesus spoke of the smallness of the grain of mustard seed he was thinking of its potential. God does hold each of us responsible for the quality of all we do. He expects us to stand by the best we know even when it is unpopular.

One person standing firm on his best knowledge has often turned the tide of history. One United States senator voting "no" when Andrew Johnson was being impeached, kept Aaron Burr from being president of the United States. He made the decision and stood by it even though he was hounded, ridiculed, and was never able to win another election. We now know he was right.

Our man, Martin Luther, dared to stand by his convictions when both the government and the church were after him. He started out as an ordinary man, however, as he continued to stand for truth, he found the power and courage to become an extraordinary man.

Each of us is born with certain abilities. Too many times we overlook the small opportunities to be a reasonable person, because we assume smallness makes them unimportant.

One pumpkin seed may see itself as being unimportant until it realizes its potential for producing many seeds, many pumpkins, and many pumpkin pies.

Byron Cites U. S. Defense Costs In European Areas

Citing the dollar drain, Rep. Goodloe Byron pointed out that NATO allies must bear a more equal share of the financial burden if the U. S. continues to maintain an adequate defensive force in Europe.

Byron concurs with a House subcommittee recommendation to establish a common NATO fund. Under the proposal no nation would suffer a deficit or enjoy a surplus in its balance of payments because of military deployments which benefit all of the members of NATO jointly.

Byron noted it is costing over $7 billion a year to maintain a defensive force of 300,000 Americans in Europe and he feels pressure must be placed on NATO nations to contribute more equally to the defense budget and troop reserve pools to alleviate the chronic U. S. balance-of-payments deficit.

Byron also feels a need for the U. S. to restructure its forces in Europe to provide adequate strength at less cost.

Bauer HOME CENTERS

By The Dozen

At my ripe age of 5 or 6, it never entered my childish mind that the Broadwater Reunion was anything but the largest crowd of people I had ever seen. When we attended the gathering at Meadow Mountain, the proudest place for a meeting in those years, the effect was of surging tides of humans, each new wave bringing other topics for communication. In the sea of people, two acquaintances managed to compare status of living, number of children, place of employment, and new strains of illness, all referring to a year ago and its situation, for most of those attending were annual visitors.

According to the records, it was in 1807 that four Broadwater sons settled not far from Savage River, in the limits of Allegany County. One of their sons, Amos, settled on a high farm on Little Savage, his buildings in a very steep, tiny valley which is now facing High Rock Tower on the east. He reared his children by the dozen, never extending past the first dozen, and each second Sunday nf August their next generations still gather with pride of family to do honor to the founding father.

By 1909 the Cumberland Evening Times was reporting that the reunion's waves had reached 3,000, with a quarter mile long line of tables filled with country fare. This number had been reduced, but the Broadwaters continue flowing and have kept their loyalty. They stem from England, a hardly missed impression when the fair complexions, blue eyes, and light hair are evidenced in the crowd.

Since Broadwaters are musical, the reunion program has singings interspersed with softball games and horseshoes on the periphera. After several friendly greetings and some reminiscing, you just may get into an involved discussion and find yourself hanging onto one limb of this stalwart family tree, even though you had never suspected. Gradually you ooze into the spirit of the day, gaze high into the trees overhead, and wonder how many stories this clan would hold after hewing these forests and fencing the pastures.

During the course of the day, there is curiosity about who will receive mementos for being the newest married, the youngest child the family having the most children present, and the traveler coming the longest distance. Finally, the president will come to his homilies for the oldest man and oldest lady. It is an observation that these are usually the articulate ones, the closest to Broadwaters before, and they will recall some incident of tradition and speak on it being a pleasant day today. Mr. James Stevens, then living, once talked of his days near "the backwoods" and told a joke on Old Amos, who went to name his tract of land for deed recording and erroneously told the clerk, "Father, Son, and Holy Ghost" instead of "Father, Son, and Brothers."

Several copies of Amos' endeavor, a pamphlet delineating his recollections of early neighbors, are waiting to be sold, for it is a matter of family pride that such a timely history exists. You read and see the pioneer pluck emerging, as he tells of only one path leading to the National Road, yet the farmers in the valleys went about the raising of hogs and cattle, of growing subsistence crops and trading for only salt or occasionally for metal tools.

Amos' stone at the Mt. Lucas Methodist Church, New Germany, carries the data that he was 97 years old at death. According to Jonas, his grandson who survived to 101, his antecedent was eating pie on that December day in 1901 when he departed. It would appear that his strength has not dissipated, that it is still flowing into these young and younger celebrants.

I once knew a midwestern professor who admitted that his children had no specific home place or area to go to. They were citizens of the country at large, but the family farm had been sold and the next generation had scattered; they had lost identity with one particular locality. To my mind, the ordinary folks who keep these allegiances in one group are holding something substantial which is a part of American greatness.

Aurora Hi Youths Honored By F.F.A.

Brad Durst

Several members of the Aurora Chapter Future Farmers of America recently received honors while attending the 45th Annual State Convention held at Jackson's Mill, July 12-15.

Brad Durst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Durst, Amboy, won first place in the speech contest on the 13th. He will next enter a Tri-State Contest at Newark, Delaware on August 8. Brad is a 1973 graduate of Aurora High School. He plans to attend West Virginia University majoring in Agriculture Education. Brad was an active member of the Aurora FFA Chapter; and he held the offices of President, Vice-President, and Assistant Vice-President.

Bernard Ritchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ritchie of Eglon, won fourth place in the creed contest. Bernard was a member of the Bruceton FFA Chapter last year, and will be joining the Aurora Chapter this year.

Six chapter members were awarded the State Farmer Degree. They are: Rick Corbin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milnor Corbin, Horse Shoe Run; Ron Harsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Harsh, Eglon; Roger Mullenax, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mullenax, Horse Shoe Run; Stanley Harsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Harsh, Eglon; Gary Feather, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Feather, Eglon; Janet Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Knight, Amboy.

This is the first year in the history of the West Virginia FFA that a girl has been awarded the State Farmer Degree. Janet Knight of the Aurora Chapter and Dairee Jones of the Greenbrier Chapter were awarded the State Farmer Degree this year.

The State Farmer Degree is the highest degree that can be awarded by the State Association. Of the four degrees given in the National FFA the State Farmer Degree is the third highest. Only two percent of the state membership is eligible to receive the State Farmer Degree.

The Broadwaters who surround the island of Grantsville are probably not unique in their annual proclamation that "we are here together because we know we belong," but they do represent a segment of America that keeps its strength. The reunions in every section of the land undoubtedly reflect what MacKinlay Kantor depicts in a lady's thoughts to God at such a meeting of kin. "We try to respect and honor each other, to raise our children to be clean and industrious and able; to offer loyalty to our families, our communities, our county, and above all, to the United States. We thank Thee for thy blessings, and for the inheritance Thou hast awarded us." —Tamarack

Open Burning Is Restricted Under New Regulations

A provision of the Regulations Governing the Control of Air Pollution in Garrett County effective July 1, prohibits open burning within 200 feet of any neighboring habitable dwelling or place where people work or congregate.

Dr. William W. Pope, Garrett County Health Officer, stated that under the new restrictions virtually all open burning would be prohibited in urban areas of the county.

Any person contemplating a need to dispose of any material by burning must obtain a permit from the Garrett County Health Department. Open fires for cooking of food, recreational purposes, such as campfires, warming fires for outdoor workers provided they are 200 feet from neighboring habitable buildings and fires set in the course of agricultural operations are allowed without a permit providing no nuisance or air pollution is created and they conform with other government fire control ordinances. Also, in those areas where no provisions are made for collection of household refuse originating on the premises, burning by householders (but not commercial establishments) is permitted providing: materials are not burned which create dense smoke, and refuse shall not be burned within 200 feet of any neighboring habitable dwelling or place where people work or congregate.

All open burning by commercial establishments except that approved by a permit from the Health Department is prohibited. Any establishment presently burning refuse must take immediate action to find an alternative disposal procedure, either by installation of an approved incinerator or removal to an approved disposal site.

Garrett County is presently enjoying good air quality with only a few exceptions. The Garrett County Health Department, in cooperation with other regulatory agencies, is endeavoring to maintain this quality for the citizens and visitors of our county. However, citizen participation and cooperation is essential to reduce air pollution. An air monitoring station is maintained at the county airport.

Any person contemplating the need to burn for any purpose other than for those purposes stated above which do not require a permit, must obtain a permit to burn from the Garrett County Health Department, in cooperation with the Department of Forests and Parks, permits are only issued for extraordinary circumstances during the fire hazard seasons in the spring and fall. A permit may be obtained by applying at the Environmental Health Section, of the Garrett County Health Department, Dr. Pope concluded.

Court Throws Out Redistricting Law

A legislative redistricting plan adopted earlier this year was ruled invalid by the Maryland Court of Appeals on Tuesday.

The court tossed out the plan proposed by Gov. Marvin Mandel because it said, the governor did not conduct the public hearings required by law.

A six page order issued by the court Tuesday said however that the court would put the same plan into effect "unless cause to the contrary be shown." The order signed by Chief Judge Robert C. Murphy directed that public hearings be held on the governor's plan beginning September 10 and continue as long as required to hear all witnesses.

The hearings scheduled at the new Treasury Building in Annapolis will be presided over by Hall Hammond, former chief judge of the court, who has been appointed a special master to handle the reapportionment case.

List Blind Hole Winners

Blind hole winners were announced following 18 and 9 holes play on Tuesday at the Oakland Country club among women golfers.

Winners of the 18-hole group were Mary Lou Shaffer, 1st with 28; Helen Seaher, 2nd, with 33. Winners in the 9-hole group were Ronnie Huston, 1st, 18; and Ada Mae Welch, 2nd, with 19.

A Ladies Invitational tournament was announced for next Tuesday, August 7.

The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

To better insure fair competition and to permit a determination of the lowest bidder, unresponsive bids or bids obviously unbalanced, may be rejected by the Owner.

Information for bidders, proposal forms, specimen contract, contract drawings, standard and contract specifications, and other pertinent contract documents may be obtained at the office of the Engineer, Rummel, Klepper and Kahl, 1035 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202, between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M. daily except Saturday, Sunday, and Holidays. Contract documents are available upon the deposit of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per set, which is non-refundable. Checks shall be made payable to the "Mayor and Council of Friendsville."

NONDISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT

Bidders must comply with the President's Executive Order No. 11246 and submit with their initial bid a signed statement as to whether they have previously performed work subject to this Order or any previous Executive Order dealing with nondiscrimination in Federally assigned construction contracts. (11114 or 10925).

All work on this project shall be performed in accordance with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act and Copeland Anti-Kickback Act.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bidder's bond in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the amount of the proposal, but in no case less than $1000.00, made payable to the "Mayor and Council of Friendsville" and unless so accompanied will not be considered. The check or bidder's bond of the bidder to whom a contract is awarded will be forfeited to the "Mayor and Council of Friendsville" as liquidated damages in the event the contract and performance bond are not executed within ten (10) days after receiving the contract for execution.

All proposals must be submitted on the prepared forms, one of which must remain bound in the specifications. Proposals must be signed by the bidder with his name and address and must be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Project No. WPC-MD-180, Proposed Water and Wastewater Facilities, Friendsville, Maryland."

Proposals made in pencil and/or on any other than the prepared forms will not be considered. Changes in the phraseology of the Proposal, additions or limiting provisions will render the Proposal informal and may cause its rejection.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of ninety (90) days after the date of opening of bids.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to be bonded to the Mayor and Council of Friendsville, to the sum of one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount of his proposal according to the form of bond hereto attached. The bonding company shall be licensed to do business in Maryland. The bond will be subject to the approval of the Owner.

All right is hereby reserved by the Mayor and Council of Friendsville to reject any or all proposals and to waive informalities as the interest of the Town may require.

Karol O. Rush
Mayor of Friendsville

Nine Are Killed On State Highways

Nine persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week, according to 1st Sergeant James E. Harvey of the State Police. Seven of those killed were drivers and two were pedestrians. At least four of the deaths may have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in one death, speed in five and "driver error" in six.

The problems associated with highway traffic become more complex each day and the individual driver is part of this complexity. The driver who does not have his car under control, for whatever reason, creates a hazardous situation which extends beyond himself and engulfs other persons who use the highway. Unfortunately, innocent persons are victims of another persons error.

Persons killed through July 29 were 469 compared to 453 a year ago.

Planning Three County Schools

Three new Garrett County schools are in the design planning stage but none has yet been constructed since the state assumed responsibility July 1, 1971, for school construction.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, director of operational services for the Board of Education, estimated that between $7,800,000 and $8 million for school construction has been provided by the state in the last three fiscal years including the one which will not end until June 30, 1974.

Two schools were advanced in the design stage are the Broadford elementary school and the Southern Middle School, fourth through the eighth grades, which will be built on the same site in the Oakland area. Architect for both of these projects is the Silver Spring firm of Johannes and Murray.

The third school, plans for which are not as far advanced, is a new Friendsville elementary school. The architect for this job is Prentiss, Browne and Associates of Baltimore.

In addition three transportable buildings have been acquired from the state and will be ready for use in September, according to Dr. Ryscavage. They will be located at Northern and Southern high schools as well as the Dennett Road elementary school in Oakland, to ease overcrowded conditions.

Governor Marvin Mandel had focused attention on the Garrett County school construction picture in his brief off-the-cuff remarks at the breakfast meeting last Thursday in Oakland. He said then that in the three fiscal years beginning July 1, 1971, the state had provided about $3 million per year or $9 million total for school construction in Garrett county. This compared he said, with about $400,000 per year when the county had the responsibility of paying for school construction.

Most school officials in Maryland agree that more funds are being made available for school construction under the state program than before but they sometimes express frustration over some delays which they consider unnecessary because of the need for approval of each project by the state inter-agency committee on school construction.

New EMT Training Class Slated To Begin September 28

A new training class for Emergency Medical Technician-Ambulance is slated to get underway Tuesday, September 28, according to Robert B. Sincell, instructor.

The course will be held each Tuesday thereafter for 27 weeks, and will consist of 81 hours of lectures and intensive practical work, many of the lectures to be given by local physicians and surgeons.

It is being coordinated with the Garrett County Medical Society, State Health Department and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Registration forms may be obtained from Richard Cropp at Sharps Motor Co., Oakland. Enrollment is limited to 35 and will be determined on a first come, first served basis, as well as availability for duty with the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad upon completion of the course.

Hearing Of Record On Lake Plan Set August 18 at GCC

The Garrett County Planning Commission will be conducting a hearing of record on the proposed Deep Creek Lake Drainage Basin Land-use Plan on August 18, at 10:00 a. m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium at McHenry.

According to W. Marshall Rickert, County Planning Director, several information meetings have been conducted on Deep Creek Lake to present the draft plan for the lake area, and the Planning Commission has benefited from ideas discussed at these information meetings.

The entire County Plan will not be completed until October. However by conducting a hearing of record during the summer season the Planning Commission will be able to benefit from formal testimony submitted by property owners in the lake area who might not be able to attend the formal hearings scheduled for late October.

Mr. Rickert stated that the Planning Commission would be recording testimony on the plan during the hearing and would also appreciate any written comments which might be submitted at that time.

Public Hearing Is Held On Plan For Water And Sewage

The Board of Commissioners held a public hearing on the Revised Comprehensive Plan for Water and Sewage, on Monday, August 6.

Commissioner Wayne Hamilton said that Gerald G. Hinman, public health engineer, division of water and sewage, Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, had stated in a letter that the amendment "seems to have been well prepared."

Copies of this amendment which is an annual "update" to the amendment, were sent to the county sanitary and planning commissions the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, Inc., the Maryland State Department of Planning, and both the county and state health departments for comment. At the hearing there were few additional recommendations to the amendment. The amendment was adopted as presented.

In other action at the weekly meeting of the commissioners, Sheriff Jack Browning and Floyd Harper of Wes-Mar Communications and Electronics, Inc., presented a study for a two-way radio system for the sheriff's department. The commissioners indicated they were interested in a centralized communications system that could be used by fire, police health and forestry departments for the entire county.

The health board which is comprised of the county commissioners and Dr. Wm Pope, health officer, reviewed the past year's work of the health department and took a look at the upcoming year's programs.

Man Gets 4 Years On Rape Charge

James H. Harvey, found guilty of rape at a jury trial July 10, was sentenced to four years to the Maryland Penitentiary, last Friday.

He was found guilty on the first of three counts, that of rape. The second count of assault with attempted rape and third count, assault, were merged with the first. He pleaded not guilty at the jury trial beginning July 9, but the following day, July 10, the jury found him guilty.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., following the verdict. Judge Hamill handed down the sentence last Friday following the investigation. Harvey was then ordered delivered to the custody of the Commissioner of Correction at the Maryland Penitentiary for four years.

His wife, Donna Lee Harvey, guilty of charges stemming from the same incident, was placed on probation at a sentencing July 30.

New Certificates Being Offered By 1st National Bank

The Board of Directors of The First National Bank of Oakland announced today that the bank will begin issuing 48 month Certificates of Deposit at a new, higher interest rate of 7¼ percent per annum.

The new First National rate hike, which is now allowable under a recent Federal Reserve Board action, represents a new type of certificate, not marketed by the bank previously.

According to Courtney R. Tusing, President, the new certificates will be issued for a minimum deposit of $10,000.00 and a maximum of $50,000.00 in multiples of $1,000.00. They will be automatically renewable for an additional 48 month period unless the customer is notified to the contrary. He further commented that the bank would pay interest on the new certificates quarterly.

The announcement, which creates the new type of certificate, does not alter any of the other rates the bank pays on other savings deposits and certificates. Mr. Tusing said he wanted to make it clear that the bank was still paying rates as previously announced on other savings deposits and that the new rate was only applicable to the new certificate.

Draft Board Adm. Office Is Moved To Cumberland

As a result of the reversion of the Selective Service system to a standby operation with no inductions taking place the administrative site for local board No. 47 will be relocated at Cumberland, Maurice Brookhart, local board chairman, announced this week.

The move is to take place on August 27. Office hours for the new location will be from 8 to 4:30, Monday through Friday.

To eliminate the necessity for young men to travel to the new administrative site to register, Mr. Brookhart pointed out that registrars have been appointed in a number of communities who are located as follows:

Northern High school, Accident, National Guard Armory, Oakland; Garrett Community college, McHenry; First National Bank in Friendsville and Grantsville, Garrett National bank in Accident, Kitzmiller and Bloomington; Board of Education in Oakland, and Southern High school in Oakland.

Mr. Brookhart said that despite the relocation of the board's administrative site, the local board would continue to meet in Oakland.

Still Investigate Cause Of Death Of Mrs. Crosco

The investigation into the cause of death of Mrs. Kotchie Crosco, wife of Robert Lee Crosco, Sr. was still under way this week by the State Police, the State's Attorney's office and the Sheriff's office.

Results of the investigation up to the present time were not disclosed.

The badly decomposed body of Mrs. Crosco, mother of two young children, was discovered in a wooded area around Lost Land Run last Saturday afternoon after having been missing since March 25.

The area is dense and isolated with the only access being a narrow dirt road. There are no homes in the vicinity.

Crime laboratory personnel sent the remains to Baltimore for further study, and there have been no arrangements for any funeral service.

Vandals Damage Local Golf Course

Vandals, this time three teenagers, have damaged the greens at the Oakland Country club. This time it was number 16, which was old No. 7.

They were chased from the scene Tuesday evening after the women's tournament had been completed. The three had taken rakes and other tools and had dug into the greens.

On other occasions flags had been stolen.

Jim Kreyenbuhl, golf pro, said he and many of the members were getting quite irked with the vandalism. They say they know exactly who the boys are and if there is any further destruction they and their parents will be brought into court.

One member pointed out that the golf course contributed to the economy of the county, that residents enjoyed using the course and that the summer visitors participation is appreciated.

Traffic Counter Stolen On Monday From County Road

Another senseless theft of county roads property occurred either Monday or Monday night, according to Paul W. DeWitt, administrative engineer for the department. This time it was a traffic counter placed near the Savage river dam to obtain traffic information on the bridge in that area.

Mr. DeWitt pointed out that a bridge in that area needs immediate replacement and county officials are attempting to obtain some state help in the cost of the bridge. Information being gathered by the traffic counter was requested by state officials to support the county's position in asking for state participation. The missing traffic counter could delay the bridge because of the lack of this information, Mr. DeWitt said.

He reminded citizens that stealing from the county was really stealing from themselves because taxpayers pay the bills for the missing material.

Anyone having information regarding the counter was asked to contact the state police or the County Roads department.

A few weeks ago some person or persons stole a county tractor with a power broom and small blade along the Swanton road where some repair work was being done. The loss was estimated at $10,000, and a reward was offered for information leading to its recovery. It has never been located.

Crellin Man Is Seriously Injured Fri. Near Hutton

A Crellin man was seriously injured and two others were hospitalized following a two-vehicle wreck about three quarters of a mile east of Hutton late Friday evening.

Charles Edward Friend, 31, of Crellin, a passenger in the truck driven by Alvy James Alexander, Crellin, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital but soon transferred to University Medical Center, Morgantown, by the ambulance of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Friend was still listed in critical condition Monday.

Alvy James Alexander 25, Oakland, driver of the truck and Mrs. Evelyn K. Watson, 55, Mt. Lake Park, a passenger in the car driven by her husband, William Junior Watson, were both discharged from Garrett County Memorial Hospital Monday. Alexander was taken there following the accident by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and Mrs. Watson by a passerby. Mr. Watson was apparently not injured.

Alexander, driving east, apparently attempted to pass a vehicle ahead of him. After he started to pass the vehicle, he found he could not get back in the eastbound lane because of a motorcycle just ahead of the vehicle he had passed, which he did not see from the rear. Mr. Watson traveling west could not get out of the way of the truck and the two collided headon.

Oakland Is Host To Municipal League Tonight

Mayor H. D. Swartzentruber and members of Oakland City Council are hosting the Allegany-Garrett chapter of the Maryland Municipal League tonight at 7:30 at the K of P hall, on Third street.

Featured will be a discussion program of municipal problems.

Guests are to be Gerald A. Glanbitz, Morningside, League president, and his wife; and John W. Robinson, Annapolis, executive director, and his wife. This is the first spouse night dinner since the city became a member of the League Chapter, which was organized in 1971.

National Beef Disappearance Also Hits Here

Cases Empty Of Beef In All But One Local Market

Empty meat cases and meatless menus may be on the agenda for many for the next month or more, as Phase IV grinds on and the beef price freeze remains in effect.

Only one local market, Brodak's Super Dollar, had beef available this week. George Brodak, store manager, stated that right now he has plenty of ground chuck, and has so far been able to obtain some beef from Canada. He also has contracted with farmers locally to supply some beef.

His good luck is not being shared by other supermarkets and groceries in the Oakland area, however. Neither Browning's, Miller's, Martin's nor J and M has any beef in their meatcases, and the situation is not expected to improve until after mid-September.

According to Bob Davis, assistant meat department manager at Browning's Foodland, beef is being replaced in the cases by pork and chicken, both of which have gone up in price and are expected to raise again this week.

Martin's Store has no beef or pork this week, but supplies of chicken, lamb and cold cuts are ample.

Miller's Market has no beef cuts displayed this week, and Bill Naylor, proprietor of the store, says that supplies are so limited as to be practically nonexistent.

J and M sold the last of its beef Sunday, according to store manager Jim Sharpless. He was hopeful of getting a supply later this week, but could not be certain whether his regular suppliers could bring beef.

All the store managers were agreed that pork and chicken prices will continue to rise, with chicken costs rising nearly day to day until beef is again available.

So far no one has had to lay off meat department help, but this could change if the situation does not improve before

Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me

- Why do you support a reduction of U. S. troops in Europe?

It is now costing the U. S. over $7 billion a year to maintain a defensive force of 300,000 Americans in Europe and I feel pressure must be placed on NATO nations to contribute more equally to the defense budget and troop reserve pools to alleviate the dollar drain and chronic U. S. balance of payments deficit.

At the end of June, Congress enacted a measure to apportion states interim Federal-aid highway construction funds. What share did Maryland receive?

According to the Federal Highway Administration, Maryland received about $37 million for work on the Interstate Highway System and $6 million for work on the Federal-aid Primary and Secondary Systems.

Please explain the scope of the new ocean dumping legislation that was passed by Congress?

The Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 strictly regulates the dumping of materials into ocean waters which would affect human health or welfare and the marine environment or ecological systems. The law prohibits the transport of any material without a permit and permits are only issued when persons have complied with EPA guidelines. The new statute provides for civil and criminal penalties including fines up to $50,000 and imprisonment for one year, or both.

How may our firm obtain an oil import license?

Companies seeking an import license should contact the Oil Import Appeals Board to obtain the required petition application forms. The address is OIAB Department of Interior, 4015 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, Virginia 22203. In order to alleviate the fuel shortage, restrictions on imports were lifted last March and there has now been a sharp increase in licenses. In the entire year of 1972, only 40,000 barrels per day were allowed to enter the U. S. During the first half of the current year an average of 372,000 barrels per day were coming from foreign sources.

Are all our laws published in one book? If so, where can I obtain a copy?

All of our permanent laws of general application currently in force are included in the Code of the Laws of the United States of America. After each regular session a supplement is published, cumulating all laws enacted since the basic volume. The code and supplements are published under supervision of the House Judiciary Committee, printed at the Government Printing Office and available to the public from the Superintendent of Documents.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

At first I was shocked at the Supreme Court decision on pornography but after thinking it through and seeing the relevancy to the First Amendment, I now see that it did not restrict my personal freedom but now gives more freedom to myself and others in helping our county and municipal governments in passing laws that will enable the citizens to be more responsible in their actions.

In light of this decision, one must realize there must be standards and that individual freedoms end where there is a responsibility to his fellow man. Individual rights become restricted when he has responsibility to his society. The First Amendment applies to individual rights, but this same amendment becomes restrictive when applied on a local or national level. It is no longer what is best for the individual but what is best for the society.

As a man cannot be an island unto himself neither can personal freedom be allowed to interfere with deeming social programs. A man's freedom should be to love and help his fellow man which is his greatest personal freedom and his responsibility in making this world a better place to live.

The decision limited only those who seek to destroy, corrupt and enslave by pouring on citizens a flood of filthy literature, movies and books, which most assuredly have no deeming social value. Let us act as responsible intelligent human beings, being fair and honest to all in our quest for a better world.

Sincerely yours,

Two Injured In Thruway Mishap

A mother and her daughter who live near Accident were taken to Sacred Heart hospital in Cumberland last Friday afternoon with injuries sustained when their car rolled over in a two vehicle accident on U. S. route 48, the Cumberland thruway, just west of Seton Drive.

Julie (Mrs. Bruce) Brenneman, 47, route 1, Accident, was under observation at the hospital Saturday night although 14-year-old Lana K. Brenneman, who sustained an ankle injury, was treated and released.

Mrs. Brenneman suffered a broken knee-cap, an eye injury and numerous bruises and abrasions. Her leg was placed in a cast and she was later released.

Maryland State Police said the accident occurred at 1:50 p. m., one tenth of a mile west of the city limits of Cumberland.

Mrs. Brenneman was traveling east on the Thruway when she observed a disabled vehicle, according to Cpl. R. J. Graham. He said that when Mrs. Brenneman reduced the speed of her car she was hit from the rear by a vehicle driven by Clarence T. Porter, route 1, Frostburg.

After being hit from the rear the Brenneman car was shoved into the curbing and rolled over. The mother and daughter were taken to the hospital by the LaVale Rescue squad. Charges are pending, police said.

The car was considered a total loss.

Potomac Camp For Scouts Given Outstanding Rating

Camp Potomac, the summer camp operated by Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Oldtown was inspected recently by Mr. Philip Schnering, Stevensun, regional inspector, and again received an outstanding rating, William Rue, Council President, has announced. Potomac Council, a Co. United Way agency, has owned and operated the 114-acre Camp Potomac for twenty-three years and annually receives a high rating on health and safety, food service, camp staff, troop leadership, program emphasis and camp administration. The camp operates for six weeks and is attended by Troops from throughout Allegany, Garrett, Grant, Hardy, Mineral and Hampshire counties.

"The Council and its staff are to be complimented on having a fine camping program for boys of the Council," Mr. Schnering said in his final report. "I really could find only a few minor items that were on the list as needing correction. The need for one more commissioner over age twenty-one was the only item preventing the top rating." Mr. Schnering continued.

Mr. Schnering recommended that the Council attempt to secure some additional equipment in order to be able to provide an even better program including some spinning or casting rods, four .22 caliber shotguns for trap shooting, three additional rowboats, and some tents, packs and cooking gear for those units desiring to take a trail trip out of camp.

While the Council has a plan for getting needy Scouts to Camp, Mr. Schnering suggested that the Council develop a plan for bringing more needy non-Scouts to Camp.

Miss Fitzwater

Miss Fitzwater lives with her parents, six brothers and two sisters on the family's 400 acre farm. They also rent 400 acres to grow additional crops of oats, corn, barley, rye, and alfalfa. Every day Norma helps two brothers to milk 100 dairy cows, and also helps drive tractor or otherwise assist in the outdoor work.

In between milking, which takes 3½ hours twice daily, she helps with housework and sews her own clothes. She enjoys cake decorating and all outdoor sports, especially baseball.

Singing is another of her favorite activities, and she sings in the youth choir of the Sand Flat Assembly of God, where she is also a Sunday School teacher and secretary of the Christ Ambassadors group.

Recently she has been singing with a group, as yet unnamed, which will perform for the public beginning in September.

A member of the North Glade 4-H club for eight years, she has served as vice president, secretary and recreational leader. Club leader is Mrs. Wilmer Friend.

While a student at Southern, Norma was a member of the Senior chorus, GAA and the GAA basketball team.

Her immediate future will consist of working on the farm until January, when she hopes to attend Western Pennsylvania Bible Institute, to study to become either a home economics or a physical education teacher.

Fair duties for the queen include appearing in the parade Thursday night and giving out ribbons for some activities. She will also compete for the State farm queen title at the Timonium fair later this month.

The farm queen contest has been sponsored annually by the Women's Committee of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. Chairman this year is Mrs. George I. Bishoff.

The county's two largest butcher shops, Yoder's in Grantsville and Route 135 Meat Market, also have no beef in the cases to sell. The only beef they are processing is that brought in by customers for private use.

Even after the beef price freeze is lifted, it will be at least a week after that until meat appears again in the markets. All local store managers feel sure that beef costs will go up, with estimates of the increase ranging from ten to as high as 50 percent.

One local manager thought, however that prices will begin to slack off toward October, when farmers flood the markets with fall cattle.

Two Pickets At Power Co. Office

Picket lines at three Monongahela Power company plants, including the firm's Oakland facility, were honored Monday by construction workers, linemen and meter readers.

The picket lines were thrown up by striking workers of Monongahela Power's Clarksburg division. The employes struck more than two months ago when an agreement could not be reached on a new contract.

At Oakland two pickets were stationed throughout the day but left at 5 p. m. Hugh Denison, division manager in Oakland, said some of the plant's 10 linemen and meter readers reported for work while others honored the picket line.

He said there was no disruption of service. The Oakland division has 5,000 customers in this county, serving the western part of the county including part of Deep Creek Lake and Kitzmiller. The division services another 1,500 customers in the Elk Garden and Mt. Storm area in West Virginia.

The Clarksburg employes are represented by the International Brotherhod of Electrical Workers.

Girl Scouts Review Year's Activities

Since last September, when Girl Scout troops began organizing here, Girl Scouts have held many activities. The year ended with three Brownie, four Junior and one Cadette troop in action.

A brief account of the year follows:

First inter-troop activity was to construct a float for the Autumn Glory parade. During the fall, the members also sold Girl Scout calendars and cookies, and collected labels for UNICEF.

At Christmas, the troops made gifts and went caroling. On February 22 a camp rally was held at Southern High School, led by Day Camp director, Mrs. Judith Thomas.

A Mother-Daughter banquet was held May 8 at Southern, with Pat Pospahala chairman. On May 19, members gathered at the Double G ranch for a hayride followed by a bonfire and marshmallow roast.

Day Camp was held July 23-27 at Crystal Spring. The Rescue Squad gave demonstrations on Tuesday morning, followed by a visit from the Forest Rangers and Smokey the Bear that afternoon. Hiking was the order of the day Wednesday, bicycling on Thursday.

Leaders, Assistants Needed

Now that another year is beginning for the scouts, leaders and assistants are needed to keep the organization growing.

A neighborhood chairman is also needed. Anyone wishing to help with Girl Scouting is asked to contact Mrs. Harold J. Kahl, Oakland, or Mrs. Dale Gnegy.

Review Of the Play

At the Blue Barn this week is an excellent production of BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE. Everything about it is perfect. Ken Hill's direction is to be applauded. He has toned down the wisecrackery and instilled the naturalism. The result is a full-bodied, very charming, very steady look at youthful affection and heartache. Leonard Gershe's script is would-be singer and composer to escape from his domineering mother and find a life of his own in New York City. Such a story would be trite were it not for one thing, the boy is blind. This doesn't bother him because he was born blind, but it makes his mother more protective than she ever wanted to be. Consequently when a normal young girl (who is a would be actress) from next door stops in for a cup of coffee, the blind boy is ready to give her more than that. In the course of a day the boy, the girl and his mother learn something about love, compassion and responsibility.

Good comedies also need to be well performed, and this one is. Superlatively. Jan Bohlman gives a performance that realizes all the reluctance and commitment that is the main trait of the character. She is pretty, shapely, and a delight. Gene Yell, where did you get her? As the blind boy, Malburn Mehlhop is wonderful. He has the roughest most sentimental dialogue in the play. He plays the role carefully, avoiding too much emotion in the sentimental moments and always gives the character a very necessary dignity. (JK)

Mary Beth Bratcher is powerful, sliding in warmth where it is needed between some of the funniest dry humor to be written in years for the theatre. Especially commanding is she when she is about to leave after an argument with her son turns and whispers that she loves him.

An almost full house on opening night enjoyed this good time comedy.

Three Slightly Injured In Minor Weekend Wrecks

Three relatively minor accidents over the weekend in various parts of the county caused apparently only slight injuries to three persons. There were no apparent injuries in four other mishaps.

Kenneth Patrick Suter, 14, of Star Route, Oakland, was slightly injured in a motorcycle mishap on U. S. Route 219 just north of Mayhew Inn road Monday afternoon.

Catherine D. Kelley, Upper Marlboro, was traveling north on Route 219, Kenneth Suter was also traveling north on the west shoulder, turned directly toward the east shoulder, crossing over the northbound lane and was hit by the Kelley car. Tpr. G. D. Broadwater charged Suter with operating without proper license.

Eugene W. Dixon, Star Route, Oakland, a passenger in a car driven by Jack R. Helms Manassas, Va., was slightly injured in a mishap early Saturday morning. Helms stated a vehicle ran him off the road and he was unable to get back on the road. The car then skidded down the shoulder and hit a tree. Trooper R. C. Gregg charged Dixon with excessive speed.

Leslie L. Toth, Finleyville, Pa., a passenger in the car driven by David V. Sisler, Deer Park, was apparently only slightly injured in a dump truck accident last Friday evening.

Sisler was south bound on the Oakland-Sang Run road. He pulled to the right to allow an oncoming vehicle to pass. When he pulled onto the shoulder it gave way allowing the truck to turn over on its right side. The broadwater is investigating the mishap.

Gary Eugene Broadwater, Accident, was traveling west on the Accident-Friendsville road near the Accident-Bear Creek road last Friday evening and Mervin Eugene Friend was traveling east. The roadway at that point is very narrow and a curve with limited visibility. The two met on the curve and collided. Tpr. David A. Miller investigated.

As Ellis E. Snyder, Friendsville, made a left turn from the Accident-Bear Creek road onto U. S. Route 219, the lights of an oncoming vehicle blinded him. He made too wide a turn and struck some guard rails. Tpr. Georg made no charges.

Another accident said to have been caused by not dimming lights occurred on Route 219 near the Blue Ribbon road Monday night, Pierce Edward Glotfelty, RD 1 Oakland, said a vehicle southbound failed to dim his lights which caused Glotfelty to strike the bridge wall right at the edge of the traffic lane. Tpr. Georg charged him with negligent drivde.

Three Injured Near Mt. Nebo

Three persons were injured in a recent two-car accident on U. S. Route 219 near Mt. Nebo. Two of the three were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Dessie B. Bowman, 40, driver of one car, and a passenger, Annette Marie Bowman 8, both of RD 1, Oakland, were treated and released from the hospital. Roger Lee Alexander, 30, Star Route 2, Oakland, driver of the other car, was injured but apparently treated elsewhere.

The two cars were headed north on U. S. Route 219 near Foster road about 9 p. m. July 27. Dessie B. Bowman stopped to make a left turn and Alexander struck her car in the rear. Alexander was charged on two counts by Tpr. David A. Miller, operating while under the influence of alcohol and failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Three other passengers in the Bowman car were apparently not injured.

Two other minor accidents were noted.

Michael E. Alexander, Aurora, W. Va., was traveling north on U. S. Route 219, the Garber Swauger road, the morning of July 21. Elmer G. Gaither, St. George, W. Va., was in the process of making a left turn from a private drive to go on Route 219 and was struck in the right side by the Alexander car. Tpr. J. E. Foley charged Gaither with failing to yield the right-of-way.

Neva Lynn West, St. Albans, W. Va., was traveling south on Harvey's Peninsula road south of North Glade road at noon July 20. Linda Sue Reeves, McHenry, was traveling north. Both were in a blind curve in the road and collided. There were no lane markings and the road is too narrow for two cars to pass properly. Tpr. Foley investigated.
